

Dr. MacGuigan pointed out that a change in the current de facto cessation of hostilities would represent a new situation which could require the Government to reconsider its position. He also noted, in this connection, that the Canadian embargo on all exports of military equipment to Argentina will remain in effect for the time being

Effective June 22, 1982 steps are being taken to remove "Item 66: Goods of Argentine origin" from the Import Control List. In the meantime, the requirement for import permits continues; however, such permits will be issued freely on request pending the completion of the steps to remove Item 66 from the ~~Export~~ Control List.
