

- Cardiophorus gagates*, Er.—On oak leaves (May).
- Elater manipularis*, Cand.—Under decaying linden bark (Nov.)
- Elater nigrivallis*, Hbst.—In hickory stump (Oct.) ; and poplar stump (Dec.)
- Elater linteus*, Say.—In decaying poplar stump (fall).
- Elater apicatus*, Say.—In decaying poplar stump (Dec.)
- Agriotes oblongicollis*, Melsh.—On leaves of hazel (May) ; and beech (May, June).
- Limonius auripilis*, Say.—On beech foliage (May, June).
- Limonius basillaris*, Say.—On new oak and beech growth (May, June).
- Acmaeodera culta*, Web.—On cut oak wood (July).
- Agrilus ruficollis*, F., otiosus, Say, bilineatus, Web.—On cut oak wood and rails (July).
- Brachys ovata*, Web.—On foliage of beech and oak (May to July).
- Brachys acerosa*, McIsh.—Eating oak and hazel leaves (May) ; leaves of beech, elm, ironwood (Carpinus), (May, June).
- Brachys aeruginosa*, Gory.—On leaves of beech, elm, ironwood (Carpinus), (May, June).
- Thanasimus dubius*, F.—In numbers on piles of oak wood (May). In coitus (May 20).
- Thanerocerus sanguineus*, Say.—Under bark oak stumps (Oct.) ; under bark butternut log (May).
- Dichelonycha elongata*, Fab.—On leaves of oak (May).
- Lachnostenia prunina*, Lec.—On foliage of red oak (May, June).
- Lachnostenia crenulata*, Fröh.—On foliage of red oak (May).
- Lachnostenia tristis*, F.—Swarming in red oaks (May).
- Anomala undulata*, Melsh.—Swarming in red oaks (May).
- Strigoderma arboricola*, F.—On red oaks; (May). The last five species occur mostly in the evening.
- Cotalpa lanigera*, L.—Eating leaves of dwarf willows (Salix cordata), (May, June).
- Parandra brunnea*, F.—Under bark of linden and butternut logs.
- Smodicum cucujiforme*, Say.—Many specimens found on a white oak fence post, beside small holes in post from which they had emerged (June, July).