SHIPS AND SHIPPING.

Wind storms with heavy falls of snow and rain were unpleasant features of the Danube's Northern voyage, completed yesterday. The ship reached Nanaimo on Tuesday and arrived here yesterday morning. She reports vegetation in northern latitudes as being completely covered with mountains being white from base to summit. The Danube brought a very small cargo consisting almost solely of dog-fish oil, which she landed at Nanaimo en route down. Her passengers on the down trip were: Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Snow, Miss J. Hunt, R. Draney, A. E. McKay, H. C. Snow, M. Dunnit and A. G. Harris. Included in the freight were the personal effects of the late Wm. McGarrie, whose tragic death at Shooshartiel bay is still fresh in memory.

These will be distributed among the relatives. The Danube brings word that an intertribal quarrel over territorial rights in the Naas river and tributary streams is in progress, and Indian Agent Todd has gone to the scene for the purpose of settling the difficulty.
