OTTAWA IN MOURNING.

The Cabinet and Thousands Attend the Funeral of fliss Bessle Blair and the Gallant Harper,

Mr. H. A Harper, who were drowned in such a tragic manner on Friday while skating, took place at Ottawa on Monday and were largely attended. Thousands of all clases of citizens attended. There were also present the Governo:-General and the Countess of Minto, with Major Maude, military secretary, Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, Mr. Mrs. and the Misses Fielding Dr., Mrs. and Misses Borden, Sir Louis and Lady Davies, Mrs. Sifton, Hon. Messers. Sutherland and Scott, Fisher Mulock. Patterson, Tarte, Justices Sedge. wick, Gwyane, Girouard, the staff of the railway department, and as many of the friends of the family as the house would hold. Funeral service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Herridge, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, at which Hon. Mr. Blair and his family worshipped since th y have made their home in Ottawa. The choir of the church was also present and saug hymns specially chosen by Mrs Blair, 'Asleep in Jesus' 'Peace, Periect Peace' and 'Lead Kindly Light.' The service was a most impressive one. The members of the family then took a fare well look at the loved one, and then the inneral procession started from the house for the cemetery. Immediately after the hearse walked the father, Hon. A. G. Blair, his two sons, A George Blair, and Master Donald Blair, and his son-in law, Mr. Randolph, of Fredericton. Captain Bell, A. D. C., as representative of His Excellency, came next, and the Premier and his colleagues walked two and two. Following them come hundreds of mourn ing friends in all walks of life.

The floral tributes were very numerous among the contributors being Lord and Lady Minto, Lady Ritchie, Mr. and Mrs. Fielding, Mrs Thomas White, Mr. and Mrs. Schreiber, Hon. Sydney Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. John Connor, St. John; Miss Snowball, Chatham; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gr ffin, G. E Barbour, St. John; the teachers of St. Andrew's Sunday School, the New Brunswick members of the census staff, the Misses Eleanor McAvity, Alice Christie and Josephine Bostwick, St. John. With every token of esteem for the deceased, and evidence of affection and sympathy for the sorrowing family, the re mains were laid away in a vault at Beechwood cemetery. In the spring they will be transferred to the family burial plot

Among hundreds of messages of sympathy, the following from the Prince of Wales was transmitted to Mr Blair by His Princess and I are deeply grieved to hear of shocking death of Miss Blair. Please convey our heartfelt sympathy to her bereaved parents. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain cabled to Mr.

'Let me express my sincerest sympathy with you and with your family in your terrible misfortune.

The High Commissioner cabled:

Mr. Creelman, who was not allowed to talk much on Friday evening, was restored tion of all that happened, and states that he never lost consciousness. It happened this way,' said Mr. Creelman: 'M'ss Blair and I were skating towards the city about 5 80, with Mr. Harper and Miss Snowball a few yards behind us and on our right. We were going pretty fast, Miss Blair holding my walking stick. The evening was just closing down, and the surface of the ice leoked smooth. We had no idea that we were near thin ice, and the first we knew was when our skates out through the ice and we pitched forward. I realized at once that we were going though, and as we pitched forward I New myself towards Miss Blair, so as to > cool and harg on to the edge of the ice. She replied in a fearless way, 'Oh, don't mind me, I can swim, look,' and she struck out sgainst the current. At this time I saw Harper and Miss Snowball skating towards us. Harper was throwing off his overcoat and gauntlets. I shouted to him, 'For God's sake, Harper, don't you come

He replied fearlessly: 'What else is there for me to do?' and plunged towards M's. Blair who was swimming against the current Blair. I had taken in a great deal of water and was well nigh strangled, but I managed to keep my head and shout for help. Short ly after Harper [plunged into the water] went down again, and when I regained the surface I was under the ice, and the current had carried me away from Miss Blair and Harper. When latelt the ice over my head I struck out with my fist in a forloa shope of breaking through My hand went through and I forced my body up through the ice. I cleared myself of all the swater I could and started to shout for help. I was compleiely exhausted and had a hard time to keep from going down. I shouted time after time for help, and at last I heard a response. I shouted to save Miss Blair, that she was in the water with Har per. The voice which responded to me was Treadgold's. He had come up the river with Miss May Blair, and hearing my call, came to my assistance. I repeatedly called to him to save Miss Blair, and he as often told me that Miss Blair was all right. I asked where she was and he said she was over on the bank with the rest safe. I then asked where Harper was, and Treadgold told me that he was all right also. I replied that they could not be, as they were in the water. Treadgold, having been with Miss May Blair, thought that I was referring to her, and this, I suppose is how the confusion took place. About the same time that Treadgold arrived on the scene Miss Snowball returned from Gatinean Point with a man named Blais, who had trailed a punt over the ice to the open wa er. The fact that Miss Snowball had sister is gone." 'After they had rescued me they took ne to a house on Gatineau Point where I got warmed up a bit and then proceeded to my room here. I am feeling all right, but I can't say how I regret the occurrence. I did all in my power to save Miss Blair, and had I not gone under and been carried away from her by the current I believe I would have succeeded.

Rev. Job Shenton, one of the best known Methodist clergymen in Lower Canade, dropped dead as he commenced to eat his dinner in his Fait ville home on Wednesday. Mr. Shenton and his wife sat down to their mid-day meal as usual, both I succeeded in getting a hold of her arm and keeping her up with my right. I

-without a sound—he fell to the floor. It was a terrible shock for Mrs. Shenton. Help was summoned. Dr. J. H. Grey soon arrived. He said death was due to heart failure. Whon the sad news spread about the adjacent town it could hardly be credited. Mr. Shenton had been about in the morning, stopping and chatting in his usual happy vein to this one of the towns

Rev. Job Shenton has been a familiar personage in St. John for years. In the Methodist denomination in the lower provinces he was regarded as one of the blest preachers, an ideal pastor, a clear thinker in business effsire pertaining to denominational interests, and a man of the highest Christian character.

He was an Englishman, and received bis earlier education in the home land. Coming to Canada, he was ordained in 1860, and his first pastoral charge, strange to say, was in Farrvillo. He married a ister of Rev. W. W. Lodge, of Hampton.

During the forty-one years of his ministry he has occupied pulpits in many of the the Maritime Provinces, including twice in years and six weeks grow to $40. TOPICS TALKED ABOUT.

Secret Ways of a Loan Institution-The Third Canadian Contingent.

Company, which has a branch office in this city, is the subject of an article in the last issue of the Monetary Times. Among other things the article states:

The York County Loan and Savings Company boasts, we are told, of getting cheap money from the public, attracting juveniles and perhaps others by means of their little penny box system, and stated collections. But even if they get this money at a low rate of interest, it must be costly system when the number of collectors and clerks they employ to handle it is considered. A correspondent tells us, by the way, that a detailed statement of the salaries and expenditure of the company has never been given, from 1895 until now.

By one of the company's prospectus sheets we learn that the rate of interest allowed is four per cent compounded quarterly. And to allure children and others an attached table shows how five cents per week paid to this company will in twelve pose this to be true, what provision is the company making for the repayment of its hundreds of trusting depositors. That is the important question. Its literature says: 'Any time after three years and a half, the total amount paid in can be withdrawn, with interest, on notice of not to exceed thirty days.' But it does not appear that the company is ready thus to pay, when we find that a shareholder in Ontario, whose address we have, made application this year for the withdrawal of shares at the appointed time, and was besought by the agent to leave the money in the company's hands till next year, he offering a higher rate than four per cent.

article 8 of the by-laws, section 2, dealing with stock class 'C,' full paid $100 shares, bearing semi-annual dividends 'at the rate of not to exceed 6 per cent.' (and with respect to which the directors reserve rights as to issue and cancellation), it is said, pege 6: 'This stock shall first charge on all the securities of the company. What authority have the directors for so arbitrary a provision as this, and by what power can managers of a mutual concern prefer one class of shareholders by giving them priority in rights over the money of sharohelders in other cases? Have the management any power to declare and guarantee a stated rate of dividend before it is earned ? And is t right that Fredericton has passed a bye-law, mak such real estate operations as this company
