of the difference in the odds placed on the men was due solely to the fact that Kilrain's backers were in a majority.

Godfrey was knocked out in the 44th round, after a game battle. He struggled desperately during the closing rounds.

At 9:52 P. M., Kilrain entered the ring, followed closely by Godfrey. Kilrain was seconded by Muldoon and Jim Hall, the Australian, with Ernest Roeper as each of the rimportant reports.

Mr. Blair replied that the government were proceeding in the same manner as they had for years, as the old government had done and as they do at Ottawa. The resolutions leading up to the fixing of the day for considering supply are always made on the same day the estimates are submitted. The auditor general's reports were all ready and would

Time was called at 9:53. Godfrey lay well back with his feet extended, Kilrain standing easily. The men came together with rights on ribs. A couple of clinches followed. Kilrain led left for ear, countered by Godfrey's face, but the force of the blows was lost by Godfrey department of the government second round—Kilrain led with his right lightly on Godfrey's shoulder. He seemed disposed to rush matters, while the Bostonian exercised more science and stopped several ugly leads. Kilrain got his right on Godfrey's ear, and closed the round by a rush which was gresseouthered by Godfrey. cross-countered by Godfrey.

Third round—Kilrain landed a good left on Godfrey's cheek. The latter rushed, falling short. Some feinting followed at long range. The round closed with a lead and stop by each. Kilrain had a light bruise under the left eye.

Twenty-third round—Godfrey had up to this time taken enough punishment to wear out many pugilists, but the contest was apparently no nearer termination than a half hour before. He continued to receive blows in the mouth, jaws, and ears with heroic equanimity, that seemed to nonplus the doughty Baltimorean.

Twenty-fifth round—A left punch from Kilrain caught the negro square on the jaw, but he was too far away to get full effects. Godfrey secured but two good blows to his credit in this round, while Kilrain place ng his left glove on the negro's jaw, hammered him repeatedly with his right on the ear.

Twenty-sixth—Kilrain repeated the dose, and hammered his man around the ring.

Twenty-seventh—Godfrey landed twice on Kilrain's face, and once on his breast.
