McADAM, July 24.-The Machinists' a picnic and sports on Saturday, July 23rd, on the semaphore grounds, Vanceboro road. Nearly 300 people assembled to witness the sports, including Visitors from Vanceboro and Danforth. FREDERICTON, N. B., July 26. -

This morning at an early hour while D. W. Bridges was driving by the store of C. J. Burpee, general merchant, at Sheffield, he received a surprise at finding the store door standing open and hearing voices within. Mr. Bridges at once became suspicious and aroused Mr. Vandine, the proprietor of the hotel at McGowan's. Together they entered the premises and found every evidence of an attempted burglary, though the thieves themselves had taken flight. Entrance had been effected by prying off one of the pad-Kempton, New Bedford, Mass.; Mrs. E. lock staples from the front door. Just inside several articles of clothing and other goods of a general nature were found, ready for transportation. The men had evidently been surprised in their little business, as on examination at St. John on Wednesday. Mr. Burpee reported that though his goods had been disturbed, nothing was M. Brimmer, Miss M. L. Brimmer, Bosmissing. The till, which contained a ton; Mrs. C. F. Beard, St. Stephen; Mrs. small amount of money, had not been tampered with. Further examination showed that two men had made their way to the landing opposite Mr. Burpee's store in a boat. The craft was afterwards found and now awaits an owner. It is supposed that the men took to the woods on being discovered, Germantown, Pa. instead of returning to the boat. In connection with the same report comes the story that during the night Percy Barker's house, about two miles above McGowan's wharf, was entered and 'that one of Mr. Barker's employes this morning is mourning the loss of a valuable watch. There is no doubt but that these are the same parties who attempted the burglary at the Burpee store, and the authorities feel that they will capture the men with the evidence they have at their disposal.

The only additional recommendations that have come from me in relation to permanent defences had to certify (1) as to suitability, and were suggestions that an important seaport on the Atlantic and another on the Pacific should receive slight protection against raids from torpedo The engine was in good working boats and cruisers, the cost of which

A register was published in March. 1901, which contained the names and pedigrees of 97 thoroughbred and 31 agricultural stallions that had been accepted. Upwards of 1.800 free nomination tickets of £3 each were offered at 150 shows of mares held during March and April, and nearly 1,700 of gayme; these tickets were issued. In addition to subsidizing stallions by means of £3 nominations to mares, the department offered in a few counties where there was an insufficient number of stallions for the purposes of the scheme, premiums varying from £50 to £100.

Loans for the Purchase of Stallions. In order to encourage farmers of small means to provide themselves with a was allotted by the department for the chase of approved sires. The money was lent at 21/2 per cent. interest, payable in five instalments. It was a condition precedent to these loans that the animal should be insured for its full market value. Premiums for Female Stock. As further means of encouraging improvement in stock breeding, the department adopted the principle of awarding premiums and prizes to female stock. The advisory committee on horse breeding pointed out that that industry in Ireland is to a great extent, injured by young mares being sold out of the country, thus leaving only second class animals for breedng purposes, and the department adopted their recommendation that the prizes and premiums should be mainy confined to young mares from two o six years old, served by a registered sire, in the hope that the farmers would thereby be induced to retain these mares.
