

LATEST NEWS.

In France the law against the press has been adopted, as well as those other laws intended to curb the people...

With deep regret we have to announce the death of the learned and excellent prelate, Dr. Brinkley, Bishop of Cloyne...

An official register of steam-boats has lately appeared, as made for Parliament. The total number in England and Scotland is 397, tonnage 36,849.

In relation to the United States, a London paper says: "The unauthorized agents from the United States, have naturally created much anxiety amongst the merchants and others."

Joseph and Lucien Bonaparte were at the Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool, Sept. 8th. They have but 12 persons in their suite.

Lieut. Gen. Count Fouché de Careil, recently died near St. Cloud. He was in the army from 1794 to 1815.

Advices have been received from Lisbon to the 16th inst., at which time the capital is represented as perfectly tranquil, and the Ministry as popular and well united in sentiment.

The news from Spain continues to be unfavorable to the Queen. It is said, on the authority of a telegraph despatch from Bayonne, that a liberal junta had been formed in Madrid, and that the Queen had adhered to it.

SPAIN.—Supposed views of the other European Powers.—In the Frankfort papers there is an article dated from Turin, the 25th August, respecting the present position of affairs in Spain...

The Camp at Kalisch is, or at the latest European dates was, the chief point of interest for European diplomats. Under the guise of a Military Review, the sovereigns of Russia and Prussia, with their ministers, are there met.

The following describes some of the scenes at the camp. A letter from Kalisch, dated August 22, says: "On the day of his arrival the Emperor inspected the troops of the encampment, who were ranged in columns on the parade ground."

It would be difficult to imagine a more magnificent sight than the varied display of 800 Kourdish horsemen, mingled with Gruses and Cossacks richly clothed, and in the midst of these shining helmets and glittering hauberts, or coats of mail of silver, fifty Cossack princes, recalling the descriptions in Irenhoe; to which may be added repeated discharges of pistols, frequently drowned in shouts of the Allah! Allah! of the Mussulmans, and the hurrahs of the Cossacks.

LIVERPOOL MECHANICS INSTITUTION.—The following is a description of the new building, the first stone of which was laid by Lord Brougham...

THE ARMY.

Horse Guards, 31st August, 1835.

Lord Hill has reason to apprehend that the Orders prohibiting the introduction of Orange Lodges into the Army have not been duly communicated to the Non-Commissioned Officers, or Privates; or, if communicated, that they have not been sufficiently explained and understood.

His Lordship now refers Commanding Officers of Regiments to the Confidential Circular Letters of the 1st of February, 1822, and 14th November, 1829, upon the foregoing subject, and declares that any Officer, Non-Commissioned Officer, or Soldier, who shall hereafter institute or countenance an Orange Lodge or any other Meeting or Society whatsoever for the purpose, in Barracks, Quarters, or Camp, shall be brought to trial before a General Court-Martial for disobedience of Orders.

His Lordship moreover peremptorily forbids the attendance of either Officer or Soldier at Orange Lodges, by whomsoever or wherever held.

The present Order is to be read to the Troops generally on the Parade according to the Articles of War.

By Command of the Right Hon. General Lord Hill, Commander-in-Chief. JOHN MACDONALD, Adjut-General.

GENERAL ORDER.—Horse-Guards, 1835. His Majesty has been pleased to command that, with a view of doing the fullest justice to regiments which have distinguished themselves by their bravery in action with the enemy, an account of the services of every regiment in the British Army shall be published under the superintendance and direction of the Adjutant-General; and that this account shall contain the following particulars, viz:—

The names of the officers and the number of non-commissioned officers and privates killed or wounded by the enemy, specifying the place and date of the action.

The names of those officers who, in consideration of their gallant services and meritorious conduct in engagements with the enemy, have been distinguished with titles, medals, or other marks of His Majesty's gracious favour.

The names of all such non-commissioned officers and privates as may have specially signalled themselves in action; and

The badges and devices which the regiment may have been permitted to bear, and the causes on which any of which such badges or devices, or any other marks of distinction, have been granted.

By command of the Right Honourable, General Lord Hill, Commander-in-Chief. JOHN MACDONALD, Adjut-General.

(Mr. Cannon, of the Adjutant-General's Office, has been selected for the task.)

KINGSTON, (U. C.) Oct. 10.—We regret to have to announce the melancholy fact of the death of Colonel T. B. Cunningham, the 24th Regiment, and Commandant of this Garrison, which took place, very suddenly, last night, aged 60 years.

VALUABLE PRESENT.—A present was made to us on the 20th inst. of a watch of great weight in diamonds—a small lock of General Washington's hair. The texture of it is remarkably fine, and it is almost as soft as silk.

CONVICTIONS IN NEW-YORK.—On Saturday last the High Constable, Jacob Hays, handed the Recorder an account of the number of persons who have been sent from this city to the State Prison, from September, 1817, to September, 1834, from which it appeared that the entire number was 1489.

NEW ISLAND IN THE PACIFIC.—The ship Colonel Jackson, Capt. Smith, which arrived at Bristol on Monday, from a whaling voyage, discovered, on the 14th of February last, an island lying in lon. 171° 7' W. lat. 9° 23' S. by chronometer, not laid down on any chart, to which Capt. Smith gave the name of D'Wolf's Island.

UNITED STATES.

MUNIFICENT BEQUEST.

The following is from the New-York Evening Post:—The annexed string of paragraphs, in relation to a large bequest, said to have been made by an English gentleman to the government of the United States for the purpose of erecting a national university at Washington city, is copied from one of the morning papers.

We were told a few days since in Washington, that a gentleman of Paris had left, by his will, about one million of Dollars, for the purpose of endowing a National University in that city. We learned also that the constituted authorities of the city had received official information of the fact, with a copy of the will.

We have the pleasure to inform our friend of the Arena, that we believe his intelligence is substantially correct. We learn that information has been received by the Government, that such bequest was made by some English gentleman of fortune, and that the sum of 200,000 pounds sterling will in all probability accrue to this city for the erection and endowment of a University.

We learn from a gentleman who knows something of the particulars, that the bequest was made to an only son, with the condition that in case of his death it should be applied to the establishment of an University of the highest order, at Washington. The son is dead. The gentleman, we are told, made the bequest in consequence of his republican sentiments, and his aversion to the institutions of our country.

We understand that it would be more accurate to say that the English legacy of £300,000, was bequeathed "to the United States, for the purpose of erecting a National University at Washington, for the promotion of the arts and sciences."

If the statement given in the last of the foregoing paragraphs is correct, we apprehend that insuperable constitutional difficulty will prevent the plan of the testator from being carried into effect.

The Government of the United States has no power to establish a national university. It was proposed, in the Convention to amend the Constitution, that a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

Washington, during his administration, with that singular obliviousness of the doings of the Convention which he evinced in relation to several subjects, resolved to insert a clause in the Constitution for the purpose of conferring on the Government that very power and the proposition was distinctly negatived.

none is deserved, I deem it expedient to disburse the public, and I assert that the charge is wholly unfounded so far as it concerns the Lessee or Ferryman. At a former period were the Boats in better order and the Ferries more diligently attended than at the present moment.

THE OBSERVER.

ST. JOHN, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1835.

By the arrivals at this port from Europe within the last week, dates to the latter part of September have been received, but they furnish nothing of importance. Some extracts are given elsewhere.

The weather in this quarter continues remarkably mild and pleasant for the advanced period of the season, and is highly favorable for farmers to bring their produce to market, as well as for the dispatch of the various mercantile pursuits which are always active at this season of the year.

In the first page of this paper will be found the Act for the commutation of the Quit Rents in this Province, which has received the Royal Assent.

Some proceedings of the St. Andrews and Quebec Rail Road Association are also inserted in the first page.

The population of 12 wards in the city of New-York by the census just completed, amounts to 222,151, which, with the estimated number in the three other wards makes the total population of the city, 264,000.

The Washington Telegraph states that the American National Debt is now fully paid, and a surplus of Fifteen million Dollars in the Treasury.

Count Survilleurs, (Joseph Bonaparte,) has arrived at Philadelphia from Liverpool, after an absence of three years. It is said to be his intention to reside permanently in America.

Portland Episcopal Sunday School.—The collection in aid of the funds of this Institution, after a Sermon preached by the Rev. Mr. Church, on Sunday morning the 25th ult. by the Rev. I. W. D. GRAY, of St. John, amounted to $8 16. 63.—including a donation sent the next day by a lady of St. John, who was present upon the occasion, but who had omitted to take any thing for putting into the collection-plate.

The benefits and blessings of Sunday-school instruction, were pointed out by the preacher, in a very clear and forcible manner; and his arguments and observations were beautifully illustrated by a number of appropriate and touching facts.

For the last three or four days we have had the Indian summer in all its glory.

We have instructed the clerk of this office to enclose this day's paper in his wrappers to all who are eighteen months in our debt, as a timely notice that unless payment be previously made, their names will be erased from our subscription list in four weeks.—Toronto Guardian.

HALIFAX, October 28.—Yesterday morning a Horse in the long range of Buildings on the south side of Marginal Street was discovered to be on fire.—We regret to state that before an effectual stop could be put to the fire, all the buildings in the range, except that nearest to the end of the wharf, were destroyed.

It is with great pleasure we hear of the rise in price of Coals. (now one of our staple articles of export,) in the United States—where, we understand, it was selling at the late dates for 12 dollars per chaldron, ready.

SAINT JOHN SAVINGS' BANK. D. JORDAN, ESQUIRE, Cashier.

Deposited in October, - - £308 7 0 Withdrawn in ditto, - - - 87 3 6

Committee for November: The Hon. Chief Justice CHIFFMAN, and HUGH JOHNSTON, Esquire.

NEW-BRUNSWICK FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY. Office open every day, (Sundays excepted,) from 12 o'clock.

Committee for November: JOHN BOYD, A. B. PERKINS, DANIEL ANSLY.

MARRIED. On Monday morning at night, at Portland Village, by the Rev. G. L. Wiggins, Mr. Robert Fox, to Miss Ann Anthony, both of that place.

On Thursday evening last, by the Rev. Rufus Wessley, Mr. Philip Wilson Tait, to Miss Elizabeth Bowen, both of this city.

On Thursday the 15th ult. by the Rev. Samuel Clarke, Mr. Coles Carpenter, of Long Island, to Sarah Elizabeth, second daughter of Mr. Charles Robinson of Wickham—all of the same parish.

At Wickham, (Queen's County,) on the 21st ult. by the Rev. G. S. Jarvis, Mr. Joseph A. Richards, to Mary S., daughter of Mr. Archibald Carpentier of the former place.

At Fredericton, on the 4th ult. by the Rev. Arden Coates, S. P. Frink, Esq. of St. Stephen, to Mrs. Emeline French, eldest daughter of Capt. G. Fowler, late of St. Mary's.

At Miramichi, on Thursday evening the 22d ult. by the Rev. the Rector of St. Paul's, Stafford Benson, Esq. Surgeon, to Miss Sophia Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. Michael Samuel, Merchant of Chatham.

DIED. On Thursday morning last, after a long illness, Mrs. Margaret Hardenbrook, aged 49 years.

On Friday morning, Anne, infant daughter of Henry T. Partlow, Esq. aged five months.

Drowned, at Carleton, on Saturday evening last, Mr. Wilson Campbell, a native of Calthness, Scotland, in the 32d year of his age.

At Margerville, on the 20th Sept. Margaret, consort of the late James Taylor, Esq. aged 73 years.

At Gage-Town, (Queen's County,) on the 22d Sept. after a long and painful illness, in the full assurance of a glorious eternity, Mrs. Lucretia Gilbert in the 85th year of her age, leaving an example of virtue, piety and charity.

At the seat of his brother, in Kincardineshire, Scotland, on the 31st August, Robert Gladstones, Esq. one of the oldest and well known Merchants of Liverpool, a man much respected, and who had devoted a large share of his talents to the public.

COMMUNICATION.

MR. EDITOR.—An interested writer in the Courier of the 31st ult. charges the Lessee of the Ferry with great neglect in his management of the Ferries, and with a total disregard to the accommodation of the public.