The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted.

Moved by Bowyer and Lewis, that, having considered the appeals and examined the appellants in evidence on Mills drain repair, the appeals be dismissed and the Court of Revision be closed.—Carried.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment at the Clerk's office; the

WORN OUT

A woman worn-out, who never has to lift a hand for herself, who does not know the meaning of the word "worry"? How can it be possible? That it is possible is proved by the experience of many a woman who, because of sleeplessness, nervousness, backache and other womanly ills, becomes an utter physical wreck.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives new life and new strength to weak, worn-out, run-down women. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I suffered for five years with inflammation which caused violent pain and often torture so bad at times that I could not be about to attend to my daily duties," writes Mrs. Julius C. Bell, of Bathurst, Kingston, Ont. "I was simply misery to me and I did not know which way to turn for relief. Had tried doctors but found they did not help me. My druggist advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—eulogizing it in glowing terms. I decided to give it a trial and brought a bottle home. I am happy to say that after the use of the first bottle I felt so much improved I decided to take another and after that a third bottle. I have good reasons to be pleased, for I am to-day a well woman, work is easy and the world looks bright. I have perfect health, thanks to your medicine."

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

members all being present. Minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

A. McDowell's report on the improvement of the Boyle drain was read.

Mr. Lewis reported on James Allan's road grievance.

Moved by Boyer and Bourdeau, that Joseph G. Thomas be paid $50 for running the free ferry for the first term of 1905.—Carried.

Moved by Lewis and Boyer, that the grievance of Joseph G. Thomas be referred to Mr. Bourdeau with power.—Carried.

Moved by Lewis and Boyer, that the Reeve and Mr. Emery be appointed to have the dredge fill in the washouts on the 7th Con. Road from the lake to the road on the road on the Dover East and West town line.—Carried.

Moved by Emery and Bourdeau, that the Reeve and Messrs. Lewis and Boyer be appointed a committee to look after the interest of the township in the matter of the Electric Railway Co. providing sufficient outlet for the waters of the drains and ditches over which the said road way crosses, and any other matter arising between the township and said Railway Co.—Carried.

Moved by Boyer and Lewis, that A. McDowell's report on the repair and improvement of the Boyle drain be adopted and the Clerk prepare a by-law.—Carried.

Moved by Boyer and Lewis, that Mr. McDowell's account, $53, be paid, for report, etc., on the improvement of the Boyle drain by dredge.—Carried.

Council adjourned.

Clerk.

HEAVY HEADACHE

FOR FOUR YEARS

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cured It—They Are Known By Their Works All Over Canada.

"By their works ye shall know them," and if you know Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets by their works you must admit they are the greatest comfort producers of the present age. Here is some of their work.

Mrs. A. Waddell of 34 Simcoe street, Hamilton, says:

"I was troubled with heavy headache for four years caused by Dyspepsia. I doted with the best doctors, but they failed to help me. I got one box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and after taking part of them I found I was cured. I can now eat in the morning; before I could not eat a bite."

Thousands of other Canadians relate similar experiences. In fact everybody who has used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tells the same story—Indigestion and Dyspepsia cannot live in the same body with them.

His Point of View.

"What is your idea of a truly good wife?" asked the youth.

"A truly good wife," answered the Cumminsville sage, "is one who loves her husband and her country, but doesn't attempt to run either."

When a man sees an opportunity, that's the time he ought to seize it.

EARLY DIAMOND BUYING.

South Africa's First Finds Were Paid For in Cows.

South Africa's first diamonds were paid for in cows. The story is told by Joseph B. Robinson, one of the wealthy pioneers of that country. In 1879 he gave eight oxen and a wagon loaded with sugar and tobacco to a native in exchange for a twenty-three carat gem.

"The news spread like wildfire through the countryside that a white man was giving away wagons and oxen for bits of stone," he says. "I set all the natives who came to work to seek for diamonds on one side of the Vaal river, and I brought up my own fifty men to hunt for diamonds among the bushes and scrub on the other side of the stream. I had bought the land on both sides of the river, so that I was working on my own property."

Next morning at sunrise, when I was having my coffee, I was startled by a loud hullabalooing, and, looking out, I saw the whole gang of my men rushing toward me in a state of wild excitement.

"One of them had found a diamond of good size. They all had come to see what I would do with it. 'What will you give me for it?' said the finder. 'I will give you ten cows,' I replied and sent the man into the herd to take his pick. He marked ten of the best cows as his own. The men had never dreamed of making such a bargain. Ten cows for a bit of stone! Off they went again and found diamonds every day. They became rich, and I accumulated a good store of precious stones."

"After we had accumulated a large quantity we decided we would better send them to London. We made a belt full of small pockets, in each of which we placed a diamond. When the belt was filled my partner girded it about his body and started for Cape Town. He never took off the belt until he reached London. And it was in this way the first consignment of African diamonds reached London."

APACHE SHREWDNESS.

The Indian's Bait Was Good, but the White Man Didn't Bite.

With the Apaches a really brave man does not stand as high in public estimation as does a clever thief. His chief excellence, from an Apache standpoint, lies in his ability to outwit the white man, says Mr. Cremony, the author of "Life Among the Apaches."

I was sitting, says Mr. Cremony, in front of my tent, writing a letter, when a young Apache came up and asked what I was doing. I replied I was talking to my friend in Washington.

"How can you talk to your friend so far away?"

"When an Apache wishes to talk of speed to a distant friend," I answered, "he sends him a picture of a bird; if he talks of something sweet he sends a picture of a flower. Instead of pictures the white man has these little signs which all understand."

The Indian took up the letter and scrutinized it carefully.

"I do not believe you," he said. "You try to make a fool of me. These little signs are all alike."

"I will give you proof. I will write on this little piece of paper that the sutler is to give you some tobacco. Go take it to the store and see if I do not speak the truth."

The Indian snatched the paper and was off. A few minutes later I saw him slowly coming toward me, a piece of tobacco in his hand and a look of bewilderment on his face. Suddenly his expression changed to satisfaction, and he hurried forward.

"Did you get the tobacco?" I asked.

"Yes, but I do not believe you. You and he had an understanding before so that you might deceive me. Now if you will write some more of those little signs on paper telling the sutler to give me much more tobacco and if he does then I will believe you."

But the Indian's ruse failed. I did not "rise" to the occasion.

Walnuts and Butternuts.

The city boy on a visit to the country is often puzzled in trying to distinguish black walnuts and butternuts in the green state. The leaves are almost alike, being compound and having a variable number of leaflets arranged on a long stem. The butternut stem has from nine to seventeen leaflets, and the black walnut from fifteen to twenty-three. The teeth on the latter are larger and sharper than those on the butternut and lack the fuzzy stem, but the real distinguishing feature is the odor. Having once smelled the crushed leaves of a butternut and a black walnut, a person can never fail to know them thereafter.—St. Nicholas.

His Own Self.

There is a time in every man's education when he arrives at the conviction that envy is ignorance; that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better, for worse, as his portion; that, though the wide universe is full of good, no kernel of nourishing corn can come to him but through his toil bestowed on that plot of ground which is given to him to till.—Emerson.

Absolutely Necessary.

Nan—I don't see why Miss Mugley should want to marry him with all her money. Dick—I guess she had to. I don't believe he'd have taken her without it.

The Best Way.

Barber—Shall I take a little of the ends of your hair off, sir? Customer—Yes, I think you had better take it off at the ends unless you can get it out of the middle.

The very curse of an evil deed is that it must always continue to engender evil.—Schiller.
