

RANDOM WRITINGS

Now my friends, one and all,
When on new ways you venture,
Do what is right both day and night
And keep off the garden's centre.