Canadian Order of Foresters

Among the many fraternal and sick benefit societies in the Dominion of Canada, the Canadian Order of Foresters stands at the head as regards finances, having the largest surplus per $1000 of risk of any society doing business in this country. The membership now numbers 40,000 and the surplus in the insurance fund at the end of January last was $1,001,000, and it is increasing at an average of about $12,000 per month. The business of the society is confined to the Dominion of Canada, hence the death rate is very low, being only 4.56 per 1000 of membership in the year 1898, 4.43 in 1899, and the average death rate since the organization of the society in 1879 has been only 4.92. The Society is adding largely to its membership, new Courts being established in all parts of the Dominion and the old Courts strengthened. Insurance policies are issued for $500, $1000, $1500 or $2000, the latter amount being the largest sum written on any life. The insurance premiums are very low, being as follows, payable monthly in advance.

Table with 4 columns: Between the ages of, On $500, On $1000, On $1500, On $2000. Rows include age groups like 18 to 25, 25 to 30, etc.

The sick benefit department, though an optional feature, is a very popular among the membership, upwards of 22,000 being enrolled in that department. The benefits are very liberal, namely, $3 per week for the first two weeks of illness, and $5 per week for the following ten weeks, altogether $56 during any year, besides a funeral benefit of $30, considering the low rates charged, which are as follows, payable monthly in advance.

Table with 4 columns: Between 18 and 25 years, 25 and 30, 30 and 35, 35 and 40, 45 and 50. Rows show rates for different age groups.

All physically and morally qualified males, between the ages of 18 and 45 years, who are not debarred on account of occupation, are accepted for membership.

Old and Faded Garments Made to Look as Good as New By Use of DIAMOND DYES

Mrs. William Sargent, Petrolia, Ont. says: Your Diamond Dyes are the best I have ever used, and they have done splendid work for me. In a short time Diamond Dyes saved me ten dollars, so that I think they deserve a good word. My friends, to whom I have shown my dyed goods, say that Diamond Dyes make old things look like new. The richest woman in our town, after seeing my work, has become a user of your Dyes. I thank you for such valuable money-savers as Diamond Dyes.

Hon. Attorney-General Longley intends leaving by the steamer Lake Champlain on Saturday for England and rumor, doubtless well founded, says that on arrival in London he will be one of the principal speakers at a very pleasant event. Rumor further has it that the other principal will be a charming Halifax lady, who for some weeks has been visiting in the old country—Miss Lois Fletcher. The wedding will take place immediately on Mr. Longley's arrival on the other side, and the happy man expects to be back in Halifax with his bride early in May. A host of friends in this city will welcome them home again. While Mr. Longley has many friends he has not more than his accomplished bride elect, whose very fine qualities endear her to all who know her.—Herald.

THE OLD CHURCH BELLS

Ring on, merrily, Loudly, cheerily, Blithe old bells, from the steeple tower; Hopefully, fearfully, Joyfully, fearfully, Move the bride from the maiden tower. Cloud there is not in the fair summer sky, Sunshine flings benison down from on high; Children sing loud, as the train moves along. "Happy the bride the sun shines on," Knell our dreamily, Measured and wearily, Sad old bells, from the steeple grey; Priests chanting lowly, Solemnly, slowly, Passeth the corpse from the portal today; Drops from the leaden clouds heavily fall, Dripping over the plume and the pall; Murmur old folks, as the train moves along, "Happy the dead that the rain raineth on."

Toll at the hour of prime, Matins and vesper chime, Loving old bells, from the steeple high; Rolling like holy waves, Over the lowly graves, Floating up, prayer fraught, into the sky; Solemn the lesson your lightest notes teach; Stern in the preaching your iron tongues preach, Ringing in life from the bud to the bloom, Ringing the dead to their rest in the tomb.

Peal out evermore, Peal as ye pealed of yore, Brave old bells, on each Sabbath day; In sunshine and gladness, Through clouds and through sadness, Bridal and burial have passed away; Tell us life's pleasures with death are still rife; Tell us that death ever lead us to life, Life is our labor death is our rest; If happy the living, the dead are the blest.—Ex.

It was a beautiful evening in June. The waters of the drainage canal purged and rippled against the prow of their gondola, virtually as any other waters might. The occasion invited confidences.

Did you marry your first love? asked the guest. Yes, replied Helen, naively, while her color deepened perceptibly; my first, third, fifth, and seventh, thus far! Of course, I'm not in the least superstitious, but there certainly is luck in odd numbers!—Detroit Journal.

Freshleigh—Pray, how did you become ossified? Ossified Man—In my youth I was nice and soft like you. When I grew up and realized what a cruel world this is, I became hardened.

The Waterville correspondent of the Register says: Present appearances tend to show that the Mayflower goldmine in South Waterville, will be productive of good returns. Mr. Rafuse the owner, has disposed of the greater portion of the shares, to a New York Company represented by Joseph E. Parks, for a very good sum. Last week we were shown some fine specimens of gold bearing quartz taken from the junction of the two leads. One especially good specimen, a detached nugget, weighed about a half penny weight. Its intention of the company to open the leads and put up a prospecting mill early the coming season. There is a strong feeling among those who pretend to know that the discovery will realize the most sanguine hopes of the proprietors.

Brooklyn Friend—Hello, I see you framed that cheque you got for your last pictures. Artist, wearily.—Yes, I wanted to have something in my studio that the critics couldn't say wasn't worth as much as its frame.

Why Scott's

EMULSION of Cod Liver Oil?

There are others; why SCOTT'S? The good one is SCOTT'S. It's nearly 30 years old; it is used by intelligent people all over the world; and approved by physicians all over the world.

When anyone says "Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," he means SCOTT'S. No other is famous. SCOTT'S EMULSION is made in a certain way; of certain things; it keeps; it is always alike; it does what it does.

The others—nobody knows what they are or do. There wouldn't be any others but for the goodness of SCOTT'S—there wouldn't be any counterfeits but for the true.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto. 50c. and $1.00; all druggists.
