SATURDAY'S POEM.

Two Temples,
A builder builded a temple;
He wrought it with care and skill—
Pillars and groins and arches,
All fashioned to work his will.
And men said, as they saw its beauty,
"It never shall know decay."
Great is thy skill, O builder!
Thy fame shall endure for aye!"

A mother builded a temple
With infinite loving care,
Planning each arch with patience,
Laying each stone with prayer.
None praised her unceasing effort,
None knew of her wondrous plan.
For the temple the mother builded
Was unseen by the eye of man.

Gone is the builder's temple—
Crumbled into the dust;
Low lies each stately pillar,
Food for consuming rust.
But the temple the mother builded
Will last while the ages roll.
For that beautiful unseen temple
Was a child's immortal soul.

—H. Vose Hall, in Zion's Herald.

To raise some talent money for patriotic purposes Miss Rosemund McAvity and Miss Gladys Dowling will have a military opening at T. McAvity & Sons, King street, on April 12th. There will be hats for youth and age, for ladies and children. This is quite a novel scheme and no doubt the young ladies' efforts will be crowned with success and their cash boxes brimming over.

New Tailored Ties.

Of all the accessories in dress, none is more charming than the new tailored ties which come from Paris. Made in moire or corded silk, these ties vary in shape from the very small design to the bigger proportions of the Latin Quarter bow which spreads its way artistically over the front of the blouse.

The ties commenced their new career in the smallest shapes. A band of moire, black mostly and only half an inch wide, was drawn round the neck under the blouse collar and its ends were folded modestly in the front.

Bigger designs in moire or black velvet were worn next, with bows as well as ends, and then the Latin Quarter tie made its appearance on the fashionable blouse.

The revival of ties among women is accompanied by a new fashion in footwear, which brings the two into harmony. Ties are made in black and white, and shoes are arranged also to match in these two colorings.

The tie is of corded silk, the white being crisscrossed with the black, and the shoe uppers repeat the trimming scheme.

according to the George H. Doran Company, her publishers, who quote the author as saying: "Generally speaking, I write when there is not a fourth for bridge." Evidently she does not like three handed bridge.

The influence of the war upon marriage and the birthrate, and the general position of marriage in modern life, is discussed by Mr. Walter Galichan in a work entitled "The Great Unmarried," to be published this month in London by Werner Laurie.

Women as Farm Hands.

A farmer with 200 acres of arable land at Rainford near Ormskirk, in applying for exemption for a team's man, said he had three daughters who helped on the farm. One was a regular plough woman.

In another case a representative of a firm of the Barrough farmers and merchants stated that they were now employing 30 women on their farms to replace men who had already enlisted.

Beautyifying is largely a matter of persistent and constant attention to the little details of the toilet. Spasmodic applications of lotions and creams have little value, but continued for days and months they produce excellent results.

"What's in a Name?"

An old colored woman, who had been a former servant of an American family, proudly brought her grandchildren for her old mistress to see.

"And what are their names, Mandy?" asked the latter.

"Dey's all got flower names, missie," replied the grandmother. "All name them missie. De biggest one's name Gladiol, and de nex' one we done call Heliotrope."

"Very pretty," was the ex-mistress' comment. "And what's the third one?"

"Flower name again, missie. She am Artificial!"

GIRLS! ACT NOW! HAIR COMING OUT MEANS DANDRUFF

25-cent "Danderine" will Save Your Hair and Double its Beauty.

Try this! Your Hair Gets Soft, Wavy Abundant and Glossy at Once.

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

News Of The St. John Theatres Told In The Right Way

Who's Who and What's What in the Picture Game and on the Stage—Film Favorites and What They Say and Do.

Imperial Theatre.

Between the evident enjoyment of the men of the 224th Battalion, the thrills of the "House of a Thousand Candles" and the excitement of "The Iron Claw," there was not a dull moment at the Imperial yesterday afternoon. The "House of a Thousand Candles" is an excellent example of what can be done with striking locations, brilliant photography and a breadth of atmosphere, all of which have a great appeal. The story is well known to those who have read the novel, but it does not spoil the picture, rather makes it more interesting. The plot is revealed in a gradual manner, there are many comedy touches and the double plot with Carmen and Don Jose are all most interesting. The parts are all well taken. Mystery is hinted at in the first pictures when the dark house gradually lights up and when "The Door of Bewilderment" opens and reveals—no I'm not going to tell.

"The Iron Claw."

And the parrot was saved. That was really the most important thing in the episode of yesterday. We were worried for fear Tito would be blown up in the explosion and were so glad when that wise bird was saved. Miss White looked more beautiful in this chapter than before. It is the sympathy felt for Margery whom Miss White makes so attractive that makes the dramatic occasions of the story more exciting than the incidents really are. In the face of her attractions and Clifton Hale's and the many novel means by which mystery, curiosity and sympathy have been worked up which are responsible for the great popularity of this serial. In the face of these attractions probable developments lead to mere nothingness.

Two hundred and eighty men of the 224th Battalion were guests of the Imperial Theatre yesterday afternoon and thoroughly enjoyed the pictures.

Another Buffalo Season for Jessie Bonstelle.

Jessie Bonstelle will go back to Buffalo, where she has been for a number of years, to operate a stock company some time in April. During her stay there she will try out some new plays and probably follow the usual custom of moving on to Detroit about the middle of the summer.

A Clever Show.

Last night to a packed house the Feldman and Christie Musical Company presented "The Love Shop," a musical comedy in two acts. It was full of bright songs and pretty dances. In the first act Miss Agnes Geary repeated her success in singing "I've Got My Eye on You," the singing of it from different parts of the house creating much merriment.

A chorus girls contest was held after the performance, at which the prizes were won as follows: The first by pretty little Miss Dorothy Portier, who sang a solo in French and danced a Highland Fling, receiving much applause.

The second by Misses Mercedes Cable and Letty Bradley, who danced a Spanish dance. The third by Miss Maher, who did a Russian dance and received a beautiful bouquet. Miss Muriel Clapp sang and Miss Ivy Tupper also gave a solo. The cast was as follows:

Milton Cohen, in search of a rich bride. Jack Sexton
Gilbert Leander, Delvystor, his college chum. Victor Bayard
Sam, the solitary male inhabitant. Nelson Adair
Ella Ga Lamm, Proprietress of Love Shop. Mercedes Cable
Vera Gaybird, a wealthy widow. Mayme Geary
Pig, "Queen of the Movies". Agnes Geary
Yitsky Cohen, in search of a young wife. Harry Feldman
Patrick O'Hoolihan, his best friend. Frank Christie

Guests and Clients of the Love shop—
Ivy Tupper, Billie Gordon, Muriel Clapp, Letty Bradley, Dorothy Portier, Billie Maurice, Nan Rorsey, Peggy Maher, Sylvia Huffman.

Jane Lee, the six year William Fox actress, caused much excitement in the studio recently by swallowing a safety pin.

Iva Shepard has to go barefooted in "The Isle of Love."

UNIQUE THEATRE WILL RE-OPEN NEXT WEEK.

It has been found necessary to postpone the re-opening of the Unique from Monday until next Thursday, April 14th, when the popular Charlotte street picture house will again serve its patrons, but with renewed interest and vigor because of changed and up-to-date policy, and a brand new dress so excellently provided during the past week by carpenters, painters and electricians. The ambition of the management is to provide literally the very best in pictures, and with the necessarily lengthened programmes and more expensive and elaborate productions, the price will of necessity be slightly increased. Even with short and comparatively inexpensive programmes a five-cent price has, with the rapidly changing conditions, been demonstrated highly unprofitable, but as a matter of fact the public has plainly indicated that they neither expect or appreciate the lower priced pictures shown.

Succeeding announcements will provide full programme particulars and other details.

PLANS TO BUILD NEW ISOLATION HOSPITAL NOW

County Council Appoints Committee to Arrange for New Structure.

By unanimous vote the Municipal Council at a special meeting yesterday afternoon voted in favor of the appointment of a committee to act in co-operation with the Board of Health to arrange for the erection of an isolation hospital to replace the one burned several weeks ago, the expenditure not to exceed $15,000. The plans of the committee and the Board of Health will have to be ratified by the council before becoming effective. The committee appointed by Warden McLellan is: The Warden, Mayor Frink, Commissioners Wilmers, Potts and Russell, representing the city, and Councilors Shillington, Shanklin, O'Brien and Thompson, representing the county.

Addressing the council in committee of the whole, Senator Daniel said that the Board of Health, a delegation of which was present, was obliged under the law to have ready at all times a place to take care of diseases of a malignant type, such as small-pox, diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, etc. The board had Architect Brodie prepare a rough sketch of the proposed new building, with estimates. The Senator said the board had not adopted any plan. Senator Daniel in explaining the duties of the caretaker said that he was the only man who could drive the ambulance carrying a patient with an infectious disease, that he had to fumigate the ambulance and also assist in caring for patients in the hospital, under the direction of the physician in charge. His wife, the matron of the hospital, received $100 a year.

The Senator said the insurance on the burned hospital amounted to $6,000. The erection of the main building, if of wood, would cost $12,000, and if of brick, $15,500, exclusive of the barn. A barn would cost from $1,000 to $2,000. The new hospital would accommodate twenty-two patients. In answer to Warden McLellan, Dr. Daniel said that the greatest number of patients the old hospital contained at one time was thirty-two. Warden McLellan was surprised to know that so great a number had been in the old building. He said $15,000 sounded large, but in view of the Senator's statement he thought the Board of Health would meet with no opposition in the council.

New Building Necessary.

John Kelley said the new plan was practically the same as the old. A new building, he said, was absolutely necessary and he suggested that the undertaking be left in the hands of a committee of eight or ten.

Warden McLellan pointed out that there were bonds of $7,000 outstanding against the property, due in six years.

Mayor Frink moved that a committee be appointed to act in conjunction with the board, the cost of the new building not to exceed $15,000, the insurance money to be applied to the cost of construction. The resolution provided that the finance committee be instructed to redeem any outstanding bonds, if necessary, and that application be made to the Legislature for authorization of any new bond issue.

The resolution was adopted after considerable discussion by Warden McLellan, Councilors Potts, Carson, Mayor Frink and others.

The report of the buildings committee on the formal investigation of the fire was received and filed.

The matter of repairs to the County Court House was left in the hands of Warden McLellan.

GOOD WORDS FOR FIREMEN AND POLICE

Mayor Frink Issues Further Installment of Annual Report—Commissioner Potts' Report.

In the third instalment of his annual report laid before the City Council yesterday Mayor Frink said that the police department, notwithstanding the extraordinary demands made upon it during the past year, had been able to cope successfully with the situation. Commissioners Potts and McLellan also submitted instalments of their annual reports. No other business was transacted. The Mayor in his report said:

The money which has been voted for the establishment of a police patrol system has not been expended and the matter will probably remain in abeyance until the close of the war.

Fire Department.

The fire department has fully sustained its well-earned reputation for efficiency during the year. I am
