Although considerably astonished that Emperor William should choose the present moment for the first visit to French territory made by a German Em-peror since the King of Fruesia was pro-claimed Emperor at Versailles in 1871, the Government at once despatched in-structions to the customs officials to allow the imperial automobile to pass the frontier without examination, and for the proper granding of the route by the proper guarding of the route by darmes to prevent any unfortunate gendarme incident. ording to the official advices the
