going to hear of us in the future, for my son is heading for McGill.

He won't be there for some time as he is only 14 at present, but I promised him I'd write to you & get what information there is to be had about his best course to pursue in studies.

He wants to be an archaeologist; has had his mind made up to it for several years. He is in grade X, second year high school. His principal wanted to skip him a grade last winter, but hesitated as he said he didn't want Robin to get out of his social grade, into a grade with kids very much older than himself. The principal in question says Robin is the cleverest child he has ever had anything to do with, & that he should go far if given any chance at all.
