UNAPPROPRIATE ENTERPRISE. A Juvenile Express Messenger Company Sent to the Reformatory.

Two more boys, Charles Ferris and James McIntosh, were this morning committed to the juvenile reformatory, their terms, however, being longer than those imposed on the boys sentenced last year. To-day's couple numbered six months each. Ferris and McIntosh have been running a private messenger service for the inmates of lodging houses, and, as shown this morning, did a little pilfering on the side. They were charged this morning with stealing two month organs from M. W. Waitt & Co.'s, two similar instruments from A. W. Knight, a purse from Bessie Williams and a pocket book containing $1.50 from May Wilson. They pleaded guilty to the charge.

THE CLEVELAND HERE.

The Wrecked Steamer Arrives Down From Barclay Sound.

The steamer Cleveland arrived in the Royal Roads this afternoon from Barclay Sound in tow of the tug Car and Tyce. After the necessary repairs were made to her she lay on the smooth, sandy beach at Hand Island, where she was beached on Tuesday last, she was again floated yesterday evening and at midnight the tug placed her hawsers aboard her and brought her to Victoria. Capt. Metcalf, who was in charge of the sailing of the steamer, together with Mr. J. H. Tyson, one of the owners, came to town on the tug, leaving the Tyce with her tow in the roads. At the time of going to press they were endeavoring to make arrangements with Mr. Bullen to have the steamer repaired on his ways at Esquimalt, and provided satisfactory arrangements can be made she will be hauled out at once. Later—it was decided this afternoon to take the steamer to Tacoma, on account of the duty they would have to pay upon the return of the vessel to the United States if the work was done here. Three small holes, besides the large one, were found in the foreward hold. After all had been patched up the steamer was towed from the beach and brought to Victoria.

COCOS ISLAND TREASURE.

Another Story of a Previous Search for the Buried Millions.

The recent searches for buried treasure on Cocos Island, in the Pacific, have interested two citizens of Woonsocket, R.I., in particular. In 1840 George Worrall, superintendent of the Woonsocket fire alarm telegraph, while on his way to the gold placers of California, went ashore on this island with several others to supply the ship with fresh water. There were springs in plenty, and while the party repaired ashore, they were surprised to see a human being approaching from the woods. His name was Baxter, and he told Capt. Thatcher that he had been on the island for his own request two years before by a vessel on which he was a sailor. Baxter also said that he had served under Commodore Perry at the battle of Lake Erie. He had been seized with melancholy and wanted to be alone. The sight of the ship John had banished all desire of remaining longer. Capt. Thatcher agreed to take him aboard, but was amazed when about to start for his ship to find that the also could do so. The two who were found had started back to the ship, having weakened after an absence of two days. What became of the other two never was learned.—New York Sun.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Presentation of an Address to Rev. Mr. McRae, of Victoria West.

Rev. D. McRae, and Mrs. McRae, of St. Paul's church, Victoria West, were the recipients of a pleasant surprise last evening. The members of session and board of managers, with their wives, assembled at the manse, and after partaking the Highland hospitality of Mr. D. McIntosh, as clerk of session, presented Mr. McRae with an address, referring in affectionate terms to his long and faithful pastorate, and to Mrs. McRae for her abundant and unswerving labors in the work of the congregation. Mr. McRae was completely taken by surprise, but replied at some length, reviewing the history of St. Paul's church, and said that oftentimes he had been well-nigh discouraged, but now matters looked brighter; he has an active and sympathetic session and an efficient board of managers, and the other departments of the church were well organized. It was gratifying to know he had the confidence and hearty cooperation of the office-bearers of the church. Mr. James Tegg, chairman of the board of managers, in a few happy remarks handed Mr. McRae a slight token of the esteem in which he is held by his session and managers. The address, in itself, prepared by Mr. E. B. McKay, of the lands and works department, is a work of art and somewhat characteristic. The artist has very beautifully depicted the rugged steeple of St. Andrew's crosses with the maple leaf, and surmounted the whole with a fine pen and ink sketch of St. Paul's church.

CITY COUNCIL.

Last Evening's Regular Meeting Was an Unusually Short One.

The city council met last evening in regular session and disposed of what little business they had to transact in short order. Messrs. Crease & Crease wrote again in regard to the claim that a house on Fisgard street, belonging to their client, Mr. McCormack, had been destroyed without proper authority. The city council decided that the house was destroyed under order from the owners of the land on which the house stood. The letter was received and filed, and Messrs. Crease & Crease will be informed that the council does not consider the claim. Sanitary Officer Chipchase reported that the nuisance near the James Bay club house was caused by houses on Kingston street being connected with a surface drain, which runs into the harbor near the club house. Referred back to the sanitary officer for more definite information.

The firewarden reported on the improvements made in the department during the year. A copy of the report was sent to the underwriters, who asked for the particulars. The street committee reported that there were no funds for a crossing in front of the J.B.A.A. club house. Ald. McCandless and Hall thought that the work should be done, as there were funds on hand. Ald. Kinsman said the committee did not know there were funds at the time they made out the report. Ald. Partridge spoke for a sidewalk on the east side of Government street, between Yates and Johnson streets. It was decided to put down a block crossing in front of the J.B.A.A. club house, and also the sidewalk on Government street mentioned by Ald. Partridge. The finance committee report having been passed, the council adjourned.

ONTARIO LEGISLATION.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—The provincial government is introducing a bill at the present session of the legislature providing that no person entering the employ of the province after January 1st, 1898, shall be entitled to a retiring allowance. The government is said to be desirous also of carrying out the principle in the bill introduced privately, the object of which is to permit the purchasing of the salaries of civil servants, the inability to do which in the past has been a considerable grievance among tradesmen and has caused the growth of a large number of deadbeats in the civil service.

NEAR TESLIN LAKE.

Dr. J. H. Hudgin Writes of His Trip Over the Trail.

Dr. J. H. Hudgin, who left in August to go to Klondike via Port Wrangel and the Stickeen route, has written again to his family. He is travelling over the trail between Telegraph Creek and Teslin Lake, which is the best stage of the overland portion of the Spokane route. He writes that he is making an easy journey over the trail, which he finds an easy one, even in mid-winter, with only dogs for beasts of burden. Following is the letter, with personal matters eliminated: Camp No. 5 on trail to Teslin Lake, Dec. 1.—About three weeks ago a man from Chicago and me had secured a dog and came out on the trail for game, as we needed fresh meat. We succeeded in getting three reindeer and one moose, which will last us until long in the winter. We have great appetites. In fact I eat as much as one meal as I did at home in four or five meals. We have had fine weather ever since reaching Telegraph Creek. The trail is fine, and we are moving right along. We are now at the camp we made while out hunting. We brought our game and hid it in the snow. It was when we arrived with our outfit; only took enough with us to last until our return. We have a fine camp, warm and comfortable, we will rest a couple of days here and do our washing and dress our meat. Old timers tell us that we will have a big snow storm before long, which will last for several days, and for us to lay by while it lasts, after which the weather will probably settle for the winter. We are now in a very comfortable position, with our meat and grub in my shirt sleeves, but I had a sweat-shirt under my outside shirt. Some days, however, I had to keep my face covered up to keep from freezing my nose. We are going through in good shape and have won the compliments of a great many who would not tackle it, and who now wish they had exercised good judgment and pulled out when we did. The result is that we are well on the trail, over the worst, with plenty of fresh meat, while those who left behind are discouraged, a good many of whom are now in the Yukon, and who can save by having plenty of fresh meat. I shot a nice mess of ptarmigan. They are birds a little smaller than pheasants, and as white as snow. I dressed them, and as I was going to the Yukon for Thanksgiving and made gravy with flour and condensed milk. The boys had gathered some cranberries and made sauce, and with a can of tomatoes we bought for the occasion at Telegraph Creek, we had a dinner fit for the gods. Some of the men, and I remember right, that boats could run up Telegraph Creek. That is a mistake, for the stream is not as big as the Copping at Waltham.

It is snowing. I think our luck for storm is in. I could not be more comfortable. I started yesterday. I thought a storm was on, but it is a lovely day; moved part of our things four miles and will pull out again to-morrow. We have a stove with an oven in the drum in which we are cooking our grub. I wish you could have some of our reindeer. I think it is the best meat I ever ate. I had for a hunting partner two weeks ago a gentleman from Kaslo. His name was Kent.

This has been one of the prettiest winter days I ever saw. The fact that winter has been beyond criticism—had no wind or storms. One or two days it has been in the thirties, but we have been at work through it all, and comfortable; could not realize it was so cold. It seems funny here to see everyone use the word "beast" of burden. They make him pull a sled as well as packs. A Spokane man who came out to see me says that Arthur Jordan and J. J. Brown's son are on the Stickeen river, coming this way. I think there will be more chances from now on to send letters out.

J. H. HUDGIN.

LAW IN THE YUKON.

Inspector Wood, of the Northwest Mounted Police, who is stationed at Skagway, writes the department here and gives a flat contradiction to the stories of shooting and the laxity of enforcement that have been reported. "I have interviewed fifteen men," said Mr. Wood, "who have arrived within the last few days from Dawson, and in response to particular inquiries from each one of them as to how the law was enforced there they assured me that more quiet and law-abiding place they never saw. As to the report of shooting scrapes and murders, there was no truth in them at all. There was not a murder committed in Dawson." The Mounted Police preserved order so well that they would not permit fighting with the fists, far less with guns. Mr. Wood also says that there will be enough of provisions in Dawson for the people who are there. His letter is dated December 18th. The stories of shooting, murders and lynchings from the Yukon which have been appearing in the United States press, are all fiction.

FOR CIVIC HONORS.

Four Candidates as Yet For Mayor, Aldermen and Trustees. So far comparatively few electors have definitely announced their intention of being candidates for mayor, aldermen and trustees. For mayor there are two candidates—Mr. Charles B. Redfern, the present incumbent of the office, and Mr. Joseph Carey, who some years ago served a term in the mayor's chair. The candidates for aldermen who are out to their feet asking for the votes of the electors are: North Ward—Ald. John Kinsman and Mr. Thomas Bradbury. Centre Ward—Ald. Vigilus, Ald. Stewart, Mr. J. B. Phillips and Mr. P. C. McGregor. South Ward—Ald. John Hall. For Trustees—William Marchant. The nominations take place on Monday next, and the election on the following Thursday.

SHIPPING NEWS.

From recent indications the Victoria sealing fleet will be limited to the number of vessels which have already cleared for the North Pacific ocean, sixteen in number. Some twenty-four other schooners, upon which the preliminary work necessary had already been commenced, and which it was intended to dispatch at an early date, have received countermanding orders, and will, the owners say, remain in port. The reasons given for the change of plans are various and contradictory, the only fact which seems to be established, beyond doubt, is that nothing is being done now to increase the number of vessels which will be engaged in the sealing industry.

Following is a list of the vessels which have already cleared for the North Pacific ocean, with the number of crew carried by each: General, 26; Libbie, 25; Doris, 30; Mary Taylor, 20; Mary Ellen, 36; Teresa, 27; Penelope, 30; Beatrice, 26; Anoka, 30; Arietta, 35; City of San Diego, 26; Ada, 28; Allie J. Alger, 24; C. D. Rand, 28; Sancy Luss, 26. A London dispatch says that Mr. Mailand-Kerensky is completing very extensive arrangements in connection with the Yukon, which Mr. Leiter and Mr. McKay are concerned. It is even said that he has secured the active cooperation of attaches of royalty. He is sending ten steamers up the coast via St. Michael, to carry the regular passenger service next season, while from the end of the Teslin lake railway steamers will be provided to tow batteaux down the stream to Dawson. The Canadian Pacific ocean service of the Am-singha class, are now at Southampton and Tartar. They will sail on February 1st, carrying passengers to Vancouver for £30 per head. They are competent to carry 120 first class passengers and 600 intermediate passengers.

The Japanese steamer Matsuyama Maru, from Yokohama, Captain J. F. Allen, arrived at Port Townsend yesterday after a remarkably rough passage, which was made in sixteen days. Captain Allen reports that the steamer Pelican, now eight-two days out, has not been sighted. Captain Allen says that people are confident at Yokohama that the steamer Pelican, which is on a return voyage to the North Pacific ocean, and will be saved. Faith in the steamer is so strong in Yokohama that it is believed that his predictions are true.

Steamer Corona leaves Seattle this afternoon for the north and should call at the outer wharfe late to-night. A few passengers and some cargo await her here.

Following is the list of passengers embarking here, some of whom are booked respectively for Juwina, Wagon, Skagway and Distant (British cable). Thos. F. Geiger, second class—V. Wilson, R. Campbell, J. Franklin, D. C. Brown, Chas. A. Brown, B. A. Doreau, J. Bailen, C. Landry, J. Kingsley, Mrs. J. Lather, D. Chinopoulos, D. Demetriades, J. B. St. Louis, E. H. St. Louis, R. Eltz, G. C. Bunker, A. Zippner, and W. H. Hart.

The Victoria agents of the steamer Farallon have received no information which can be taken to confirm the reports that the steamer is in northern waters. The overhauling she will receive prior to her next trip is in accordance with a long-standing agreement, and will include very complete and thorough repairs to engines and boilers, alterations tending to a considerable increase in her passenger accommodation. The agents say that when the Farallon reaches Victoria again on her way north she will be almost unrecognizable, so radical will be the improvements and changes she will have undergone.

The C.P.N. Co. have issued a very neat folder advertising their plans for the accommodation of the spring and summer travel to the northern gold fields. Full information as to the four best known routes, the Stickeen, Skagway, Dyea and St. Michaels, are given in a very complete and comprehensive manner, and under the head of "general information" the prospective traveler is told what he should take, what duties he will have to pay on American bought supplies, and that on Canadian outfits no duties will be collected. The folder, which is being distributed broadly, is a very useful and effective advertisement.

A KLONDIKER IN TROUBLE. Director of an English Philanthropic Society in the Yukon. Toronto, Jan. 4.—The following is a special report from the director of the Klondike Gold Mining & Trading Co., who is now in the Yukon, and who is also director of the company to which he is referring. "I have interviewed fifteen men," said Mr. Wood, "who have arrived within the last few days from Dawson, and in response to particular inquiries from each one of them as to how the law was enforced there they assured me that more quiet and law-abiding place they never saw. As to the report of shooting scrapes and murders, there was no truth in them at all. There was not a murder committed in Dawson." What is known and Sold as Ready-Made Clothing

Is clothing cut out by machinery, put together by machinery, and with the aid of starving female labor. Such a garment stamps the wearer on sight as dressed in slops. He not only looks it but as a consequence feels it. Men are learning that they cannot afford to be ill-dressed. Slops have had their day.

Shorey's Ready-to-Wear Clothing expresses exactly what the name would imply. TWO KINDS "Ready-Made" and "Ready-to-Wear."

Quite Ready-to-Wear. Made by tailors, designed by an artist, sewn with the best linen and silk, cut to fit the form of man be tall, short, stout, or thin. Any man not a positive malformation can be fitted by Shorey's Ready-to-wear Clothing.

Fitted we mean dressed so that he looks a Gentleman, and possesses that feeling of comfort and air of ease that always marks the well-dressed man. See that Shorey's Guarantee Card is in the pocket of every garment.

PURCHASERS FROM SEATTLE.

On the 20th of December last, Messrs. E. B. Wisshaar and L. B. Pease, representing the Post-Intelligencer Seattle, Alaska News Syndicate, comic books and other supplies from a wholesale firm in Victoria. These gentlemen bought their supplies here because they could be had so much cheaper than in Seattle, and because of the Am-singha class, in the North Pacific ocean, and will be saved. Faith in the steamer is so strong in Yokohama that it is believed that his predictions are true.

BOSTOCK VS. JACKSON.

Action to Declare a Sale of Property Invalid Settle. The case of Bostock vs. Jackson, which was on the list for trial in the Supreme Court to-day, has been settled out of court. The action was brought by Hewitt Bostock, M.P. for Yale-Carlton, against Robert Edwin Jackson, formerly a member of the firm of Drake, Jackson & Havelock, but now resident for the greater part of the time in England. The action was to have declared invalid an agreement whereby the plaintiff bought from defendant a half interest in the Jackson farm in Sooke, because of the relationship of solicitor and client existing between the parties at the time the sale was made on the 5th of January, 1891. The endorsement of the writ read as follows: The plaintiff's claim was for the avoidance of the sale of certain lands in Sooke and Otter districts, British Columbia, made by the defendant, then being the plaintiff's solicitor to the plaintiff in 1891 and completed in 1892; and for the refund of all money paid by the plaintiff under such sale, being $16,455.78.

When the Chief Justice opened court this morning E. V. Bodwell and Archer Martin appeared for Mr. Bostock and Elton C. E. Pooley, Q.C., and E. P. Davis, Q.C., for Mr. Jackson. Mr. Bodwell opened the proceedings and said it was gratifying to him to be able to state that the case had been settled. Since the action had been launched the parties had come together many explanations had been made and the defendant has made certain concessions, which are satisfactory to the plaintiff, and had satisfied the plaintiff that when the sale was made the defendant had not intended that it should be looked upon as a transaction between solicitor and client. In view of these explanations and the facts brought to the plaintiff's notice, the plaintiff consented to a settlement of the case. The correspondence between the parties had led to an unpleasantness between them. Mr. Pooley then stated his satisfaction with the settlement and his longship interest judgment concerning the settlement, each party to pay his own costs.

HIGHER COAL WITHOUT A TAX.

The Colonist of to-day returns to the threat frequently made, that should a royalty be placed on coal the cost of coal to consumers would be increased correspondingly. He instances the case of Nova Scotia, where a royalty as high as 125 cents per ton is imposed on coal mined. A recent occurrence in this province will convince even your contemporary, although he will not admit his conviction, that it does not require a royalty to raise coal rates. Less than a week ago the price of Alexandria coal was advanced fifteen cents per ton to local consumers, notwithstanding the fact that the sale of foreign consumer remains the same as before. I am informed that an independent company had been ready to sell coal at $5 per ton, but that they are deterred from bringing their product to market, because of the freight rates fixed by the coal barons, over whose lines they must bring their coal, to market. It is high time Mr. Editor, the legislature took the matter up, since without a tax the monopoly advanced coal by a leap that is ten times higher than the proposed royalty of five cents per ton. CONSUMER.

Smith—I don't like to make any complaint to a neighbor Mr. Jones, but your dog has kept up a terrible barking all night. Jones—Oh, that's all right; he's used to it; won't hurt him a bit. Kind of you to mention it, however.

THE RECENT ENGLISH FATALLY. With reference to the death of Walter Croft, the pugilist, who met his death in a boxing match in London, England, mentioned in these columns a couple of weeks ago, the verdict of twelve out of the fourteen jurymen was: "The deceased, Walter Croft, met his death by an accident due to a fracture of the skull caused accidentally by a knockout blow during a boxing contest. We further consider that there is no evidence to show that the accident occurred by an attempt to knock out." The coroner added: "I think we are agreed that it has been a perfectly accidental matter. Yes. The coroner: That is a verdict of accidental death. The foreman: Yes. The proceedings then terminated.

New York, Jan. 3.—William A. Brady, Corbett's manager, has posted $25,000 with Al Smith, to bind the match with Fitzsimmons. Corbett will fight Fitz for $10,000 a side, or as much money as Fitz can raise. In addition to this, Brady offers to give $10,000 to Fitz when he signs the articles, and give an additional thousand to Fitz when he enters his ring. Brady says he will force Fitz to fight Corbett again.

CYCLING.

Great Performance by Platt-Betts. Platt-Betts, the well known English cyclist, who recently lowered the mile record at Sydney, N.S.W., has crossed to do the same in connection with the five mile record held by the French cyclist, Lucien Lesna, who covered that distance on the Adelaide oval in 9 minutes 53 seconds. Platt-Betts was successful in his attempt at record breaking, and rode five miles in 9 minutes 54 2/5 seconds. The first mile was thrown behind in 1 minute 55 4/5 seconds, two miles in 3 minutes 55 3/5 seconds, three miles in 5 minutes 53 4/5 seconds, four miles in 7 minutes 57 1/5 seconds, and the five miles in 9 minutes 54 2/5 seconds. Lesna's record was therefore lowered by more than 4 seconds. Platt-Betts was heartily cheered by those present at the conclusion of his great ride, which is all the more remarkable for having been done so early in the morning, as the English cyclist is in his best condition in the afternoon. He rode an Imperial Rover machine geared to 104.
