Chatham. Chatham, Sept. 23.—A note was found tucked on one of the posts of the town wharf yesterday, which has caused considerable excitement. It was written in blue pencil on a letter head of the Riverview Hotel and says as follows: "Attention—Notice What, did not care to see him again, not much wondered at amongst some people. Signed, (1) Alone Mr. H. Brown."

It appears that a man registered as "H. Brown, city" at the Riverview Hotel on Saturday and left Sunday after paying his board. He would not tell where he was from, or where he was going, and it has been ascertained that he did not leave town on any of the boats. Several notes were found in the room he occupied at the hotel. One found tucked near the electric light written on birch bark had the words "Electricity is good in this place."

The general impression is that he was wrong in his mind. He wore a tan colored suit with several buttons on each sleeve, and a row of buttons each side of the coat near the pockets, and a soft hat with two bands, one a light red.

Regrets are expressed that R. H. Anderson, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia here, is to be transferred to Campbellton, where he will manage there. Dr. R. Laird, is to be removed to Toronto. Mr. Tappan is to have Mr. Anderson's position here.
