

Welcome to Our Home-Comers

WHAT could be more delightful than the welcoming of our Old Boys and "Girls" back to Kingston. With'in the past half century many of her fair sons and daughters have wandered from home. Mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers welcome them back with open arms. Many change: will be found in the old Limestone City, and many a tomb-stone will mark the departure of loved ones. But the glad hand of welcome will be found extended just as warmly and sincerely as in the times of old. To many this visit to the city of their nativity and adoption will awaken delightful recollections of past association and events. The happy times of boyhood, when care and sorrow were unknown; when you played baseball on the commons with your boy companions; haunted her wooded groves and shores; fished in her surrounding waters and went swimming in her bays. Ah! those were happy and joyous days and it is the wish of her citizens now in welcoming you here, that by the hearty welcome extended you, and the renewal of friendship bonds you will go away with even stronger love for Kingston than you ever had before. Kingston welcomes her Old Boys and hopes they will have a pleasant stay and wishes them God speed upon their departure.
