QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

CORNS ON HORSES' FEET.

What is the best cure for corns on horses' feet? L. P. H.

Ans.—Remove the shoe, pare well out, and apply poultices for two or three days. When lameness ceases, shoe so as to relieve pressure upon the affected quarter.

PLANK-FRAME BARN.

I am thinking of putting up a new barn, 40 x 88, and would like to find out probable cost of same, built of plank frame, and how constructed. C. J. H.

Ans.—Order through this office a copy of the book on Plank-frame Barn Construction; price, 55c., postpaid; then consult your builder.

FOREST TREES FOR PLANTING.

Could you tell me what kind of forest trees and tree seeds the O. A. C. is sending out free next year, and who to apply to for them? T. J. L.

Ans.—The College is sending out planting material of white pine, Scotch pine, Norway spruce, black locust, catalpa, box elder and elm. Application should be made to E. J. Zavitz, O. A. C., Guelph.

E. J. ZAVITZ.

TO TELL AGE OF HENS.

I have a flock of White Leghorn hens. Some are two years old, and others are yearlings. How can I tell the two-year-olds, as I want to dispose of them this fall? A. A. S.

Ans.—There is no way of telling a yearling hen from a two-year-old. Each breeder should have the birds with leg bands on them, and then he could tell them. WM. McNEIL.

PLANTING PEACH PITS.

Kindly inform me as to the correct time and way to plant peach stones. C. McK.

Ans.—In growing peaches from the seed, the pits should be gathered in the fall, and may be either planted at once in nursery rows, or a better plan is to mix them with sand, which will hold the moisture about them, and leave them exposed to the frost during the winter. In the spring, the pits should be taken up, and those which have not been cracked by the frost may be broken carefully with a hammer. The kernels should be sorted out and planted in nursery rows, about a couple of inches deep, and five or six inches apart in the row; that is, if they are intended for stocks upon which to bud named varieties. If it is your intention to grow these seedlings for fruiting without budding, they should be planted ten or twelve feet apart, so as to leave room for development.

TRANSPLANTING LARGE EVERGREENS.

I wish to move some spruce trees a few feet; they are healthy, in good deep soil, well drained, and from four to ten feet high. Should I move them in fall or spring, and is any unusual care necessary? F. B.

Ans.—There is always more or less danger of losing the trees in transplanting when of the large size you mention. If the trees have already been transplanted two or three times, they will have such a compact root system that they can be taken up and moved without much difficulty, but if they have been in their present position several years without transplanting, the root system will probably have spread over a considerable area, and it will be difficult to move the trees without losing the greater part of the roots. A good plan in moving large evergreens of this kind is to dig a circular trench in the fall around the tree, cutting off the roots touched, and leaving as large a ball of earth in the center as can be conveniently moved. The trench may be filled up with straw or other material to keep the earth from drying out. The holes to which the trees are to be moved should also be dug in the fall. Then in the spring, before the frost has come out of the ground, the trees may be taken up and moved with a solid ball of earth around them. In this way the greater part of the roots may be saved, and if the work is carefully done, the trees may be established in their new quarters without very much check to the growth.

CURES

Dyspepsia, Bolls, Pimples, Headaches, Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scrofula, and all troubles arising from the Stomach, Liver, Bowels or Blood.

Mrs. A. Lethbridge, of Ballyduff, Ont., writes: "I believe I would have been in my grave long ago had it not been for Burdock Blood Bitters. I was run down to such an extent that I could scarcely move about the house. I was subject to severe headaches, backaches and dizziness; my appetite was gone and I was unable to do my housework. After using two bottles of B. B. B. I found my health fully restored. I warmly recommend it to all tired and worn out women."
