FOR TERRACE HILL

Pumping Stations With Booster Pumps Will be Established Right Away.

The City Water Commissioners met this morning in Mayor Spence's office. A short session was held but very important business was transacted by the commissioners with regard to increasing the pressure in the mains on Terrace Hill. It was decided to erect a pumping station at the foot of Terrace Hill in which booster pumps will be installed to increase the pressure on the hill both for fire and domestic purposes. This sub-pumping station will be operated from the central pumping system and will effectively deal with the low pressure sometimes experienced by residents on the hill. Work will be started immediately on installation of the pumps.

Rousing Rally At Cainsville For Westbrook

A large number of the residents of Cainsville turned out at the Orange Hall to hear an address by Mr. J. W. Westbrook, M.P., and other Conservative speakers last night. It was a great rally and was a demonstration of the popularity of the Conservative party.

A. L. Baird was the first speaker, and he outlined the temperance movement since confederation to the present day, and showed that the conservative party had fulfilled all promises to the people. In his opinion it would be dangerous to trust this great question of temperance to a party which had broken promises in the past, and were coming before the people once again with the temperance issue, which was simply a party game by which they hoped to get into power.

Mr. Westbrook upheld the policy of the Whitney Government and dealt with the question before the people. The attitude of Mr. Rowell on the temperance question in the past and the party game he was trying to make out of this campaign were strongly criticized by the speaker. He also treated the Workmen's Compensation Act and the Hydro-Electric policy and spoke of the past regime of the Conservatives, and he received the hearty applause of the meeting, which was a splendid success and did much to help forward the Tory cause in Cainsville.

City News Items

Mr. B. J. Wade is on the sick list; friends will be sorry to hear.

Softball. The Clerks softball team will play the Ham & Nott team to-night at Recreation Park. Woolams and Ritchie will form the Clerks' battery, and Simmons and Sears for the H. & N. team.

Objects to Assessment. J. P. Vermer, manager of the Grand Valley Railway Company, has written Ald. Hollinrake, chairman of the finance committee of the City Council, objecting to his being assessed for $1,200 income, and states that as he is now a householder he should be only taxed on $300.

Fell Into the Lake. An amusing little incident occurred down at the boathouse in Mohawk lake last night. Many of the campers were canoeing, and two girls were debating the boathouse landing for their turn on the lake. A canoe was got for them, and Tom Haysgarth, the boathouse keeper, was holding it by the prow while the girls got into it, and suddenly through one of the fair ones entering the boat heavily, the prow went down and took with it Tom, who went head first into the water. He fished out none the worse for his ducking. He will give up holding canoes of girls in the future.

Baptists Lost Game. The First Baptist baseball team were defeated after a great game by the Massey-Harris office staff last night at the Recreation Park, the score being 3 to 1. It was a lively encounter, full of dash and fun, which was started when the ball crashed into Fred Battersby's new straw and demolished it. M. H. Dodwell pitched great ball for the M.-H. team, and he tied the Baptists down to four hits. Elmer Pearce, for the churchmen, gave a great exhibition of twirling, but the Machinists were in good hitting form, and Hendershot got a three-bagger. Dodwell fanned seven men and O'Connor four. Quite a feature of the game was the brilliant center field work of S. Vansickle. The batter was O'Connor and Pearce for the M.-H. office staff.

Boy's Shooting Accident. A gun accident which occurred at a gun on Monday night had a fatal termination. The victim, a six-year-old boy, son of a Goole laborer, was asleep in a houseboat, and above him was a loaded gun. The father thought it would be safer to unload the gun, but on reaching for it the trigger became caught in something and the weapon was discharged, the shot entering the boy's back. He was treated at the Goole St. Bartholomew's Hospital, but succumbed on Tuesday.

STEERING GEAR WAS WRONG

press and wanted to see me. I asked him if he was a witness, and he said he was not. I questioned him a little and then told him to come up to the hotel. I sent for my partner in the case and we heard the story. He said that on the night previous to the accident he had been at the wheel, and that the ship had refused to answer her wheel, and that she had almost run down another ship. He said that the C. P. R. wanted to send him home to England on the C. P. R. ship Montreal. He showed a letter to the captain of the ship signed by Captain Walsh, marine superintendent of the company, asking that he be signed on and taken home, as he was a survivor of the Empress crew. Mr. Haight said that the statements were so grave that he summoned Mr. Newcombe and Mr. Alex. Johnson, and they heard the story. Then the man was subpoenaed to give his evidence.

Lord Mersey—Where is this man? "His name is Galloway and he is at the Neptune Inn."

"I advise that you get him out of that place at once."

Lord Mersey thought Mr. Haight ought to be very careful in making such a charge against the C. P. R. officials. Mr. Haight regretted that he had to say that it looked as if the C. P. R. was trying to get Galloway out of the country.

The man will be heard this afternoon, and Mr. Haight said that he had served notice on the pilot of the Alden and two of that ship's officers to be on hand at the afternoon session of the court.

Mr. William Simpson said he was the chief engineer of the Empress of Ireland, and that he had held that position on the ship for eight years, and had been a chief engineer for thirty-four years. He had gone to his cabin after leaving Father Point and was recalled to the engine room when he felt her go full speed astern. He reached there to see the watertight door dropped. The vessel was already listing badly. He ordered all watertight doors shut and called up the tube to the Captain: "For Heaven's sake, try to beach the ship."

The men remained at their posts until he ordered them out of the engine room.

"Had you any difficulty in getting up the ladder?"

"I could not have got up without their assistance. They stuck by me."

He denied emphatically the suggestion of Mr. Haight that the ship had steered badly, and that complaints had been made by quartermasters that it took all the strength they had to put the wheel over.

Lord Mersey—What does all this mean?

Mr. Haight—I have heard that a quartermaster threatened to bring suit against the C.P.R. because he was strained at the wheel.

Mr. Sampson—He must have been a weak man.

Then the sensation broke with a rush.

Mr. Haight—"Did you hear that before arriving here on the last trip up the river that there was a shoe on your vessel and you nearly ran down a vessel?"

"No, sir."

This led Lord Mersey to ask what he was insinuating. He replied that within the last few hours he had had a remarkable interview with a quartermaster who was steering the Empress on the night previous to the collision and that the ship had steered badly and that her gear was out of order.

Lord Mersey—"Well, get that man here as fast as you can. The sooner he is here and this matter settled the better."

George Gibson, acting for the British Sailors and Firemen's union said he had no knowledge of the man Galloway or his story.

Captain Kendall was then recalled by Lord Mersey and Mr. Haight was asked to examine him about the Galloway story. Captain Kendall answering Mr. Haight's questions said he was on the bridge all the time from Father Point to Quebec on the westbound trips except for five minutes when he went to the cabin to get a cup of coffee. He saw many schooners and did not notice a two-masted schooner particularly in the traverse. He did not miss it by a bare ten feet. It must be remembered that the traverse was very narrow and ships must naturally pass very close to one another. The Empress' keel was not put hard to port to avoid striking something and he had never known her to steer badly. She had never steered so that she almost rounded one moment, at a moment to shut out port light and another moment sheered round and shut out starboard light. He did not recall using a steamer called the Alden. The weather was clear. He had never received a report about the steering gear. The men on the bridge besides Galloway were both drowned.

Lord Mersey said that at the present time he attached no importance to the Galloway story, but he wanted to get to the bottom of it and called Captain Walsh, marine superintendent of the C. P. R. Cross-examined by Mr. Haight, Captain Walsh said that it had been arranged to send Galloway back to England on either the Corsican or the Alsatian with all the other men sent back who were not required as witnesses. Galloway did not go, but came to him and explained that he had not got his laundry and had stopped over. He had then authorized his chief clerk to give Galloway a letter to Capt. Murray of the C. P. R. Steamer Montreal, asking him to give him a position as supernumerary quartermaster on his eastbound trip. Galloway then complained about the steering gear of the Empress and said it had jammed for five minutes after leaving Father Point westbound. The captain had pointed out that that would be sufficient to send the ship ashore. He told the man, however, if he had evidence to give to go to the C. P. R. lawyers and in the meantime he would be kept by the Company.

Captain Walsh said that Galloway, after the collision occurred, so he had heard, rushed to his room to get his life belt and not to the boats, as it was his duty to do. He was the one man who had failed.

Mr. Haight said he was informed that Galloway went to his room to awaken his companions.

Mr. Haight then said he wanted to get a man named Fournier who had shipped as a trimmer at Quebec, under the name of Harry White. They had been trying hard to get him and had heard that he had left the Blanchard Hotel, Quebec, with a C. P. R. official. Fournier was on the deck when the boats collided and had said that the Empress was travelling fast.

Lord Mersey—How long have you known this man?

Mr. Haight—"About a week."

Lord Mersey—"Why didn't you think the Captain about this? Do you think it was your duty to hold this information up your sleeve?"

Mr. Haight—I conceived it my duty to ask the captain only about the speed of his vessel and not about a man who was not on the bridge, but aft.

Lord Mersey was obviously aggravated and concluded by saying that of course he had no right to ask Mr. Haight questions about the matters, but it appeared that their two ideas of their duty to the court differed.

The adjournment for lunch was taken at this point.

League May Disband. It is rumored to-day in local sporting circles that the Wobbly Baseball League is on the verge of a break-up. Their gate receipts have amounted to practically nothing, and at yesterday's game at Berlin there was only a spoonful of fans present. Duff Slemin played a star game for Berlin yesterday, securing two hits out of three times at the bat.
