"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." G. G. GENERAL NEWS.

—The embarkation of Russian emigrants from Hamburg for the United States has been forbidden.

—Twelve years ago one sailor in every 106 who went to sea lost his life; now only one in 256 is lost.

—It is said that policemen in citizens, clothes are recognized by their shoes by New York's sharpers.

—San Francisco has one saloon to every 93 persons, Albany comes next with one to every 110 persons, and New Orleans one to every 121 persons.

—After this year 51 bands of Indians in the Territories at present exempt will be required to observe the game laws. This action is necessary owing to the rapid depletion of game, the order applies to fully two-thirds of the treaty Indians.

—It has been computed that the average growth of the finger nail is about one thirty-second of an inch per year. The growth, however, depends to a great extent upon the rate of nutrition and during periods of sickness it is undoubtedly retarded.

—The tomb of Noah is supposed to lie in the small town of Nahtchevan, on the plain of Ararat. The burial place is at the side of the broken walls of an abandoned fortress in the midst of a vast plain, which is literally covered with the remains of bygone glories.

—One of the interesting exhibits at the Chicago fair on Sunday are the closed doors of the British, Canadian, Australian and Indian buildings. The Union Jack floats over much that is conservative and much that is good.

—Seven of the batch of public men selected by the Queen for birthday honors are or have been newspaper men, while none seem to be in the profession of arms. At the close of the nineteenth century the pen truly is mightier than the sword.

—Persian newspapers are not printed from type. When the reading matter is ready it is passed to a scribe, who makes a clean copy. From this a beautifully written fine copy is made by a handwriting expert, and this is finally exactly reproduced by lithography.

—Chief Justice Strong will be called Sir Henry, though he has for seventy years borne the honored name of Samuel. Sir Leonard Tilley also dropped Samuel in his name when the distinction of knighthood was conferred on him. There is evidently an impression that some Scriptural names do not jingle nicely with the chivalric sir.

—The criminal statistics of Canada for the past decade show that crime is decreasing and that the Law is well adjudicated, the escapes from charges being fewer than in most countries. Possibly the last and first facts have a direct bearing on each other. No one notices that the law's hand has become lax so quick as the law breaker.

—An Australian inventor has just perfected a method of ploughing with the help of dynamite. The explosive is used in very small quantities, and an apparatus is provided for touching it off underground. The result of this is to thoroughly disintegrate the soil. It is asserted that there is no possibility of a serious explosion and that owing to the small quantity of dynamite used the cost is very little, while the resulting benefit is enormous.

Summer Verselets.

Down towards a pretty lakelet, strolled
a girl with jetty hair, Upraised was her charming noselet to
inhale the summer air,
With her lovely dark brown eyelets gazing at the summer sky,
Such a maid was gentle Minnie hee hee,
ha ha, hi hi hi.

Little flowerlets hid their headlets, by her toelets pressed to earth,
Then they raised them when she passed them, breaking forth in joyous mirth
"Minnie hee hee, Minnie ha ha, Minnie
hi hi, where's your beau?
Minnie, Minnie, hee hee, ha ha, hi hi hi
hi, ho ho ho.

On the brinklet of the lakelet stood the maiden Minnie fair,
And the ripplets of the wavelets kissed
her footlets white and bare,
Laughing cried to one another, "This is
Minnie, dontcherknow?
Minnie hee hee, Minnie ha ha, Minnie
hi hi, ho ho ho."

'Neath the wavelets sat a crablet, joy depicted in his eyes,
As he watched her rosy toelets, and prepared a sweet surprise,
When she felt his gentle pinchlet, rang
her screamlet loud and far,
Cried the crablet, "Caught ye Minnie hee
hee, hi hi, ha ha ha."

From the woodlets strode her beaulet, flushed with anger, brave and grand,
And he grasped a little clublet in his firm, determined hand, Seized the crablet by its throatlet, dashed its brains out. Then cried he,
"I have won you, Minnie ha ha; Minnie you must marry me."

Soon he led her to the churchlet, where the priestlet made them one,
There we'll leave them, bridelet, groomlet, happiest pair beneath the sun,
While the bell-lets in the towerlet lift
their joyous clappers high,
Ringing loudly, "Happy Minnie hee hee,
ha ha, hi hi hi."

—S. Sheldrake.

THE CITY OF OTTAWA.

Ottawa more than any other city must hold special interest for the people of Canada. It is the school as it were, where the minds of representative Canadians are drawn out and adjudicated. It is the great mechanical depot where the fate and destiny of this Canada of ours are shaped and moulded. It is a soul refreshing fountain, from which flow inspirations of faith and hope to fill the hearts of the rising generation. It is a point of vantage from which one can behold thousands of peaceful prosperous happy homes, and far toward the great North West can survey vast realms of wild and rugged loveliness, which, like the primeval beauty of Canada, in her youthful days and the picturesque incidents that gathered round the life of the primitive French and English, are gradually vanishing before the rapid strides of modern development. Why then should we wonder at the eagerness of the aspirant after political fame to reach the parliament house at Ottawa when he feels that from this central position alone, he can wield a powerful influence for himself, his people and his country. For the benefit therefore, of those who have never visited the Capital, I will endeavour to give a slight description of it. Ottawa is a city of about 45,000 inhabitants situated at the junction of the Rideau River with the Ottawa. Navigation is impeded here by the Chaudiere Falls, a cataract remarkable indeed for its great stolidity. The scenery around Ottawa is perhaps unsurpassed by anything in the Dominion, though many claim that Quebec is the grand centre of natural beauty. The range of mountains which closes in the horizon to the north and east is the last of the picturesque chain of the Laurentides, which the visitor of Canada must admire if he travels westward by the usual route. From the Summer House on Parliment hill the view is one not easily to be forgotten. The broad river below, the hills glowing in the sunset, the Chaudiere white with spray, and the magnificent pile of public buildings, in the rear all tend to form a most striking landscape.

Here the Ottawa makes a broad curve. The rapids commence a few miles above, but nearing the city the channel contracts, and the broad and rapid river, obstructed and tormented by islands and rocks, falls 30 feet over a steep limestone cliff into a basin well named the Chaudiere or Chaldron; for it is a cavity in the bed of the river in which the angry water foams and seethes. Such a gigantic water-power is of course utilized, and some of the largest lumber manufacturies in the Dominion are situated here. Close at hand are the timber slides, by which the lumber from the upper river passes down without damage into the navigable water below. To go down these slides upon a crib of timber is a unique experience a visitor should endeavour to obtain; for, while it is unattended with danger, the novelty and excitement are most exhilerating.

Close to the city also are the Rideau Falls, which though not approaching the Chaudiere in importance, are often visited. The water-works should also be examined. They cost $1,200,000, and are planned upon a system of direct supply by pumping, with the intervention of a reservoir Three distinct sets of pumps are provided, any one of which is sufficient to supply the wants of double the present population. The others are available for extra demands, as in the case of large fires etc. As I have said the city of Ottawa possesses an especial interest to Canadians as the political centre. During session of Parliment, the most active men in the country are essembled either as M. Ps., senators, or promotors of private legislation.

Then the entertainments at Rideau Hall are frequent, for the Governor General likes to make the acquaintance of the active men of the Country, and vice versa, the active men are eager to bow to his Excellency. Newspaper reporters call this "holding a vice-regal court."

The headquarters civil museum of the Geological Survey is at Ottawa, where all strangers with an examination for science will of course call. The collections are open for free inspection. No better way of learning quickly the mineral resources and capabilities of the Dominion can be found than a careful study of this excellent and extensive museum. The characteristic "sight" at Ottawa is, however, the magnificent pile of public buildings. They cover an area of four acres, and occupy a very commanding site on a bluff upon the river bank. The central building is about 475 feet in length, and the tower over the entrance is said to be 225 feet high. In this building all the legislative business of the Dominion is carried on, and all the Departments connected with the Senate and House of Commons are located in it. The building to the right of the square contains the Governor General's office, and the Departments of State, Finance, Justice and the Interior. The building on the left contains the Departments of Customs, Railways, Canals Public works, Trade and Commerce and Marine and Fisheries. Immediately facing the House of Commons, and situate on the south side of Wellington street is the Langeoin Block. This building is of huge dimensions, and built of dark brown stone, contrasting beautifully with the others which are of a light gray. Herein are contained the Departments of Agriculture, Post Office, Indian affairs, statistical and patent branches. The library is the most architecturally beautiful building for the purpose in America. It is in the rear of the Central building, connected with it by corridors. It is polygonal in shape, with a buttress at each of the 16 angles, upon which are flying buttresses to support the dome. The height from the floor to the top of the lantern is about 140 feet. The library contains about 150,000 volumes. Close at hand is a reading room, containing all the latest journals, etc. During sessions of Parliament the members have exclusive access to all reading matter contained therein, and it often serves as a ready reference in moments of vigorous Parliamentary contests, when the speeches of stumping tours which long since were supposed to be sleeping in oblivion, are ressurected.

Ottawa stands high in an educational point of view. It can boast of one of the finest Universities in Canada, a visit thereto at the closing exercises of the season will bear me out in the strongest evidence of what I say. I might add here what is known to the maritime politicians, that the salt water students generally come to the surface in public admiration. It would occupy too much space were I to attempt to describe the magnificence and grandeur of our many churches; and other buildings worthy of high note. Let them be imagined however, as comparing favorably with any others on the Continent. I trust, Mr. Editor, that my attempt to give a short outline of Canada's Capital will be appreciated by the readers of the CHIGNECTO POST.

Faithfully yours,
N. S.

AGRCULTURE.

—The importance of green food for poultry in winter and the value of clover as an egg builder as well as health promoter is rapidly dawning upon farmers. A very successful poultry grower says: "Every time I clip my own or a neighbor's lawn, I rake and gather the clippings into a rack until I have a good winter's supply of fine, fresh, tender grass, well dried and easily prepared." The material thus provided will also considerably reduce the cost of keeping the flocks during the winter."

—An expert veterinarian says: 'Eight out of every ten horses which pass me are not properly shod, and do not go freely. Every foot ought to come down with a firm, even stroke, and this calls for a complete and careful adjustment of each shoe.'

And steal across the way,
Don't let your angry passions rise,
But fix a place for them to lay."

Progress in Cheese-Making.

FROM AN ISLAND CORRESPONDENT.

We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. T. J. Dillon, who last had charge of the New Perth cheese factory, which under his efficient management has given such satisfactory results that this year twelve new factories are to be started in different sections. The following is Mr. Dillon's statement of the season's work done at New Perth:

The first day's delivery of milk on the 22nd of June was 4,300 pounds. In a few days the supply increased to 6; 7 to 8,000 pounds, and on Monday mornings 9,000 pounds and upwards were discharged into the vats. This milk, although some of it was drawn 7, 8 and 12 miles, was delivered in excellent order all through the season, not more than half a dozen cans or so being returned to patrons during the thundery weather of August.

All the above work was done by Mr. Dillon and two assistants. Mr. Dillon held meetings in different places. Deputations of farmers visited New Perth to enquire whether cheese factories and creameries could be introduced. Full information was given them by Mr. Dillon, who is one of the dairy commissioner's staff. Enquiries were made at the dairy commissioner's office at Ottawa for help to manage the new and promising business until the farmers acquired sufficient experience to conduct it themselves.

The plan of the commissioner was to put a competent cheesemaker in each factory, instruct Mr. Dillon (who is one at the best cheesemakers of Ontario) to visit the factories regularly and to charge the farmers such a sum per pound of cheese for the manufacturing as would almost if not altogether meet expenses. The net proceeds from sale of cheese after deducting said charge were to be divided among the patrons in proportion to the quantities of milk supplied. The interest awakened became so widespread that no less than eleven new factories will commence operations on or about the 15th of this month. They will be in charge of the following gentlemen, who are in every way qualified to keep up the standard reached by Mr. Dillon:

C. J. Brown, of Ingersell, Ont.; at Cornwall; E. L. Head, of Wigham, Ont., at New Perth Mr. Head was at New Perth last year; John M. Hoover of Springfield, Ont., Vernon River; Geo. Burgess of Bluevale, Ont., at Eldon; Jos. Burgess, of Bluevale, Ont., at Murray Harbor; John R. Moore of P. E. I. at Bay Fortune. Mr. Moore has been two years in Ontario at the business; James McKenzie, Ingersoll, at Gowan Brae; A. E. Venning, Harrietsville, at St. Peters; Albert Raby, Ingersoll, at Kensington; John Crawford, P. E. I., at Dunk River; Thos. Hood, P. E. I., at Mt. Stewart.

There was shipped to G. B. from the Dominion last year $12,600,000 worth, which is an increase of 100 p. c. in the last decade, and it will be within the limits of probability that the same increase will be maintained in the next 10 years.

The importance of this subject to the farmers of the Maritime Provinces is very great and more attention should be given the matter.

My Toothache!

Is an exclamation heard every hour in the day. Toothache is the most common ailment of young and old, and in the aggregate inflicts more suffering than perhaps any other single complaint. A one minute cure is just what every person desires to possess. Nerviline—nerve pain cure—acts almost instantly in relieving the agony, and a sample bottle affords a quantity sufficient for 100 applications. 10 cents fills the bill. Polson's Nerviline is the only positive remedy for toothache and all nerve pains. Sold by all dealers in medicine.
