THANKSGIVING DAY.

Not long ago a distinguished English judge preached a delightful lay sermon to the Bartholomew Club of London on "The Fourteen Mistakes of Life." The first three of these were: "To set up our own standard of right and wrong and to expect everyone to conform to it"; "To try to measure the enjoyment of others by our own"; "To expect uniformity of opinion in this world." These commend themselves as excellent things to avoid and probably no one but will admit in the abstract that what they inferentially require in the way of tolerance and sympathy ought to be willingly yielded. But when it comes down to actual practice there are too many people, and good people, too, who cannot refrain from condemning or at least deprecating all conduct that conflicts with their notions of what that ought to be.

Thanksgiving Day provides an opportunity for the committing of the errors specially covered by Judge Rentoul's first three mistakes of life. It is a commendable institution, too, every particular individual may not spend it well. But even if it be looked at as nothing else than a holiday, and probably to the great majority it is that and nothing more, it does not therefore fall of its purpose. Hurling a long face or attending conventional observances are not necessary elements in Thanksgiving, and a heart that is contented enough to rejoice over the pleasures of a free day, provided they be innocent, may be rendering a tribute to Providence more acceptable than if it were less honest.

Is it not possible that the best lessons of Thanksgiving Day, for many people, come with the memories that cluster round them? Thanksgiving Day may mean family and social reunions, happy hours at home or in the country, perhaps only respite from monotonous toil. It passes, but it is not forgotten. Pleasant associations cling to it, and the mind is insensibly led to the reason for its appointment, and thence to individual causes for thankfulness. Those who habitually live at higher levels will spend Thanksgiving Day in their own way, but they will not if they are wise, judge the many who seek less exalted forms of enjoyment. Contentment alone is great gain.

FIRE PROTECTION FOR THE PUBLIC.

Every paper in the city except The World has been alarmed about the danger of fire in the public schools, where the responsible officials declare there is no danger. Every paper in the city except The World ignores the nightly danger in the theatres and places of amusement which continue to violate the regulations laid down by the responsible officials for proper exits and their use. Fire in Toronto schools in several cases has been shown to be provided for by proper drill. Fires in a Toronto theatre with inadequate exits or exits which are closed every night and unfamiliar to playgoers would result in panic and death, such as in Chicago and elsewhere constitute tragic memories. The schools are a safe mark for criticism because no personal interests are touched, and while The World will be glad to see fireproof staircases in every school, the urgent need of Toronto for the protection of life from fire is adequate exits in the theatres not so provided, and the compulsory use of every one of them at the close of each performance.

Fire Chief Thompson ought to be on record in regard to this, and so also should be the city architect.

THE WIDER PATRIOTISM.

Quite in accord with the line taken by The World the other day, when recommending the opening of the path of knowledge to the people was the appearance of Professor Baker of Toronto University at the annual convention of the teachers of south Ontario. The appreciation elicited by his address on "Our Broadening Conception of Country and Compatriot," while every way deserved, has wider significance since it shows the attraction which addresses, delivered on subjects of real and vital importance, have for the community at large. It is not enough for universities and university professors to await the coming of students to their halls and lecture rooms. They should be ready and willing to carry the cup of learning to the thirty crowds and spread broadcast the seeds of knowledge and culture that all may have a chance to hear something about the great formative questions of the day.

Professor Baker's treatment of his theme was suggestive and inspiring. Britain stands first among the nations to recognize that the existence of local patriotism far from impairing a wider loyalty was its surest foundation. It took, however, many years and some sharp lessons before the way of escape was found from the dilemma which threatened the future of the British empire. Even yet there are occasional re-appearances of the old notions, but they are now felt to be anachronisms and to have no power to disturb the steady movement of the British state towards co-partnership for common purposes on equal terms. To become that means the realization of their true community of interest and Professor Baker's suggestions on this point were practical and timely. What is needed is earnest effort on the part of every citizen who believes that the British peoples can play a great part in promoting the higher civilization, and in leading the world along a more excellent way than that of the past.

Algonquin Park.

Extra Mild, Remember

Many people would drink ale, in preference to all other malt beverages, if ale did not make them bilious.

This O'K brew is brewed especially for those people. It is extra mild and extra light, and lets you enjoy the creamy deliciousness of real old English ale without the heaviness and excessive bitterness. In easily-opened seal stoppered bottles. No broken cork or tinfoil in the glass.

THIRTY-THREE YEARS PASTOR OF ONE CHURCH

Services Commemorative of Rev. Dr. Milligan's Induction Held in Old St. Andrew's.

Services commemorative of the 33rd anniversary of Dr. Milligan's induction as its pastor, was held yesterday at Old St. Andrew's, the church being filled to the doors.

Preaching in the morning, Rev. J. A. Macdonald said the work of Old St. Andrew's stood out unique, not only in the city, but in Canada and it was the personality of the ministry which was largely responsible for the success of that work. There was something of the man's personality in every sermon. Mr. Macdonald said he had marked the progress of Old St. Andrew's under Dr. Milligan's charge, since as a young student he had first entered the church 31 years ago. He was sure he could speak for the great army of students who filled the gallery during those 33 years, that the words of Dr. Milligan had been immeasurably an inspiration to them.

The evening service, Rev. Dr. Milligan referred only incidentally to the special character of the occasion, remarking that with such splendid support as the congregation had given him, he could hardly have failed, but that the work of the church could not have prospered for thirty-three years had not God been with the congregation and with himself.

Dr. Milligan declared himself a firm believer in national church in which Anglicans, Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians could unite on the one organic principle of faith in Christ. In an hour when he hovered between life and death, he had come to a clear vision that such a united church was for the best.

"There is a Church of England, and a Church of Scotland. Why should there not be a Church of Canada?" he asked.

In deprecating observance of an external form, the speaker said there were churches in which he could not sit at sacrament because of such observance. For this reason also, he could not entirely approve of Freemasonry, beneficent as its teachings were.

CITY ATTACKED TO-DAY "RED" FORCE INVADERS

Sham Battle Will Take Place on Humber Between Regulars and Militia.

To-day the City of Toronto will be attacked by a hostile force. As, however, the attackers consist of citizen soldiers of the Queen's Own, there should be no cause for alarm. It will be practically a battle between the permanent force and the militia, for on the troops from Stanley Barracks rests the honor of defending the city.

The invaders (the red force) will consist of a troop of the Mississauga Horse, and an infantry brigade made up from the Queen's Own, Grenadiers and 48th Highlanders. They will leave the Union Station at 8 a.m. and descend at Etobicoke, whence they will deliver the attack.

The defenders (blue) are not numerically as strong, but the infantry company of the R.C.M.P. will represent a brigade. They will also have the help of the 9th Field Battery, and their instructions are to defend the Humber. Probably about 16 a.m. the engagement will commence, and the tactical exercises will conclude somewhere round 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

A march past will be performed in High Park after which the troops will return to the armouries. Col. D. McDonald commands the red force—the invaders, while Col. V. Williams, R.C.M.P., is in charge of the blue army.

Queen's Amusement Club. The Queen's Amusement Club has been organized with the following officers: President, W. Bell; vice-president, P. Tomney; treasurer, F. McCabe; secretary, J. J. King. A board of management was also elected. The next meeting will be held on Thursday in the hall at Queen and Parliament streets.
