

D PORK.

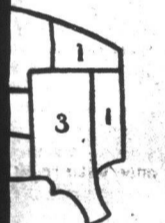

ON OF COM-

Home Products, transformed into the Great Cur-

the greatest hog home market... the summer demand all the farmer's pork, ham and the great country supply country summer resorts, another important household demand the demand food. Despite delicacies are bacon have a American stomside of a car-bon interest. lohn, or "spare" No. 4, 4, am. The ham, all choice cuts. ap meats. of smoke and process on the forms it, espe- cially, has come over oil as a home cured time farmer modern house- flavor of the eat manufaclighted anti- the large can- and west. An degrees is re- d. This mild formly kept uring rooms, feet under- re is secured gerating sys- expanded by at into a gas into liquid develops a is carried off. The second degree of ll a chemical

ORK. eable, to a ld brine may pipe, chill- of it passes, age are heat- process the continuously sily, save stons of the ll machine hams under- The gases, heat, are ex- tress each a solution of Other ingre- perfected by nly utilized When imprugated be "cured," then ready every ham, odists. The ag in which onced its ven place to nte, a plant in Scotland. ars, clothes th and out- rity, while shapes with housekeepers observed 1. t it be well so that the Remember is a superior nes of the red hams. new owned in the year. at has come ter it will prove with as much to t should be ll more sat-

For brill- of less ighting 15 nly the cen- d. One- very sharp ighly closely ide of each edge le and fat, ardness by cold water in dry care- use tepid, a the meat. slices every ham to be It is to wait l speedily. nful. er will re- MCALE.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

Everybody Will Go to Vancouver to Witness Saturday's Great Game -The Team's Arrangements.

Ladies Row for Championship Honors -The Rugby Team to Meet the Navy.

"Everybody go!" -the invitation of the Victoria Lacrosse Club in connection with their announcement of the crowning event of their season, seems likely to meet with a very general response. There are few admirers of lacrosse who would willingly miss the opportunity of seeing the two crack teams of the Province contending in this great final effort, and therefore when Vancouver was agreed upon as the scene of the play the club set about doing the best possible to suit the convenience of their Victoria friends. In this they have succeeded admirably, having made arrangements permitting an excursion by the special steamer at the nominal rate of $1 for the round trip.

The fact which it is most important not to forget in this connection is that the carrying capacity of the steamer is fixed and cannot be exceeded, so that when the tickets are up to this limit they are issued positively no more can be sold. They will be disposed of to the first applicants, and it seems more than likely that all will be out before the day of the excursion, and that those who neglect to secure their tickets before going down to the boat will be simply crowded out. The club with this borne in mind so that they may not be blamed for any disappointment which may ensue.

The Islander is to leave here at 7 o'clock on Saturday morning, and returning will leave Vancouver at 7 p.m. the same day.

At a meeting of the executive of the lacrosse club last night it was decided to send over the team by Friday morning's boat, to make sure that they shall go on the field in the pink of condition. The members of the team are urgently requested to turn up for practice this afternoon. A general team practice will be held on Thursday afternoon, at 5 o'clock. It is important that everyone should be there.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 16. (Special) -At Westminister the senior lacrosse team is practicing every afternoon. If the tramway company make a fifty cent rate to Vancouver, 2,000 people will come to see the match from the Royal City.

THE WESTMINSTER JUNIORS EXPLAIN.

TO THE SPORTING EDITOR: -I notice in yesterday's issue of the COLONIST that you state that a match between the James Bays of Victoria and the Moonlighters of this city would prove a great attraction at Vancouver next Saturday. I beg to say that it was the Westminister Juniors, and not the Moonlighters, who were defeated by the James Bays at the Exhibition, by defaulting the Moonlighters of Vancouver five goals to one, and the Moonlighters four straight. The Westminister Juniors have sent a challenge to the James Bays to play at Vancouver on Saturday next, and should be accepted the Juniors will play the same team they have played all season, and expect to play the same team with which the James Bays claim to have won, what we now dispute, "the championship." I may say in the event of our challenge being accepted, the Westminister Juniors have the right to and will claim the championship. The undersigned would be pleased to hear from the Bays as to what you think of the above. By giving this space you will confer a very great favor.

Secretary pro tem, Westminister Junior Lacrosse Club.

THE RATS' POSITION.

The James Bay Lacrosse Club has decided not to accept the challenge of the Westminister Juniors. They take the ground that in the regular junior series for the season they won the championship of the province by beating the Moonlighters of Vancouver, and they do not recognize the right of the Westminister Juniors to challenge for the championship on the strength of winning the Westminister exhibition series.

THE RATS' POSITION.

TO AGAIN TRY SPECIALS.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 16. (Special) -Wintermute and Marshall, the latter of whom was defeated by the former in the novice race at Westminister a few days ago by a scant eight inches, will again try conclusions at Brockton Point before the great lacrosse match on Saturday.

THE 24-HOUR RECORD.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 16. -As the Newburgh half-mile track this afternoon, Louis Gimm, of the Cleveland wheel club, finished his 24 hour bicycle ride against the American record. The best previous record for the even twenty-four hours was 374 miles, 1,605 yards, made by Ed. Spooner, of Chicago. Gimm covered 383 miles, 1,490 yards. He lost 55 minutes last night owing to rain.

AQUATIC.

FOR CHAMPIONSHIP HONORS.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15. -Before a throng which packed both banks of the river, as well as the great Eads bridge, Miss Rose Mosenthal, of this city, won the mile and a half sculling match for the female championship of America, defeating Miss Tillie Ashley, of Hartford, Conn. Miss Ashley losing heavily before the race was half over and giving up. Miss Mosenthal's time was 12 minutes 13 1/2 seconds. In addition to the great crowds that saw the race, the river above the starting point was covered with a flotilla comprising everything from a steam tug down to a house boat. The air was crisp with a rather raw breeze blowing, which, however, had little effect upon the water.

FOOTBALL.

TO MEET THE NAVY.

The following have been selected to represent the Victoria Rugby Football Club in their match against the Royal Navy on the Cantons grounds, Esquimaux, next Saturday afternoon: E. Pettibone, back; H. B. Haines, J. F. Tonkes, J. M. Miller, and C. W. Ward, three-quarter backs; R. A. Whyte and Erimes, half backs; H. P. M. Jones (captain), L. O'Brien, A. D. O'Brien, E. A. C. Gibson, J. Fraser, A. Langley, H. W. Gordon and K. McCrae, forwards.

ATHLETIC.

THE PAPER CHASE.

The J.E.A.A. hunt last evening was a decided success. The hares, H. B. Jones and E. B. Haines, were sent away sharp at 8:30 and eight minutes later a pack of about twenty started in pursuit. The course was up Menzies to Simcoe street, over Beacon Hill and along the water front as far as Pemberton meadows, through the fields and down Richardson and Humboldt streets to the club house. About six or eight arrived together, the leader, L. B. Young, being about four minutes behind the hares. The members of both clubs feel gratified at the turnout for the first run and it is hoped that the second, which will probably be set for next week, will see even a larger attendance.

GOOD-BYE TO BOLLMAN.

The Sydney Embroiderer Makes His Final Appearance in the Police Court.

He Waives Further Examination and Consents to Return for Trial.

All the formalities were yesterday completed for the return of Frederick Bollman, alias Eberhardt, to Sydney, N.S.W., where he is to stand his trial for the embezzlement of $218. This is the sum mentioned in the warrant brought by Sergeant Forbes, though the evidence taken in the Sydney police court indicates a shortage of between $1,200 and $1,300 in his accounts. Bollman was to have appeared in the police court today, but by his request the case was called yesterday instead.

Mr. A. L. Belys appeared for the accused and completed the time for the court for half an hour or more during which he reviewed briefly the evidence attached to the Sydney warrant. Having done so, he held that no direct evidence had been produced to show that the money alleged to have been stolen had not in reality been remitted to the firm in Germany. The natural inference from the testimony was that the money had been misappropriated, but inferences were not availed. The testimony of the bookkeeper of the firm in Sydney was not in evidence. Bollman had drawn $1,200 from the first account in bank, ostensibly for the purpose of remitting to Germany. It had not been forwarded in the usual manner, and five days later a telegram had arrived from Germany which said: "Remit immediately."

This cablegram was not produced and there were other discrepancies in the evidence, but he (Mr. Belys) would content himself with asking the court to consider the one objection - that no proof had been presented that the money alleged to have been embezzled was not in the possession of the firm in Germany. If the ruling was against him, he had decided to advise his clients to submit without further proceedings and return to Sydney with the officer from that city.

Magistrate Moore, in overruling the objection, said that he felt it his duty to be satisfied that the warrants of the Sydney court, under which it was by the governor of the colony and by Mr. Justice D'Almeida of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, which gave him all necessary power to act in the case. There was a very strong presumption that the accused was guilty of the crime with which he had been charged, but this was not for him to try. Were it his duty to act as a judge he would certainly give the point further consideration, but this was not his province. He fully endorsed Mr. Belys's advice to his clients as the best that could have been given. The fugitive offenders out of the Dominion (under which these proceedings were taken), it was his duty to inform the accused provided that he (the magistrate) would sign the warrant for his return to New South Wales. He could not, however, be taken away against his will within fifteen days, during which time he would have the right to apply for discharge under habeas corpus proceedings. The Governor-General would then have to sign the papers in the case on receipt of his (the magistrate's) report. He would, therefore, ask Bollman if, understanding the law in this regard, he was willing to go back.

The accused answered in the affirmative, and the magistrate noted that he (the accused) was not, in fact, a prisoner, but a man who was to be returned to Sydney for his trial. The formalities of remanding the case for three days more was gone through, but by the expiration of the time Sergeant Forbes and his prisoner expect to be on the Arawa and beyond the sight of Vancouver Island's shores.

DIARY OF JABEZ BALFOUR.

The Pall Mall Gazette publishes extracts from the diary of Mr. Jabez Balfour, but they contain no reference to the Liberator crash or to the possible prosecution of the chief actor in that collapse. He must have spent a good deal of time on his diary, for the simplest events are described at considerable length. On May 17 he gives an account of an accident to the train in which he was travelling from Toronto to St. Louis, and on subsequent days he furnishes many details of life in the latter town, and with much enthusiasm speaks of the temperature, the sunshine, the sunsets, the moonlight nights, the birds with beautiful plumage, and the ducks and the geese. He remarks, on the other hand, that the drunkenness among the poor people was frightful, and also that a man can get drunk on 2 1/2 dollars. Of the ladies he says: "The women here have lovely black hair and beautiful white teeth. They seem proud of the former, which they generally plait in two long strings, which hang down the back, often to below the waist. But notwithstanding good hair and teeth, they age much more rapidly than Europeans. They develop earlier, often marry at fifteen, and are quite mature at eighteen."

THE "BOBOWITZ" ARRIVES.

No testimony Northern news was brought by the steamer Barbara Bobowitz which arrived yesterday after a rough trip. Much rain has fallen recently in the North, and the weather has been stormy. The Bobowitz brought down a big load of salmon amounting in all to 7,200 cases and considerable other freight. As passengers she brought E. Reid, D. Morrison, Miss C. Hilling and Mr. and Mrs. McCullough.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

The steamship Walls Walls left San Francisco yesterday morning with the following saloon passengers for Victoria: H. O. Wellburn, Miss Clark, W. Suttis, Mrs. E. H. Hurler, J. Coes and wife, Mrs. Danous, J. P. Percival, M. Ring, M. J. O'Keefe, F. J. Sims and wife, David Scott, Vera Ashton, W. Clark, J. B. Old, Lizzie Barrow, G. J. Evans, S. T. Lucas and J. H. Tastell.

MARINE NOTES.

Under her present charter the Canadian Australian liner Arawa called here for the last time yesterday morning, arriving at about nine o'clock and departing on her last Southern voyage as soon as nearly 1,500 tons of cargo and 180 passengers left on her, about 200 cases of salmon, cement, lime and general freight going from Victoria. The American side for transport from the coast of the Mainland was chiefly machinery, flour and salmon. The C.F.R. officials here say that the Arawa had no collision with the Signal at Vancouver.

Schooners Sapphire and Triumph are back from the West Coast, whether they had gone with the Indian cargo. They arrived yesterday, being towed in by the tug Sadie, which picked them up off the outer wharf a short distance. Neither report having sighted wreckage off the island, though both followed the coast pretty close. Bad weather and confusion gates were frequently met with on the coast.

The bark Sadie is loading lumber at the Brannette mills for the States, her cargo being the first for the States since the new tariff came into effect.

THE CITY.

The Sydney Embroiderer Makes His Final Appearance in the Police Court.

He Waives Further Examination and Consents to Return for Trial.

All the formalities were yesterday completed for the return of Frederick Bollman, alias Eberhardt, to Sydney, N.S.W., where he is to stand his trial for the embezzlement of $218. This is the sum mentioned in the warrant brought by Sergeant Forbes, though the evidence taken in the Sydney police court indicates a shortage of between $1,200 and $1,300 in his accounts. Bollman was to have appeared in the police court today, but by his request the case was called yesterday instead.

Mr. A. L. Belys appeared for the accused and completed the time for the court for half an hour or more during which he reviewed briefly the evidence attached to the Sydney warrant. Having done so, he held that no direct evidence had been produced to show that the money alleged to have been stolen had not in reality been remitted to the firm in Germany. The natural inference from the testimony was that the money had been misappropriated, but inferences were not availed. The testimony of the bookkeeper of the firm in Sydney was not in evidence. Bollman had drawn $1,200 from the first account in bank, ostensibly for the purpose of remitting to Germany. It had not been forwarded in the usual manner, and five days later a telegram had arrived from Germany which said: "Remit immediately."

This cablegram was not produced and there were other discrepancies in the evidence, but he (Mr. Belys) would content himself with asking the court to consider the one objection - that no proof had been presented that the money alleged to have been embezzled was not in the possession of the firm in Germany. If the ruling was against him, he had decided to advise his clients to submit without further proceedings and return to Sydney with the officer from that city.

Magistrate Moore, in overruling the objection, said that he felt it his duty to be satisfied that the warrants of the Sydney court, under which it was by the governor of the colony and by Mr. Justice D'Almeida of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, which gave him all necessary power to act in the case. There was a very strong presumption that the accused was guilty of the crime with which he had been charged, but this was not for him to try. Were it his duty to act as a judge he would certainly give the point further consideration, but this was not his province. He fully endorsed Mr. Belys's advice to his clients as the best that could have been given. The fugitive offenders out of the Dominion (under which these proceedings were taken), it was his duty to inform the accused provided that he (the magistrate) would sign the warrant for his return to New South Wales. He could not, however, be taken away against his will within fifteen days, during which time he would have the right to apply for discharge under habeas corpus proceedings. The Governor-General would then have to sign the papers in the case on receipt of his (the magistrate's) report. He would, therefore, ask Bollman if, understanding the law in this regard, he was willing to go back.

The accused answered in the affirmative, and the magistrate noted that he (the accused) was not, in fact, a prisoner, but a man who was to be returned to Sydney for his trial. The formalities of remanding the case for three days more was gone through, but by the expiration of the time Sergeant Forbes and his prisoner expect to be on the Arawa and beyond the sight of Vancouver Island's shores.

DIARY OF JABEZ BALFOUR.

The Pall Mall Gazette publishes extracts from the diary of Mr. Jabez Balfour, but they contain no reference to the Liberator crash or to the possible prosecution of the chief actor in that collapse. He must have spent a good deal of time on his diary, for the simplest events are described at considerable length. On May 17 he gives an account of an accident to the train in which he was travelling from Toronto to St. Louis, and on subsequent days he furnishes many details of life in the latter town, and with much enthusiasm speaks of the temperature, the sunshine, the sunsets, the moonlight nights, the birds with beautiful plumage, and the ducks and the geese. He remarks, on the other hand, that the drunkenness among the poor people was frightful, and also that a man can get drunk on 2 1/2 dollars. Of the ladies he says: "The women here have lovely black hair and beautiful white teeth. They seem proud of the former, which they generally plait in two long strings, which hang down the back, often to below the waist. But notwithstanding good hair and teeth, they age much more rapidly than Europeans. They develop earlier, often marry at fifteen, and are quite mature at eighteen."

THE "BOBOWITZ" ARRIVES.

No testimony Northern news was brought by the steamer Barbara Bobowitz which arrived yesterday after a rough trip. Much rain has fallen recently in the North, and the weather has been stormy. The Bobowitz brought down a big load of salmon amounting in all to 7,200 cases and considerable other freight. As passengers she brought E. Reid, D. Morrison, Miss C. Hilling and Mr. and Mrs. McCullough.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

The steamship Walls Walls left San Francisco yesterday morning with the following saloon passengers for Victoria: H. O. Wellburn, Miss Clark, W. Suttis, Mrs. E. H. Hurler, J. Coes and wife, Mrs. Danous, J. P. Percival, M. Ring, M. J. O'Keefe, F. J. Sims and wife, David Scott, Vera Ashton, W. Clark, J. B. Old, Lizzie Barrow, G. J. Evans, S. T. Lucas and J. H. Tastell.

MARINE NOTES.

Under her present charter the Canadian Australian liner Arawa called here for the last time yesterday morning, arriving at about nine o'clock and departing on her last Southern voyage as soon as nearly 1,500 tons of cargo and 180 passengers left on her, about 200 cases of salmon, cement, lime and general freight going from Victoria. The American side for transport from the coast of the Mainland was chiefly machinery, flour and salmon. The C.F.R. officials here say that the Arawa had no collision with the Signal at Vancouver.

Schooners Sapphire and Triumph are back from the West Coast, whether they had gone with the Indian cargo. They arrived yesterday, being towed in by the tug Sadie, which picked them up off the outer wharf a short distance. Neither report having sighted wreckage off the island, though both followed the coast pretty close. Bad weather and confusion gates were frequently met with on the coast.

The bark Sadie is loading lumber at the Brannette mills for the States, her cargo being the first for the States since the new tariff came into effect.

THE CITY.

The Sydney Embroiderer Makes His Final Appearance in the Police Court.

He Waives Further Examination and Consents to Return for Trial.

All the formalities were yesterday completed for the return of Frederick Bollman, alias Eberhardt, to Sydney, N.S.W., where he is to stand his trial for the embezzlement of $218. This is the sum mentioned in the warrant brought by Sergeant Forbes, though the evidence taken in the Sydney police court indicates a shortage of between $1,200 and $1,300 in his accounts. Bollman was to have appeared in the police court today, but by his request the case was called yesterday instead.

Mr. A. L. Belys appeared for the accused and completed the time for the court for half an hour or more during which he reviewed briefly the evidence attached to the Sydney warrant. Having done so, he held that no direct evidence had been produced to show that the money alleged to have been stolen had not in reality been remitted to the firm in Germany. The natural inference from the testimony was that the money had been misappropriated, but inferences were not availed. The testimony of the bookkeeper of the firm in Sydney was not in evidence. Bollman had drawn $1,200 from the first account in bank, ostensibly for the purpose of remitting to Germany. It had not been forwarded in the usual manner, and five days later a telegram had arrived from Germany which said: "Remit immediately."

This cablegram was not produced and there were other discrepancies in the evidence, but he (Mr. Belys) would content himself with asking the court to consider the one objection - that no proof had been presented that the money alleged to have been embezzled was not in the possession of the firm in Germany. If the ruling was against him, he had decided to advise his clients to submit without further proceedings and return to Sydney with the officer from that city.

Magistrate Moore, in overruling the objection, said that he felt it his duty to be satisfied that the warrants of the Sydney court, under which it was by the governor of the colony and by Mr. Justice D'Almeida of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, which gave him all necessary power to act in the case. There was a very strong presumption that the accused was guilty of the crime with which he had been charged, but this was not for him to try. Were it his duty to act as a judge he would certainly give the point further consideration, but this was not his province. He fully endorsed Mr. Belys's advice to his clients as the best that could have been given. The fugitive offenders out of the Dominion (under which these proceedings were taken), it was his duty to inform the accused provided that he (the magistrate) would sign the warrant for his return to New South Wales. He could not, however, be taken away against his will within fifteen days, during which time he would have the right to apply for discharge under habeas corpus proceedings. The Governor-General would then have to sign the papers in the case on receipt of his (the magistrate's) report. He would, therefore, ask Bollman if, understanding the law in this regard, he was willing to go back.

The accused answered in the affirmative, and the magistrate noted that he (the accused) was not, in fact, a prisoner, but a man who was to be returned to Sydney for his trial. The formalities of remanding the case for three days more was gone through, but by the expiration of the time Sergeant Forbes and his prisoner expect to be on the Arawa and beyond the sight of Vancouver Island's shores.

DIARY OF JABEZ BALFOUR.

The Pall Mall Gazette publishes extracts from the diary of Mr. Jabez Balfour, but they contain no reference to the Liberator crash or to the possible prosecution of the chief actor in that collapse. He must have spent a good deal of time on his diary, for the simplest events are described at considerable length. On May 17 he gives an account of an accident to the train in which he was travelling from Toronto to St. Louis, and on subsequent days he furnishes many details of life in the latter town, and with much enthusiasm speaks of the temperature, the sunshine, the sunsets, the moonlight nights, the birds with beautiful plumage, and the ducks and the geese. He remarks, on the other hand, that the drunkenness among the poor people was frightful, and also that a man can get drunk on 2 1/2 dollars. Of the ladies he says: "The women here have lovely black hair and beautiful white teeth. They seem proud of the former, which they generally plait in two long strings, which hang down the back, often to below the waist. But notwithstanding good hair and teeth, they age much more rapidly than Europeans. They develop earlier, often marry at fifteen, and are quite mature at eighteen."

THE "BOBOWITZ" ARRIVES.

No testimony Northern news was brought by the steamer Barbara Bobowitz which arrived yesterday after a rough trip. Much rain has fallen recently in the North, and the weather has been stormy. The Bobowitz brought down a big load of salmon amounting in all to 7,200 cases and considerable other freight. As passengers she brought E. Reid, D. Morrison, Miss C. Hilling and Mr. and Mrs. McCullough.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

The steamship Walls Walls left San Francisco yesterday morning with the following saloon passengers for Victoria: H. O. Wellburn, Miss Clark, W. Suttis, Mrs. E. H. Hurler, J. Coes and wife, Mrs. Danous, J. P. Percival, M. Ring, M. J. O'Keefe, F. J. Sims and wife, David Scott, Vera Ashton, W. Clark, J. B. Old, Lizzie Barrow, G. J. Evans, S. T. Lucas and J. H. Tastell.

MARINE NOTES.

Under her present charter the Canadian Australian liner Arawa called here for the last time yesterday morning, arriving at about nine o'clock and departing on her last Southern voyage as soon as nearly 1,500 tons of cargo and 180 passengers left on her, about 200 cases of salmon, cement, lime and general freight going from Victoria. The American side for transport from the coast of the Mainland was chiefly machinery, flour and salmon. The C.F.R. officials here say that the Arawa had no collision with the Signal at Vancouver.

Schooners Sapphire and Triumph are back from the West Coast, whether they had gone with the Indian cargo. They arrived yesterday, being towed in by the tug Sadie, which picked them up off the outer wharf a short distance. Neither report having sighted wreckage off the island, though both followed the coast pretty close. Bad weather and confusion gates were frequently met with on the coast.

The bark Sadie is loading lumber at the Brannette mills for the States, her cargo being the first for the States since the new tariff came into effect.

THE CITY.

The Sydney Embroiderer Makes His Final Appearance in the Police Court.

He Waives Further Examination and Consents to Return for Trial.

All the formalities were yesterday completed for the return of Frederick Bollman, alias Eberhardt, to Sydney, N.S.W., where he is to stand his trial for the embezzlement of $218. This is the sum mentioned in the warrant brought by Sergeant Forbes, though the evidence taken in the Sydney police court indicates a shortage of between $1,200 and $1,300 in his accounts. Bollman was to have appeared in the police court today, but by his request the case was called yesterday instead.

Mr. A. L. Belys appeared for the accused and completed the time for the court for half an hour or more during which he reviewed briefly the evidence attached to the Sydney warrant. Having done so, he held that no direct evidence had been produced to show that the money alleged to have been stolen had not in reality been remitted to the firm in Germany. The natural inference from the testimony was that the money had been misappropriated, but inferences were not availed. The testimony of the bookkeeper of the firm in Sydney was not in evidence. Bollman had drawn $1,200 from the first account in bank, ostensibly for the purpose of remitting to Germany. It had not been forwarded in the usual manner, and five days later a telegram had arrived from Germany which said: "Remit immediately."

This cablegram was not produced and there were other discrepancies in the evidence, but he (Mr. Belys) would content himself with asking the court to consider the one objection - that no proof had been presented that the money alleged to have been embezzled was not in the possession of the firm in Germany. If the ruling was against him, he had decided to advise his clients to submit without further proceedings and return to Sydney with the officer from that city.

Magistrate Moore, in overruling the objection, said that he felt it his duty to be satisfied that the warrants of the Sydney court, under which it was by the governor of the colony and by Mr. Justice D'Almeida of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, which gave him all necessary power to act in the case. There was a very strong presumption that the accused was guilty of the crime with which he had been charged, but this was not for him to try. Were it his duty to act as a judge he would certainly give the point further consideration, but this was not his province. He fully endorsed Mr. Belys's advice to his clients as the best that could have been given. The fugitive offenders out of the Dominion (under which these proceedings were taken), it was his duty to inform the accused provided that he (the magistrate) would sign the warrant for his return to New South Wales. He could not, however, be taken away against his will within fifteen days, during which time he would have the right to apply for discharge under habeas corpus proceedings. The Governor-General would then have to sign the papers in the case on receipt of his (the magistrate's) report. He would, therefore, ask Bollman if, understanding the law in this regard, he was willing to go back.

The accused answered in the affirmative, and the magistrate noted that he (the accused) was not, in fact, a prisoner, but a man who was to be returned to Sydney for his trial. The formalities of remanding the case for three days more was gone through, but by the expiration of the time Sergeant Forbes and his prisoner expect to be on the Arawa and beyond the sight of Vancouver Island's shores.

DIARY OF JABEZ BALFOUR.

The Pall Mall Gazette publishes extracts from the diary of Mr. Jabez Balfour, but they contain no reference to the Liberator crash or to the possible prosecution of the chief actor in that collapse. He must have spent a good deal of time on his diary, for the simplest events are described at considerable length. On May 17 he gives an account of an accident to the train in which he was travelling from Toronto to St. Louis, and on subsequent days he furnishes many details of life in the latter town, and with much enthusiasm speaks of the temperature, the sunshine, the sunsets, the moonlight nights, the birds with beautiful plumage, and the ducks and the geese. He remarks, on the other hand, that the drunkenness among the poor people was frightful, and also that a man can get drunk on 2 1/2 dollars. Of the ladies he says: "The women here have lovely black hair and beautiful white teeth. They seem proud of the former, which they generally plait in two long strings, which hang down the back, often to below the waist. But notwithstanding good hair and teeth, they age much more rapidly than Europeans. They develop earlier, often marry at fifteen, and are quite mature at eighteen."

THE "BOBOWITZ" ARRIVES.

No testimony Northern news was brought by the steamer Barbara Bobowitz which arrived yesterday after a rough trip. Much rain has fallen recently in the North, and the weather has been stormy. The Bobowitz brought down a big load of salmon amounting in all to 7,200 cases and considerable other freight. As passengers she brought E. Reid, D. Morrison, Miss C. Hilling and Mr. and Mrs. McCullough.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

The steamship Walls Walls left San Francisco yesterday morning with the following saloon passengers for Victoria: H. O. Wellburn, Miss Clark, W. Suttis, Mrs. E. H. Hurler, J. Coes and wife, Mrs. Danous, J. P. Percival, M. Ring, M. J. O'Keefe, F. J. Sims and wife, David Scott, Vera Ashton, W. Clark, J. B. Old, Lizzie Barrow, G. J. Evans, S. T. Lucas and J. H. Tastell.

MARINE NOTES.

Under her present charter the Canadian Australian liner Arawa called here for the last time yesterday morning, arriving at about nine o'clock and departing on her last Southern voyage as soon as nearly 1,500 tons of cargo and 180 passengers left on her, about 200 cases of salmon, cement, lime and general freight going from Victoria. The American side for transport from the coast of the Mainland was chiefly machinery, flour and salmon. The C.F.R. officials here say that the Arawa had no collision with the Signal at Vancouver.

Schooners Sapphire and Triumph are back from the West Coast, whether they had gone with the Indian cargo. They arrived yesterday, being towed in by the tug Sadie, which picked them up off the outer wharf a short distance. Neither report having sighted wreckage off the island, though both followed the coast pretty close. Bad weather and confusion gates were frequently met with on the coast.

The bark Sadie is loading lumber at the Brannette mills for the States, her cargo being the first for the States since the new tariff came into effect.

THE CITY.

The Sydney Embroiderer Makes His Final Appearance in the Police Court.

He Waives Further Examination and Consents to Return for Trial.

All the formalities were yesterday completed for the return of Frederick Bollman, alias Eberhardt, to Sydney, N.S.W., where he is to stand his trial for the embezzlement of $218. This is the sum mentioned in the warrant brought by Sergeant Forbes, though the evidence taken in the Sydney police court indicates a shortage of between $1,200 and $1,300 in his accounts. Bollman was to have appeared in the police court today, but by his request the case was called yesterday instead.

Mr. A. L. Belys appeared for the accused and completed the time for the court for half an hour or more during which he reviewed briefly the evidence attached to the Sydney warrant. Having done so, he held that no direct evidence had been produced to show that the money alleged to have been stolen had not in reality been remitted to the firm in Germany. The natural inference from the testimony was that the money had been misappropriated, but inferences were not availed. The testimony of the bookkeeper of the firm in Sydney was not in evidence. Bollman had drawn $1,200 from the first account in bank, ostensibly for the purpose of remitting to Germany. It had not been forwarded in the usual manner, and five days later a telegram had arrived from Germany which said: "Remit immediately."

This cablegram was not produced and there were other discrepancies in the evidence, but he (Mr. Belys) would content himself with asking the court to consider the one objection - that no proof had been presented that the money alleged to have been embezzled was not in the possession of the firm in Germany. If the ruling was against him, he had decided to advise his clients to submit without further proceedings and return to Sydney with the officer from that city.

Magistrate Moore, in overruling the objection, said that he felt it his duty to be satisfied that the warrants of the Sydney court, under which it was by the governor of the colony and by Mr. Justice D'Almeida of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, which gave him all necessary power to act in