Their objects, he continued, whatever differences of opinion there might be, were common objects, the furtherairce of the material interests, and drawing closer the bonds of sympathy which united the various communities that were subject to the King. For séveral years past, nearly one-quarter of the imports of the United Kingdom had been received from the over-seas dominions and possessions, and over one-third of the exports of the kingdom had been sent to them. This total import and export trade for 1911 represented four hundred million pounds sterling. A Stupendous Trade.

To this of course must be added, when one was trying to estimate the r:agnitude of the interests represented in that assembly, the very large trade which passed between the dominions themselves, amounting to almost seventy millions more. These were stupendous figures, and the inference was plain that the deliberations upon which they were about to enter must have the greatest weight with those who were called upon to guide the various parts of the empire. It was in the belief that these deliberations would be undertaken with a full sense not only of the vast interests they represented, but of the enormous responsibilities which the proper management of those interests in volved, that he ventured on behalf o the Government, of the community and of the country to bid them hearty welcome, and to wish them all prosperity and success in the great work upon which they had embarked.

An Important Body. Lord Desborough, in his presidential address, concluded by dwelling upon the importance of such a body as a British Imperial Council of Commerce, assisting statesmen in dealing with the business requirements of the empire as a whole. The congress telegraphed an expres sion of devotion and loyalty to His Majesty the King.

Superintendent Grant Says This is Huch More Pressing

Expenditure. Edmonton, June 11 .- Ten superintendents will be named by the general assembly at the present session to supervise the work in the new disricts. A decision to take this step was reached by the delegates this afternoon. Almost a dozen delegates f the west protested that the number was quite insufficient for the needs of the great undertaking, and arged that there should be a large increase. Overtures were presented from several Presbyteries on the subect, and in these it was intimated that in the judgment of the Presbyeries from thirty to forty men were

Colonial Drapery Fabrics Good Taste With Economy

We would be pleased to offer suggestions for the new home in Lace Curtains and Draperies, or match them to your earpets and wall decorations

For the many new homes to be furnished this June we are prepared to offer suggestions or carry out your own individual ideas in modern decorations, and are pleased to state that for the first time this season we are in a position to complete and deliver work on short notice.

"COLONIAL"-A fine old word, aptly chosen for our drapery fabrics. With it comes the simple artistic atmosphere of the home of a century ago. To see the welcome with which these Colonial tendencies are received in modern homes is refreshing.

With "COLONIAL DRAPERY FARRICS" homes are made less of a "show place" and more of an abode in which every appointment is primarily considered with a view to comfort, restiulness and refinement.

A quick impression of what is meant by these words-comfort, restfulness and refinement—is received upon entering a home in which "Colonial Drapery Fabrics" have been used for hangings, window seats, pillows, chair covers, scrims, utility boxes and other accessories. They bring personality into these rooms— a real personality entirely typical of the presiding genius of the home. Extensive displays of "Colonial Drapery Fabrics" are being featured this month in Drapery Section, Fourth Floor
