MISSING Widening of Yonge-Street Imperative Duty, Says W. D. Lighthall.

> "You should not hesitate about widening Yonge-street," was the advice of W. D. Lightall, the municipal expert in town-planning, speaking yesterday to the Empire Club. "It is your essential transportation centre. Yongestreet could be easily widened down Queen-street or a block above, without any ultimate expense to the city. By acquiring the land you could make

"With regard to Canadian cities, there is a sort of crisis at this time." he asserted. "The next ten years will be the formative time for them. Toronto, Montdeal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, are large enough to feel the slum. What we do at the beginning of this time is more important than wha we do at the end." Property needed should be acquired now for the public, before it becomes an economic impossibility.

Machinery for the Foster is coming in to-day and the only pieces now to arrive are the boiler, buckets and holsts, ordered for the Crown Chartered. Manager Cavanaugh is expecting their arrival hourly, when no time will be lost in getting them in.

This boller will be used on the No. 12 vein, the 20-foot wide quartz lead that runs into the west claim from the north. A 100-foot shaft is being driven down here, and the power is needed to run the hoist and operate the drills, of which two will be used on the property in the surface work. The entire outfit for the Pearl Lake

Mines now consists of two 40 horsepower boilers, steam hoists, buckets, two drills, two steam pumps and all the necessary hand tools to be used in hand drilling. The new office building is finished and is one of the handsomest in the camp, with plenty of accommodations for the office help, of which several will be employed.

The location of the company's pro-perty is so ideal with rolling ridges extending back from the lake front on the west, a porphyry dyke cutting in on the west side of the most westerly claim, that mine men and others now await with great interest the com-pleting of the three shafts to the depth of 100 feet each, for it is believed that in this section lies the wealth of that part of the camp, with 65 outcroppings
