At the Princess.

At the Princess this evening, Cyril Maude and his notable supporting company, under the direction of Charles Frohman, begin a week's engagement, presenting C. Haddon Chambers' latest comedy, "The Saving Grace." The character of Blinn Corbett, ex-officer of the British army, and Lyvonne McNeil-Jo-well, as portrayed by Mr. Maude, is in every particular as notable a stage figure as the actor's earlier creation, "Grumpy," which is to say that it is a characterization which will remain firmly fixed in one's pleasurable recollections. Miss Laura Hope Crews will be seen in the charming role of Miss Blinn Corbett, a character admirably suited to the talents of this winsome actress. Other members of the company who are well-known in Toronto are Annie Hughes, Charlotte Granville, Betty Murray, Edward Douglas and Stanley Harrison.

"Thirty Days."

A glance at the really great cast of famous farceurs appearing in "Thirty Days" at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, the direction of which is a sufficient guarantee that there is an abundance of laughter in store for all those who are fortunate enough to see it. The play, written by H. H. Frazer, with his customary liberality, has engaged for his latest production, what is practically an all-star cast of comic geniuses. The cast includes the beautiful girls, all of whom are probably better known to Broadway than to the stage. However, Frank McIntyre who plays the star comedy part in "Thirty Days," is well remembered as the drummer in his big success, "The Traveling Salesman." James C. Marlowe is another splendid comedian who has created the star comedy part in "The George M. Cohan plays, dating back to "Fifty Miles From Boston." Other prominent farceurs are Eubank, Hales, Katherine, Cernegoy, Charles Wingate, Jean de Brie, Maud Millard, Eric Jewett, Louis Morrison, and others. The play is a comedy of the type which is so popular with the Toronto audience, and is to be expected of the Frazer production. The Fifth Avenue production of the play, on Wednesday and Saturday.

"A Night in Honolulu."

The new Hawaiian drama by Howard McKen Barnes, entitled, "A Night in Honolulu," will be presented for the first time in Toronto at the Grand Opera House this week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. The play is a comedy of the type which is so popular with the Toronto audience, and is to be expected of the Frazer production. The Fifth Avenue production of the play, on Wednesday and Saturday.

"The Hell Cat."

Today and the entire week the Strand Theatre offers its patrons a feature which the management knows for a certainty will make a smashing hit. It is "The Hell Cat," a new play by Geraldine Farrar in her new Goldwyn play, "The Hell Cat." Mr. Clarence Robson, manager of the Strand, is so impressed with this play, that he has personally sponsored it as an extraordinary production—something which has never been his custom. "The Hell Cat" is a western play magnificently produced. In it Geraldine Farrar is seen as Carmen of the plains, who tames the worst of bad men. She fights her way to love. It is in the film which is a whirl of exciting action; its characters ruled by primitive, red-blooded emotions. Miss Farrar is supported by Tom Santschi, Milton Sills and a fine cast.

"The Common Cause" at the Regent.

Today there begins a week's engagement at the Regent that promises to eclipse all former war story productions. It is "The Common Cause," written by J. Hartley Manners and Major Ian Hay. This production tells the story of the war from beginning to end, but does not picture that side of war which is best left to the imagination. Miss Estelle Carey, a Canadian singer, who has achieved remarkable success, has been engaged to sing English ballads. Her clear soprano voice is most charming and her style engaging.

"Queen of the Sea" at the Regent.

"Queen of the Sea," Annette Kellerman's newest and greatest picture, which will be presented at the Madison Theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, cost $1,000,000, and more than 1500 persons appear in it. One of the greatest thrills is an awe-inspiring drive of 55 feet by Miss Kellerman after a cable cast been cut from under her feet.

Nicholson, C.A.M.C., the Rev. Dr. Cody reading the service, an orchestra playing the wedding music. The decorations were of pink snapdragons. The pretty bride, who was given away by her mother, wore a beautiful gown of ivory satin and lace, with a large collar, a tulle veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of sweethearts, roses and the bride's gift, a bracelet and wore the B.A.M.C. badge in diamonds. Miss Betty Green was the only attendant, her frock was of pale blue crepe and a black hat, with a large veil. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a sword. The ceremony was held for the relatives and intimate friends when Mrs. McKee wore a black georgette crepe with mauve orchids. On Friday evening last, the president and officers of the High Park Club entertained the members and their friends, to the number of nearly two hundred, at a Valentine dance and card party, at the clubhouse, Indian road. The assembly rooms were made very attractive with Valentine decorations, and were thronged all evening with the happy gatherings of west-end people, among whom were noticed several officers and men recently returned from overseas. The officers of the club, with the assistance of a very capable house committee, were kept busy welcoming their guests and seeing that everyone had a good time, in which they were entirely successful. Card playing terminated at 11 o'clock, and after supper had been served at the tables, the large assembly room was cleared and everyone enjoyed dancing on the excellent floor, for which the High Park Club is noted. This was the first "open house" the club has given to the clubroomers since it was completed, and those of the ladies who invaded the men's quarters downstairs were loud in their admiration of the comfortable appearance of the lounge, billiard and card rooms. The handsome District Cup curling trophy, which was recently won by the club's representatives, occupied a place of honor above the fireplace. The next event at the High Park Club will be an afternoon card party on Tuesday,

A Pre-opening Display of Spring Wash Fabrics The Third Floor is Gay With Sheer Voiles and Organdies of Rainbow Hues, While Lovely New Materials Are Sure of Your Admiration

In London, before the war, there were color concerts. Shades took the place of notes, and artistic eyes feasted on sonatas of color instead of sound. With the arrival of the new wash fabrics there came a sort of daily color concert to the Third Floor. The shades of the new materials are inexpressibly lovely. Piles of materials and draped materials provide a feast of color which may be constantly enjoyed. No color concert could ever exceed the beauty of the shades.

And not only are the plain materials bewilderingly lovely—designs this year are fascinating. Many show a predominating shade like a melody overlaid with gay little runs and trills—only the runs and trills are carefully blended shades. To describe any one of them is impossible—they must be seen to be appreciated.

There is one question which the practical woman will be sure to ask about all these shades: Will they fade? We are glad to be able to tell you that with reasonable care you may wash your dainty gowns without a fear.

No attempt is made in this list to tell of all the fabrics or their prices. Varieties are too many. To appreciate them you must visit the department and see them. Prices range from 50c to $3.00
