WILL DEVELOP GLOUCESTER MINES

Company Will Commence Operations This Summer

ALLARM OF FIRE

(Special to the Morning Graphic.)
ST. THURST, Wednesday.—Mr. T. M. Burns has received word from Mr. Drummond in connection with the iron deposits in this county which is very favorable.

In his letter Mr. Drummond states that his company intend going ahead and opening up the mine during the present summer.

The local government will be approached in regard to certain concessions and rights to control the immense water power of the Neigault River. He further states that he considers the iron deposits in Gloucester county among the best in Canada. He intends visiting Bathurst in the near future and will then be able to learn just what they intend doing in regard to smelting, etc.

Some three or four years ago a company was formed and a charter obtained permitting them to build a railroad from here to the Twin Tree mine. So called from a freak of nature where two fine pine trees hang but one top stand directly behind the camp. Steps are now being taken to have some alterations made in the charter after which the company will proceed to carry out the plan for which it was organized.

Mr. S. Williamson went to St. John this morning to consult a specialist. She was accompanied by her daughter Mildred.

Misses Laura Power, Nellie Doherty and Kathleen Sutton returned to St. Michael's Academy, Chatham, this morning.

Due to defective chimneys there will be no school in the Grammar School until Monday.

An alarm was sent in about four thirty yesterday afternoon for fire in the house owned and occupied by Mr. Matthew Landry, near the L. C. R. station. It is supposed to have caught from a spark from the kitchen chimney, falling on the roof of the main house. Several holes were burned and chipped in the roof but most of the damage was done by water which was carried from nearby wells. By the time the house was stretched the fire was all out and the department had to need to wet their hose.

J. Harold Kent returned to Mt. Allison University yesterday.

BURGLAR HELPS TO FIGHT FIRE

Night Raiders Capture a Young Wife on Wedding Day

KEEP HER PRISONER

DUBLIN, Tuesday.—Mrs. Robert Flynn, a three weeks bride, is being kept a prisoner in her father's house at Ballinagare, County Antrim, after she had been kidnapped on her wedding day by a band of Irish night riders, because Flynn refused to marry the girl the village of Ballinagare thought he should wed.

Mrs. Flynn has seen her husband only twice since her wedding, and then the interview took place under surveillance. The young woman will be detained in her prison until Easter Sunday, when she will be allowed to go to her husband's home.

To prevent her escape, her father's house is guarded night and day by the villagers, who add to the bride's agony by blowing horns throughout the evening to prevent her sleeping.

The fire of the village against the couple was aroused because Flynn jilted another girl. The night riders abducted Mrs. Flynn immediately after the marriage and commanded her father to take her in. The girl's father dared not disobey for fear of violence.

LONDON, Tuesday.—George Cook, 23 years of age, a laborer was charged on his own confession at Stratford police court with being concerned in breaking and entering the St. Margaret's mission hall, and stealing chairs, carpets and other articles to the value of $14.75, the property of the Rev. Charles Ridsdale. He was also charged on his own confession with maliciously setting fire to the hall.

Subdivisional Inspector Parker said Cook volunteered a statement in which he explained that he and another man broke into the mission hall between 12.30 and 1 o'clock on Tuesday morning, March 2.

Subsequently he set fire to a clothes basket, on the top of which when it was well alight, he placed some chairs.

The prisoner proceeded: "We then took some chairs, a big carpet, a pair of boxing gloves and a belt and put them on my job's pony barrow. I said to him: 'I shall go back and see that it burns to the ground.' He then drove away. I went back to the mission hall and pulled all the curtains down, and then in the middle of the hall and set fire to them. When I saw it was all right I tried to get out by the front door, but I found it locked. I had to run past the fire to get out.

I stopped till I saw the fire coming through the roof, and then went to Leytonstone station and rang the fire alarm. I told the firemen there was a fire at St. Margaret's church. I helped to push the fire escape back to the church, and had my head banged up in it by the firemen. They asked me my name and I got 25 shillings for giving the alarm.

Asked whether he objected to a remand, the prisoner said, "I don't care what you do with me." He was remanded.

BRITAIN'S FORMER BELOVED PREMIER HAS PASSED AWAY

A Long and Honored Career Brought to a Close—Has Been in Public Life for Nearly Forty Years—A Brief History of His Eventful Life

(Special to the Morning Graphic.)
LONDON, Wednesday.—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, former British Premier, died at 9.15 o'clock this morning, at his official residence in Downing street. The end was peaceful.

The cause of Sir Henry's death is officially given as heart failure. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman resigned the office of Prime Minister on April 5th, suggesting in his letter to King Edward, who was sojourning at Biarritz, Herbert H. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and then acting Premier, as his successor. Mr. Asquith was summoned at once by the King and received the appointment a few days later.

Sir Henry was born September 7th 1836, being the youngest son of the late Sir James Campbell, of Strathcathro, Forfarshire, once Lord Provost of Glasgow. He assumed the additional name under the will of his maternal uncle, the late Henry Bannerman, of Hutton Court, Kent, who bequeathed to him a large estate. He attended Glasgow University and Trinity College, Cambridge. In 1860 he married Charlotte, daughter of Major General Sir Charles Druce. She died in 1906 and since then Sir Henry's decline in health may be dated. For nearly forty years he sat for the same seat, the Stirling Burghs, and his record of office goes back to 1871, when he was Financial Secretary to the War Office, which post he held a second time from 1880 to 1882.

MANY KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

Forty Two Dead Bodies Recovered From Railway Wreck

OTHERS MISSING

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.—Forty-four bodies have been taken out of the wreckage caused by the railroad collision at Braybrook Junction, near Melbourne, April 18. It is believed that several others are still buried beneath the debris. The number of persons injured is placed at eighty-eight. Many of the victims in the train from Halarat were just settling in their seats when the crash came. The conductor had just signalled to the engineer to start and was in the act of stepping into the car when he saw the approaching Bendigo train. He sprang aside in time to save himself. The station was in darkness and a scene of indescribable horror followed the collision. Three of the cars took fire and many of the victims were burned beyond recognition. A member of the fire brigade found the bodies of his two sisters buried in the wreckage.

An eye witness to the disaster says that some resembled that of a battle field. Several of the victims died as they were being lifted from the wreckage.

The driver of the Bendigo train says that he saw signals and when the brakes refused to work he reversed the engine, but was unable to check the train.

This afternoon Mr. B. E. Walker, President of the Bank of Commerce, in whose office Messrs. Plummer and Ross conferred yesterday, stated he was still hopeful of a settlement. He said he did not think that the idea of a settlement without a further legal fight had been given up.

There are hundreds of poker games running night and day in New York, where patrimony is weakened and family plate being hurried to pawnshops. No count can be taken of the calamity to domestic life which is attributed to the disposition of women to gamble with cards. Poker games and bridge whist parties are formed weeks in advance.

In many of the Broadway hotels there are organized each day companies of men and women who indulge in draw poker and bridge with a view to helping out household expenses from a visitation of Dame Fortune.

There are scores of women living on the profits of this passion in New York today. These same are the heads of establishments in apartment or brown stone front houses in quiet neighborhoods. Their percentage of the profits of the game enables them to live luxuriously.

ROMANCE OF A MARITIME MAN

Quarrelled With Friends and Took New Name in the West

STRUCK IT RICH

Not frequently the story of the lad who ran away from home and made his fortune has been utilized in the drama as the framework of romance and tragedy. In this province, when people are wont to regard such achievements almost wholly as the time worn fragments of the playwright's creative interest to justify the old adage that truth is stronger than fiction.

Just such a case in life is that of Thomas McManus, a multi-millionaire of the Western States, uncle of Mr. E. McManus, Ottawa, who will return to his old home in St. John, N. B., from which he ran away after a quarrel with his father some fifty years ago.

As a young man, Thomas McManus taught school on Loch Lomond road, near St. John. In a fit of rage he left his home and worked his way west until he reached the gold fields of Colorado.

Fortune smiled not upon him immediately but he ultimately fell in with a millionaire named McGinnis who took a decided fancy to the young man and adopted him as a son, the name McGinnis being changed to that of his benefactor. For years he has lived in luxury in the west the owner of mines and all wells.

Two years ago a strange longing for his old home seized the wanderer and he wrote the postmaster in St. John concerning his relatives. With the gratuity of the postmaster the secret became public. The relatives sent a nephew to the address from which the letter was sent and he was received with open arms. He was given a large sum of money to keep servants and departed. Another nephew was sent on the same quest and he too, fared well.

But when nephew No. 3 arrived on the scene, the old gentleman, evidently fearing a migration of the entire family, soured on the nephew scheme and sent the young man on his homeward journey empty handed.

Two brothers residing in the west have known the identity of their brother for some time and a reconciliation has been effected. The brothers still reside in Montanacook, N. B., and Terence is located at Duluth, Minn.

TOO MUCH BEEF FROM THE WEST

Dr. Andrews of Sackville Says $600,000 Worth is Imported

SHOULD BE REMEDIED

The Sackville Post in its report of the Board of Trade meeting held recently says:

Dr. Andrews reporting for the committee on Forestry and Farming spoke of the great need of marsh improvement and in this connection stated that farmers in this part of the country should if possible be induced to sell less hay and produce more beef. The lands would be enriched and made capable of producing larger crops. Dr. Andrews declared that $600,000 worth of beef is brought into the lower provinces every year because the farmers of these provinces are unable to supply the demand. The speaker also thought this was a very serious reflection upon the farmers of the lower provinces. Such a condition of things should be remedied as speedily as possible. This report was discussed briefly by B. M. Plawett, Ashley George and others.
