The Canadian nurses to France last -Col. Hodgetts, of Ottawa, has escaped the headquarters of the Can-Red Cross at 16 Cockspur street, Ruger square, in rooms placed at his disposal by the Lawrence Jones Co. will work in co-operation with the Red Cross, the chairman of which Arthur Stanley, who has received him cordially, and given him the priviof attending the officers' meetings.
The Canadian War Contingent. Also has received two hundred offers of private residences for convalescent cases, and are making selection of as they find it necessary to rethe pressure on Shortcliffe Hospital draining the non-serious cases elsewhere.

Among the recent subscriptions is from American friends, through and Mrs. F. C. Salter. The total now nearly $100,000, the amount or-inally fixed, but this estimate has been of too small.

The western theatre of war has left in for Posen. The weakening of the man cavalry force in Flanders beto be due in part to the fact that fighting on the western side is largely confined to artillery and infantry main reason is the urgent need of reinforcements to cope with the of the Russians in the east.
An informant who had special sources of information tells me that the German army in Flanders is the subject of a commander, said to be General Kluck, has personally been taken ask by the emperor, General Von Falkenberg, and is being sent to throughout as the executive of in-tal orders.

CE OF TURKEY'S
FRANCE IN WAR
is stated in Berlin that the German army has paid Turkey as the
of her intervention in the war of 200,000,000 marks ($47,600,000).

BANSHEE CALLED
BEFORE W. KELLY
MET HIS DEATH

The visit of the Banshee, related in Irish and Scotch legend, and other similar signs foretelling death, are all considered vague superstition in this age of modernity, but an incident which is told regarding the death of William Kelly yesterday morning, when he fell from the scaffold, seems to substantiate the old belief, certainly establishing an inclination to search into the depths of these fables, before adjudging them as mere fancy.

Kelly, who belonged to Gagetown, and was a deckhand on the steamship Elaine, was drowned about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. He was walking across a gang-plank to the steamship May Queen, when he slipped into the water.

ST. JOHN HUNTERS
FIND DEAD MAN
IN LONELY NOVEL

Hunters from St. John made most grotesque discovery yesterday morning in the woods at Gaspe, when the dead body of a man was found suspended by a handkerchief tied about his neck, in a novel near the Old Shannon road.

R. W. Frank, J. T. McCreary and Joseph Flowers, who left the city of St. John yesterday morning, were on a hunting trip on Monday morning. They discovered the body of a man, who was found in a novel near the Old Shannon road.
