

In view of the work done in the Registrars' offices in other Canadian universities and the size of their staffs, I do not think that I can be considered unreasonable when I ask for two more assistants, if we keep the records, and for one more in any case.

I would have asked for this before, but regard for the finances of the University restrained me, and, although I know full well that the situation is not much, if any, better to-day, I feel constrained, in justice to myself and the work, to delay my request no longer.

Although I do not urge it, perhaps my long service, with an inadequate staff, and my contemplated retirement in a few years, may have some weight in the consideration of this question which I trust will be favorably decided at an early date.

Yours very truly,

J. Nicholson
Registrar.
