

LABORED FOR ST. JOHN FIRM 40 YEARS AGO; NOW MAGISTRATE IN NEW YORK

Hyman Rayfield, Visiting in Province, Renews Some Old Acquaintances.

(Special to The Times-Star) Fredericton, Aug. 20.—Hyman Rayfield of New York, 40 years after he worked at Marysville as a laborer and cotton weaver, is here to renew memories of old times when Alexander Gibson, Sr., was at the height of his power as an industrial prince. He is no longer a laborer and factory hand but is City Magistrate of New York.

Mr. Rayfield is accompanied by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. Strong and daughter, today they are visiting the Gibson cotton mill at Marysville where Mr. Rayfield worked as a weaver and the country about Marysville and Fredericton.

They intend to go to St. John where the magistrate first set foot on Canadian soil. The first job he ever had was given him by Patrick Mooney of B. Mooney and Sons, contractors of St. John, who were engaged in erecting brick dwellings at Marysville for Alexander Gibson, Sr. Mr. Rayfield intends to look up B. Mooney and Sons and see if there is any one who remembers him.

He is a native of Russia but left that country at an early age. From London, England, he went to St. John on a cattle steamer, leaving the ship there with one shilling in his pocket. His first shelter was a box car loaded with brick and in it he traveled a long distance. How far he does not know.

He found himself in Marysville, approaching a hotel he entered and was surprised to be urged to eat in a dining room.

Hired by Mr. Mooney. He had a talent for sketching and used it in sketching the town and the Nashwaak river. While engaged in making his sketch one day he felt a hand on his shoulder and he was complimented him upon his work. The man was Patrick Mooney, who with his father was engaged erecting brick houses in Marysville.

The result of this conversation was that Rayfield took his first employment in Canada, carrying the load in the Mooney contract until it was finished. He worked later as a farm laborer with William Henry at Upper Magalloway. Later he worked in the woods on the Gibson operation for a time and also was in the cotton mill, where he learned to be a weaver. Mr. Rayfield went to Boston and finally reached New York. His knowledge of English was imperfect, but through a daughter who became a school teacher he was educated, finally being admitted to the New York bar and eventually becoming city magistrate.

Fredericton, Aug. 20.—The village of Barker's Point on the eastern side of the mouth of the Nashwaak was threatened with destruction by a forest fire which suddenly appeared from the eastward at about 11 o'clock last night. Some young men observed the fire and gave an alarm. The residents turned out and fought the blaze until about 2:00 in the morning, when they subdued it.

The country along the Richibucto Road is infested by berry pickers and fishing parties, and one of them is thought to have started the fire, which was not far from buildings when discovered.

MILLIONAIRE HOBO
MARRIES SECRETARY

James E. How, Wealthy Tramp, and Julian Arnold, Poet, Rub Elbows.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—A poet and a millionaire hobo, each famous in widely different spheres, rubbed elbows as they presented themselves at the marriage license bureau here yesterday.

They were Julian B. Arnold, essayist, poet and lecturer, son of Sir Edwin Arnold, Chicago, and James Eads How, millionaire hobo of St. Louis, Mo.

Arnold, who is 63 years old, was married to Miss Elvora Hartford, 28, How, 55, and Miss Ingeberg Sorenson, 29, his secretary, were wedded.

The poet, who lost himself after business failures led to his arrest and exile from England, traveled extensively and finally came here where he was known until 1916 as "J. B. Lindon". Under this name he wrote and lectured. At 64 years of age he acknowledged his identity and began a new start as Julian B. Arnold.

The millionaire hobo, whose grandfather built the famous Mississippi river jetties and numerous other bridges, and whose father was president of the Washab Railroad, started his life as a hobo when he was 12. He was not entitled to the $1,000,000 he inherited because he had done nothing to earn it. He has sold newspapers, washed dishes and performed other menial tasks as he journeyed about the country, living in flop houses and cheap hotels. Once he walked into the office of St. Louis Mayor and tried to give him $100,000 to help the poor.

Amusing Incident Marks Visit of British Heir Apparent to Deauville.
London, Aug. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The Prince of Wales returned to London last night after having spent a few days at Deauville, France, where he was chiefly occupied playing polo.

At Deauville one evening the doorkeeper at the Casino refused his Royal Highness admission, not recognizing him. The mistake was quickly rectified, however, and the Prince seemed to enjoy the joke.

The Prince will sail on the Berengaria on Saturday, August 23, on his brief visit to the U. S. and his longer sojourn at his ranch in Alberta. He will occupy the suite on the ship formerly used by the Kaiser, who was fond of cruising around in this vessel (known then as the Imperator).

NEWFOUNDLAND HOUSE PROROGUES
Passes Measure Repealing the Prohibition Act—Transportation Bill
St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 19.—The Legislature prorogued this afternoon after having been in session since July 10. By far the most important measure enacted is that which repeals the prohibition act and sanctions the distribution of alcoholic liquors as beverages in pursuance of the policy to encourage tourist travel. A loan was passed through its final stages this morning to provide better railway facilities and up-to-date steamers on the Cabot Strait route and the construction of roads in various parts of the island. Various improvements will also be made to the harbor of St. John's to cope with the requirements of passing ships requiring repairs or fuel. The amount of the loan is $4,000,000.

LABOR GOVERNMENTS.
Melbourne, Aug. 19.—Now that there are five Labor governments in Australia the new Premier of Victoria, G. M. Prendergast, intends to bring forward at the next conference of the state Premiers of Australia a resolution in favor of altering the system of the appointment of state governors. Premier Prendergast and other Labor leaders in Victoria consider state governors an unnecessary luxury.

BISHOP HERE ON WAY TO CONFERENCE

Travels From Kansas to Preside at Nova Scotia Meeting.

Bishop William T. Vernon of the African Methodist Episcopal Church of Quindaro, Kansas, passed through the city today en route to Amherst where he will preside at the Nova Scotia conference. He recently arrived in New York from Bermuda where he attended a conference. Education and missionary work will be two of the chief subjects taken up at the Nova Scotia meeting.

From 1908 until 1911 Bishop Vernon was in charge of the diocese in South Africa, and made his headquarters in Cape Town. His diocese included Cape Colony, Orange Free State, Transvaal and Basutoland. He said that they had 25,000 members of their church in South Africa, and approximately 150 missionaries. While there he built a school at Basutoland, known as the "Emily Vernon Mission".

In order to erect this, material had to be conveyed for 1,000 miles.

From 1908 until 1911 Bishop Vernon was registrar of the United States treasury under the late President Roosevelt and President Taft. While in that position he frequently met the presidents and he paid a glowing tribute to their ability.

Bishop Vernon is accompanied by his wife, who has devoted the greater part of her life to missionary work. After the conference in Amherst they will proceed to Hamilton to attend a conference which will start there next week.

CONCERNING THE CANADIAN NAVY
Hon. E. M. MacDonald Says He Was Incorrectly Reported

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence, on his return from Quebec this afternoon, denied the correctness of an interview with him on the relationship of the visit of the British Special Service squadron to the speedy construction of a Canadian navy.

Mr. MacDonald said: "My attention has been called to the report of an alleged interview with me, in which I am made to say that it is our hope that the visit to our shores of the British special squadron will create such a public sentiment as will in the future enable me to expend the necessary funds to build such a navy as will be a credit to Canada and also in the meantime we will do our best to create a sentiment favorable to the report of an alleged interview with me. I did not express any such hope."

Mr. MacDonald pointed out that the expenses regarding the special squadron were entirely a matter for the Canadian people, and that in view of the present extreme burden of taxation in Quebec an enlarged expenditure for naval uses was desired by Canadians.

"I pointed out that a great many people in this country seem to think that contributions of money by the Dominion for the upkeep of the British navy was still the policy of the Empire. As a matter of fact the policy settled by the British authorities and all the Dominions was that any action on the part of any of the Dominions to provide naval defence, should come from the people of the Dominions interested and should not be one of contributions."

The most perfectly lighted stretch of automobile road in the world is located upon the Lincoln Highway a few miles south of Chicago. Twenty-eight concrete standards, spaced 250 feet apart, carry 250 incandescent power electric lamps, equipped with a reflector which throws the light evenly upon the road-bed but not beyond it, constitute the lighting equipment of this ideal section of the famous highway.

During the course of a year these electric lamps are turned on by the master switch a total of 4,000 hours and the yearly cost is less than 25 cents per foot of road illuminated.

MORE SILVER COINS APPEAR IN EUROPE
Munich, Aug. 1.—(Associated Press) The long reign of paper money in a number of European countries is coming to an end with the reappearance of metal coins which various governments have introduced within the last few months. France led the way with a new franc, and a little later introduced smaller coins of nickel.

Germany some time ago issued one and two and three cent metal pieces in nickel, as well as pieces of nickel. Austria several months ago began to issue a coin of one shilling piece in metal, and a little later introduced smaller coins of various denominations.

Poland is planning to put silver coins into circulation, and some weeks ago placed an order for a new coinage with the royal mint in London, the first of which will be completed and sent to Moscow for distribution to the principal banks.

The Free State of Danzig, Poland and Carpatho-Ruthenia are also planning to issue metal coins within the next few months.

GOVERNMENT AIDS ELEVEN FAIRS

St. John, Woodstock and St. Stephen and Several in Counties.

Fredericton, N. B., Aug. 20.—Eleven fairs in New Brunswick this season are to be held with assistance from the provincial treasury in the form of grants. There are large fairs and eight are county fairs. The number is slightly less than it was last year as Centreville and Andover, which had exhibitions in 1923, are not holding them this year.

The three large exhibitions which have been given grants are at St. John, Woodstock and St. Stephen. The county fairs are as follows: Sunbury, Tracy, York, Stanley, Madawaska, Edmundston; Westmorland, Sackville; Gloucester, Carleton Place, Albert, Northumberland, Chatham; St. John, Loch Lomond.

The Fredericton Exhibition also is to be held this year making the fair annual instead of biennial. It is not in the list of those receiving provincial assistance.

The St. John Exhibition opening in the 30th will inaugurate the season of fairs and the following two months will be pretty well occupied with them. Last year it was believed by many that there was a danger of too many exhibitions and county fairs. The smaller shows, however, came out successful financially as a general thing. The number is not so great this year.

At one time there was talk of Restigouche County having a fair with the location at Campbellton but no application for a provincial grant was made and the project was not pressed.

Hon. D. W. Messerue, Minister of Agriculture makes a point of attending the fairs as they are closely associated with his department and the grants are administered under it.

ANNOUNCES TESTS WILL BE MADE FREE
That the Wasserman tests employed as one of the methods of diagnosing venereal disease would be done free in future for any patient in New Brunswick was the statement made yesterday by Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, Minister of Health, at the opening session of the New Brunswick Medical Society Convention. The patient may apply at any of the department's special hygiene clinics in the province or if he is consulting a private practitioner, the department will make the test for the doctor at no expense to him.

Dr. Roberts said that the latest departure of his department would operate to the advantage of both the medical profession and the patients. He said that $15,000 had been allotted for the venereal disease programme, which included nine free clinics. One half of this amount came from the Dominion Department of Health and the other half from the New Brunswick Department of Health.

Between $3,000 and $4,000 was heretofore received from the laboratory division of the department from Wasserman examinations. This revenue would no longer exist as Wasserman tests would be free, he said.
