Dear Vera:

"I wrote you yesterday giving all the news, but I just had to write another short note today. You know I always let you know quick about a good thing.
Last time you were here you praised our tea. We thought it pretty good, too, but since then we have found the best tea we ever used. There can't be any better tea anywhere.

"Don't you wish you had some, you old tea-crank?
Well, your grocer will hand it out when you say to him

AD MEN HELP BRIDES IN THEIR MATRIMONIAL
TRIALS

San Francisco, July 3.—At last the entertaining advertising man has made married life easy.

Every bride-to-be who stepped up to the marriage bureau in San Francisco yesterday left the place completely equipped for any possible emergency.
If after the ceremony she decides she has made a mistake in the man she selected for her husband she will only have to refer to a certain blue covered book which accompanied her marriage license and find a list of transfer and express companies ready "night and day" to take her baggage or that of her husband's away.

On the other hand, if after marriage her husband confesses that he is not a millionaire and that he must depend on her for his meals until he gets the next increase in salary, she need only refer to the handy book again to find a thousand recipes designed to make home cooking an absurdly simple procedure.

The handy book is called "The Bride's Cook Book." As soon as the county clerk's office about yesterday a nattily dressed young man appears with a stack of the volumes. He explains that the brides-to-be might find them useful and asked the deputy clerk to distribute them, with each marriage license.

"The books are issued by a hundred or more advertisers about the bay. Half of the book is devoted to cooking recipes and the other half to advertisements. The latter include the addresses of photographers, milliners, furniture men, bakers and many others. It is to be noted that the book seemed to appeal mostly to express men, as their advertisements are the most plentiful.
The nattily dressed young man announces that copies of the book are to be placed in the hands of all of the brides in Oakland and San Francisco.

Health for Every Woman
No More Headache

From Weakness and Despair Thousands Have Been Restored to Robust Good Health by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

That sick women are made well by Dr. Hamilton's Pills is proved in the following letter:
"For years I was thin and delicate.
I lost color and was easily tired.
I was pale, pimply and blotchy on my face, but not only mortifying to my feelings, but because I thought my skin would never look nice again I grew despondent. Then my appetite failed. I grew very weak. Various remedies, pills, tonics and tablets I tried without permanent benefit. A box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. She placed reliance upon them, and now that they have made me a well woman I would not be without them whatever the might cost. I found Dr. Hamilton's Pills by their mild yet searching character of a woman's nature. They never once gripped me, yet they established regularity. My appetite grew.
My blood red and pure—my rings under my eyes disappeared, and today my skin is as clear and unwrinkled as when I was a girl. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all!"

The above straightforward letter from Mrs. J. Y. Todd, wife of a well-known citizen in Rogersville, is proof sufficient that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful, woman's medicine.
Use no other pill but Dr. Hamilton's.

WRONGED WIFE A POOR SHOT; FIRED AT HUSBAND

After Married Life of Twenty-four Years Finds There is Home Wrecker

Kansas City, July 2.—As a big motor car carrying two men and two women near the bridge at Fifteenth street and the Blue river from the east at dusk last night, a woman stepped to the middle of the road. She held a revolver in her right hand.

"You can't go by here!" she exclaimed, and showed her weapon.
The driver swerved to the other side of the road and increased speed. Then the woman fired five times at the man and woman in the car. A block down the road the car stopped for a few seconds and then continued its course.

"That man was my husband," the woman with the revolver said afterward, "and the woman with him broke up our home. She's a coward, for she ducked so I'd shoot him. I was shooting at her more than him, for she's the cause of all my trouble."

Tells a Pathetic Story A pathetic story followed—how she and her husband had lived together for twenty-four years, had raised a son, now 21 years old, only to have her home destroyed by another woman, her husband's stenographer.

"I've been sick for several months," she said, "and I guess a woman doesn't know what to do with so much trouble. We've been separated nearly three months and this morning I called up my husband and asked him to come over and see me for a little while. But he refused, saying he was busy. He admitted he was going to a picnic outpost the Blue with three other men.
But I suspected this woman and at 10 o'clock I went out near her home and watched. Sure enough, my husband drove up in his motor car and then two couples got into the car, with baggage of lunch. Of course they beat me to the bridge, but I waited until they returned at 7 o'clock. I've been trying to find out if I hurt any of them.
If I hit my husband I'd like to care for him."

Met "That Woman" at a Dance
"My husband met that woman at a dance. She's not a girl, but is about my age—41 years old. Then the trouble began."
The husband last night denied knowledge of the shooting. He showed no evidence of having been shot up.
"I didn't know anything about it if she shot at me," he said, "and as for the woman she refers to causing any trouble, there's nothing to it."

"The woman in the case" declared she would not talk of the affair when called up by telephone.

ELECTRIC DIET TO MAKE CHICKENS GROW FAST

New York Doctor Says It Will Bring Them to Maturity at Earlier Age

New York, July 2.—A novel poultry farm, in which electricity will be utilized to hasten the growth of the chickens, is being inaugurated by Dr. L. L.
Lienau, of 137 Bainbridge street, Brooklyn, at Great River, L. I.
The electric farm is the result of observations made by Dr. Lienau in Europe, where experiments with the electric current in stimulating the growth of chickens have been very successful.
If the Great River undertaking comes up to his expectations other farms will be established on the same plan, with the result that the supply of poultry will be greater and the price consequently lower.

"While Dr. Lienau is giving no guarantee that the workingman is going to have a hen in the pot for every meal if his expectations are realized there is undoubtedly a color plexus blow coming to the beef trust."

"The principle is simple," said Dr.
Lienau last night. "It is just a question of stimulating the fowl with an electric current so that its circulation will be increased. The result will be increased assimilation. The power of the fowl to assimilate more food and assimilate it more quickly means that it will increase in weight and increase quickly. Not only will the product be marketable sooner than otherwise, but the chances of loss by death will be greatly lessened."

By the electric system chickens will develop to the broiler stage in about half the time they develop naturally.
In the European experiments of treating chicks to practically continuous doses of a high-frequency electric current, they have put on from thirty-eight to forty per cent. more weight within a given period than their non-Lienau brethren.

"The conditions that surrounded the two classes," Dr. Lienau added, "were identical with the exception of the electrical application. They had similar food, the same foster mothers, the same runs."

About 5,000 volts were used in the alternating current, which was so directed that it swept the baking runs of the chickens. The cost of the treatment as practiced by Dr. Thorne Baker of London, from whom I obtained most of my ideas, was about four cents a dozen.

"I am installing some improvements on the European system at Great River, where the poultry farm will cover about three acres. These improvements will have to do chiefly with the application of feeding of the electricity. A considerable outlay of money will be necessary to properly equip the farm, but this will be more than returned when it is in operation."

IN A CATFISH LIFE

(From The St. Louis Globe-Democrat)
A catfish captured in the Mississippi is figured to be 181 years old. About the time it was a minnow 1,800 Indians, led by British regulars, caught some St. Louisians outside the town stockade and killed fifteen. But the inside defenders held their ground. The fish has done its best, but makes a scanty meal for a city of over 100,000.
