

HYMENEAL

MESSINGER—CHATTERTON

The following clipping from the Vancouver "Daily Province", of July 15th, will be read with interest by the Wolfville friends of Mr. Messenger:

The Holy Trinity Church, arranged with ferns and roses, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Thursday afternoon when Miss Ada Chatterton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. O. Chatterton 1316 Sixth avenue west, became the bride of Mr. Clarence R. Messenger, son of Mrs. Lewis Messenger. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles B. Clarke. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march, and looked charming in a gown of satin charmant, with side panels and sleeves of silver lace. Her veil of Brussels net was in cap effect and was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms of Ophelia roses and white carnations.

Miss Vera Casey of Victoria attended as bridesmaid, and was lovely in a dainty overskirt of cream Brussels net and silver girdle. She also wore a French hat of mauve and pink maline, with trimmings of orchid and green organdie flowers. Her bouquet was composed of pale pink and mauve sweet peas. Mr. R. Stultz supported the groom.

During the signing of the register the church choir gave several delightful renderings.

Mrs. H. V. O. Chatterton's dress was of navy blue canton crepe and georgette with black and henna embroidery, with which she wore a black picture hat adorned with a henna ornament.

Mrs. Messenger was attired in black satin charmant with heavy beaded work done in black. Her hat of black mohair was trimmed with ostrich tips.

A reception was held later at the home of the bride for the relatives and intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Messenger left for a motor trip to the Island, the bride travelling in a smart suit of navy blue point twill with coat heavily embroidered in black silk, and chic navy feather hat with white ostrich tips. On their return they will take up their residence at Forty-ninth and Balaclava streets.

KINSMAN—VERGE

Mr. Fred Kinsman, of Lakeville, Kings Co., and Miss Ethel Verge were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Verge, Bars' Corner, Lunenburg Co., on Wednesday, July 20, at 5:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. H. MacQuarrie, pastor of the Baptist church. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her small cousin, Miss Mary Hall, of Halifax, as flower girl. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss A. Locke, of Lockeport. About forty guests witnessed the interesting ceremony and enjoyed a beautiful wedding supper. The bride wore a travelling suit of reindeer tricotine with hat to correspond. About eight o'clock the happy couple left by automobile for an extended trip through Nova Scotia and Cape Breton. Many beautiful and useful gifts attested to the popularity of both parties who have the good wishes of a large number of relatives and friends.

HICKS—WOODWORTH

An interesting event took place at "Wood Lawn", the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Spurr Woodworth, Canning, on Wednesday, July 20, 1921, when their youngest daughter, Grace Adelaide, was united in marriage to Herbert Hicks, of Clementsport. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of pink and white roses, Rev. William Ainley officiating, the wedding march being played by Miss Lillian Hicks, of Clementsport, with mandolin accompaniment by Miss Caroline Dodge, of Woburn, Mass.

The bride wore a travelling suit of blue and carried a bride's bouquet of pink and white sweet peas. Following the ceremony, at which only the immediate families of the bride and groom were present, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodworth, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hicks left for a wedding trip, and on their return will reside in Clementsport.

HATTIE M. SALTER

Newport, July 21st.—The funeral of Hattie M., daughter of R. J. U. Salter, Newport, was held from St. James church, Brooklyn, Wednesday at 3 p.m. The service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. Mr. Webster, who spoke with feeling and sympathy for the bereaved from the text: St. Mark, Chapter 14 verse 8. "She hath done what she could." Two favorite hymns of the deceased were sung, "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me."

The large congregation present testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held, but owing to the inclemency of the weather those at a distance were unable to be present. The illness which terminated in her death was borne with patience and resignation to the divine will. In religion she was an Episcopalian; a faithful and devoted worker for its cause and a generous helper to those in need.

As a teacher she was always interested in both day and Sunday School, beloved

From Correspondents

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN.
Dear Sir:—Having served for four years on the School Committee of Amherst I have been particularly interested in the correspondence relating to your schools which has been published in the columns of THE ACADIAN for some time past. Of course I am not familiar with your local problems, but I do not believe that they are very different from those in other localities and I am certain that the average citizen does not realize how much real work there is for the School Committee to do, nor how seriously the members of that committee attempt to do what is for the best interests of the community.

During the "darkest days" of my term of office, when the influenza had forced us to close the schools (which did not meet with universal approval), when the coal shortage due to the war was on, and when various other special difficulties had called forth an unusual number of criticisms from citizens of the town, I sat down one evening and relieved my feelings by writing the attached verses. If you care to print them I think they would interest your School Committee and perhaps some others.

Now I don't mean to suggest that the work of our school committees is above criticism; but I wonder how many of those who so vehemently deliver their criticisms, also think to commend the Committee when something is done which meets with their approval!

Blame the Schools

- Is your child's digestion bad? Blame the Schools!
- Is he sick, morose or sad? Blame the Schools!
- Do your children learn to fight? Do they lie awake at night? Do they fail to do what's right? Blame the Schools!
- Do your boys smoke cigarettes? Blame the Schools!
- Are your girls all suffragettes? Blame the Schools!
- Do your children's shoes wear out? That's the School Board's fault, no doubt! Are your children getting stout? Blame the Schools!
- Are your children getting thin? Blame the Schools!
- Do they choose the path of sin? Blame the Schools!
- Do your children work too hard? Are they playing round your yard? Do they play the wicked card? Blame the Schools!
- Is the noon recess too short? Blame the Schools!
- Do they need more time for sport? Blame the Schools!
- Is the noon recess too long? Oh that plan is surely wrong! They should spend the time in song! Blame the Schools!
- Is your child a nervous wreck? Blame the Schools!
- Are there pimples on her neck? Blame the Schools!
- Blame the schools for what they do And for what they don't do too. They should seek advice from you! Blame the Schools!
- Do your children's teeth decay? Blame the Schools!
- For the tax you have to pay, Blame the Schools!
- For the teachers they have hired And the ones that they have fired Tell the Board they make you tired! Blame the Schools!
- Is your daughter's eye-sight bad? Blame the Schools!
- Is your son a little cad? Blame the Schools!
- Do your children learn to swear? Is there something in their hair? Is there trouble anywhere? Blame the Schools!
- If your daughters are too bold, Blame the Schools!
- If the winters are too cold, Blame the Schools!
- If you feel like being witty Here's a title for your ditty—"D-n that stupid School Committee And the Schools!" F. C. SEARS. Amherst, Mass., July 11th, 1921.

CUT PRICE OF APPLE AND POTATO BARRELS

The prospects for a very large apple crop this fall has kept coopers busy throughout the Valley filling advance orders for barrels. On account of the high price paid for stock and the expectations of a shortage in supply, the price of the barrel was placed early at 70c. cash and 75c. fall payment, and fruit growers were induced to order quantities at that price.

It will be of interest to the producer of fruit, and the consumer also, to learn that there has been a considerable drop in the price of barrels of late. There seems to be plenty of stock available for all requirements and the manufacturers of stock, in order to dispose of their holdings, are now selling at much lower prices. At the present time barrels are coming freely to Kentville from southern Kings and are selling at 60c. each, and in some cases as low as 55c. With the uncertainty of prices for stock, there are many who believe that the price will reach a lower level.

With a much lower ocean freight rate, a lower railway tariff and cheaper barrels, the grower of fruit can place his produce on the market at a lower figure. Thus the reductions, as noted herewith, will be of value to both grower and consumer. These lower prices over former years will bring our fruit more within the reach of the economical consumer and will consequently create a much greater demand for the product of our Valley. Many who relish apples have not been able of late to afford that article of food, but with more reasonable prices in the foreign and home market will again choose fruit for ordinary use.

ADVERTISE

Robinson Crusoe Did.

Here is a piece of advertising propaganda that has been going the rounds that strikes us as being about as conclusive and unanswerable as anything that has ever been written on the subject. We don't know who the author is, but he has the right idea:

"One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe. He knew what he wanted a ship—and he put up an add. for one. He flung a shirt on a pole at the top of his island; that, in the language of the sea, was plain to every sea-faring man."

"The circulation was small—there was no other medium—but Crusoe kept at it, and despite the fact that he got no enquiries for a long time. He changed his copy—as one garment after another frayed out—and in the end got what he wanted."

"Suppose Crusoe had taken down that signal after a time and declared 'Advertising doesn't pay.' Where would he and his story be now?"

"Put up your signal and keep it there. Crusoe advertised under very discouraging circumstances. You've got a sure thing—it is only necessary to have the patience, persistence and pluck of Robinson Crusoe—and the good ship 'Better Business' will soon tie up 'lionside your pier.'"

Teacher—What do we learn from the busy bee?
Small Boy—Not to get stung.

It isn't difficult to like a man after you discover that he thinks you a world-beater.

"Getting busy" often takes a hard fall out of a fit of blues.

A TRIBUTE TO CANADA

Canada to-day is unique among the great nations, in that she has no serious labour troubles, and in that she appears to be effecting the difficult process of readjustment to after-the-war conditions as painlessly as may be. Montreal reports that in most cases where wage reductions have been necessary they have been made without friction, and that this holds true of the Pacific Coast and the Middle West, as well as of the more industrial Ontario.

The attitude of the Dominion and Provincial Governments toward business has been helpful, but, fundamentally, such successful readjustment must be due to the exercise of plain, common sense on the part of both labor and capital. It is not the first time that Canada has set an example worth studying.

One thinks of Canada as primarily an agricultural nation, and it is still true that her wheat and other grains outrun any other commodity. But the Dominion has turned more and more to manufacture, and its industries grow at a tremendous pace. Doubtless the growth may continue as further water power is put to use, and more resources in coal and minerals are opened up and her net-work of railroads extended.—New York Sun.

DONTS FOR SWIMMERS

As a result of the increase in drowning fatalities this year the Royal Bank of Canada has issued in the form of blotters advice to swimmers and bathers in general.

The advice given is "Learn to Swim." The following list of "Dont's for swimmers and non-swimmers" is also given:

- Don't bathe within two hours after a heavy meal.
- Don't go into the water deeper than your hips if you cannot swim.
- Don't dive into water of which you do not know the depth.
- Don't take a prolonged swim when fatigued.
- Don't bathe alone, if subject to faintness, or in unfrequented places.
- Don't dive from a boat in a high wind or strong current. You may not be able to overtake the boat.
- Don't get panic if you get cramps. Swim ashore with the unaffected limb. Cramp is more painful than dangerous. Swim down stream if in weeds. Among water lilies don't swim at all; turn on your back and paddle gently with your hands.
- If in difficulties don't clutch the person who approaches you. Keep cool and do what he tells you.

YOUR "ACADIAN"
We here use the word "your" advisedly, for is not your home-town paper "your" paper, your "ACADIAN"? While the company publishing THE ACADIAN is a private concern, the mission of the paper is essentially a broad public one. This is your paper, and reflects you as seen through the public eye. We aim to keep your paper in the van of paperdom in this great Annapolis Valley. We do give you more reading matter—and reading matter that is of real local interest—but as papers are only after all a reflection of the public support received, and THE ACADIAN being no exception in this respect, we must have the unstinted and loyal support of our business men in our advertising columns.
