BOOTS AND SHOES.

The most popular boot is made of soft kid with a narrow but not pointed toe. Sometimes the vamp is of patent leather. The "common sense" is a wide boot, but does not suit all people; it is not always comfortable, and fre-quently women acquire a shuffling gait. The low-cut shoes and Oxford ties are very dainty and worn with a black silk stocking could not be prettier. The laced boots are very stylish, and a boot of soft leather in the natural hue with ribbon to much and soft and yielding to the foot as a giove to the hand, is the desired effect by women of fashion in this particular article of wear. To be well-booted and well-gloved is to be well dressed. In gloves the undressed mousquetaire four buttons, with plain stitching on the back, is for street wear. Shades of tan are shown and vary from a light color to a deep dark color. In black the undressed kid is dark cold. In tidak the undressed hid is generally used; the seporth kid for the time is discarded. A glove should not fit tight, but he well fitting, and every part of the finger should have no winkler,—the fingers of gloves now are not all the same length as in former times,— and better to wear the five of all them to the and better to wear no glove at all than to have one b dly fitting.

CHOOSING HOUSES. HOW TO GET ONE WITHOUT MAKING ANY MISTAKE (Chambers' Journal.)

In selecting a house, or a site for a new one, remember that where the sun will shine on the house for some hours a day one element of g od house for some hours a day one element of g od is secured, especially if the sunshine enters at the windows of the living rooms, or rooms most used during the daytime. After the aspect has been found to be suitable, and that a plentiful supply of sun and air is insured, attention should be given to the general position and construction of the house. If the ground is at all porous, a layer of concrete not less than six inches thick, and composed of cement or lime, and broken bricks or gravel, should be spread over the whole of the ground covered by the building. This will prevent the passage of ground air up through the floors. Air will travel through the ground for some distance, and as it invariably becomes contaminated by taking up carbonic acid pas in its passage, is not suitable for ably becomes contaminated by taking up the boaic acid was in its passage, is not suitable for it haling. The house acts as a sucker on the ground; and if, unfortunately, the site is one on "made" ground—that is, composed of all the refuse of a town—the ground becomes the medium of disease. No houses should be built without a well-ventilated air space between the earth and the ground floor, especially if the layer of concrete on the surface be omitted. The walls should be built of good hard burnt brick or non-porous stone, set in lime or cement morter. Common under-burnt bricks or porous stones hold moisture, which evaporates with a rise in the temperature, and so chills the air in the house. If the bricks or stones of the walls are suspected of holding moisture, the whole of the external surface should be covered with cement, or tiled or slated above. The foundation of the walls should rest on thick beds of concrete bedded in the earth, bonic acid pas in its passage, is not suitable for above. The foundation of the waits should rest on thick beds of concrete bedded in the earth, and to prevent the ground damp from rising up the walls a damp-proof course of slates in coment or a bed of a phalt should be laid in the full thickness or width of the wall, just above the ground line. Dryness in this climate is so essential to health that any building which in its floors, walls or roof sins by admitting moisture should be rejected as a place of residence. ture, should be rejected as a place of residence by these who value their health. In tropical climates buildings are constructed to keep out the heat, but here we build to retain the heat and keep out the cold.

THE HARVEST.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.-The report of the Demutment of Agriculture makes an increase of only one-half of one per cent, in the condition of corn. The indication is now for a yield of a small fraction over twenty bushels per acra The test of threshing has not materially en-larged the average rate of the wheat yield, which appears to be one and one-eighth bushels or four tenths of a bushel less than last year. The yield of oats is slightly below an average of about twenty-five hushels per acro. The product is fully 600,000,000 bushels. The tarley yield is nearly 20 per cent. less than a medium yield, or about twenty tushels per acre. The yield of tye is one and one-fith bushels per acre and the product about 24,000,000 bushels. There has been a drop in the condition of buckwhen from 89 to nearly 77. The condition of potatoes has declined from six and seven-thirds to six and one-fifth. The condition of cotton has further declined; the general average has been reduced from eight and two-eights to seven and six fifth.

FOR THE RELIEF and cure of the inflammation and congestion called a "cold in the head" there is more potency in Eiy's Cream Balm than in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a preliant auccess as a remedy for a cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Gream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hav fever atter all other modes of treatment have proved of no avail.

PREPARING THEIR CASE.

Washington, Oct. 8.-Messrs. Putnam and Angell, the two gentlemen who, with Secretary Bayard, will represent this country in the negotiations between Great Britain and the United States for the settlement of the fishery trouble arising under the treaty of 1818, arrived in this city yesterday, and held a preliminary conference with Secretary Bayard, at which a mutual interchange of views and a general discussion of the subject of negotiation took place. The secretary had not met the gentlemen since their acceptance of the position offered them, and he desired to talk over matters with them, and also to bring his two colleagues together. The dis-cussion touched generally upon all the points of dispute, and suggestions were made as to matters which it would be well to look up cosely in order that the Government might be prepared to meet any arguments raised by the negotia-tions on the part of Great Britain. Messrs. Putnam and Angelt will remain here for a day or so in conference with the secretary and in the examination of the voluminous official litera-ture relative to the treaty, which it is necessary to study and which can be more readily ob
