This statue represente Heronles with the lion skin. Two sculptures, showing Greek influence and supposed to represent Silenus, was found years ago in the same neighborhood.

A grand Legitimist banquet took place on Oct. I at Carpentras, in France, at the residence of the Come dee Isnards. This bandut was followed by a popular ball given by subscription. After this ball, while the royalists were still promenading the treestes, six large bombs were thrown by unknown hands before the offices of the sub-prefect and the mayor. The glass in windows of these buildings were smashed to atoms.

Negotiations for international copyright between France and Germany, which have been going on for some time, are approaching a satisfectory conclusion. It is not intended to conclude a copyright convention between the two countries. The design is to arrive at an agreement for uniform legislation in each country so as to determine the rights of French authors in Germany and of German authors in France. It is proposed that the term of copyright should extend over the author's lifetime and for thirty years after his death.

A Philadelphia jury were called upon to decide, in a customs case, whether a jew's harp is a toy or a musical instrument. The question put to the expert witnesses was, "Is the jew's-harp capable of producing a succession of harmonious sounds?" One witness played to the jury "The heart bewed down," and "The Skids are out to day," and the reporter says that the jury ascend restless and depressed. Their verdict was that the jew's-harp is a musical instrument.

It was not till 1866 that the modern aystem of fortifications was applied to the four detached forts of St. Quentin, Plappeville, Queleu and St. Julien was begun. In 1870 only the first two of these were completed. The others have been finished under the German military authorities, who have likewise added one by one the powerful forts of Manstein, Prince August von Wurtemberg and Zistrow. The last of the series is the little fort of Hindersin.

Frank Hanson, a hunchback, committed suicide in San Francisco, after meditating such a deed for twenty-seven years. He used to say that his deformity came from a blow given him by a cousin of Rosco Conkling, on whose farm, in central New York, he worked when a boy; but it is thought that he was mistaken, and that the spinal disease, which gradually twisted him into a frightful shape. Capturing a Live Deer. The other day some of Tanner Bros. mill hands saw a deer take the waters of Sturgeon bay. In all possible haste they procured a boat and succeeded in captuing it alive, finding it to be a buck, probably three years old. They confined it in a building near the mill. The captive approach peared to become tame almost immediately, for it partook of food from the hand and drink from a vessel. It is now in possession of P. S. Campbell, Waubaushene. Its final destination may be the Zoo.

Catarrh-A New Treatment. From the Weekly (Toronto) Mail, Aug. 24. Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of two thousand patients treated during the past six months fully inliety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent of 1 attents presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at ones adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims the estarrh is practically cured and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures affected by him two years ago are cures still. No one class has ever attempted to cure catarrh in his manner, and no other treatment has ever cured eatarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present even of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being our of at one treatment has ever the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being our of at one treatment has even the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being our of at one treatment. The danger of disregarding the first and earlier symptoms of the disease is realized by few, and still less are they aware of the many diseases entailed upon them, and of which catarrh and catarrh alone is the exciting cause. Foremost among them stands consumption, the destroy r of millions, while prevailant to an alarming extent is bronchitis, laryngtis, aphonia, asthma, and other dangerous affections of the throat and chest. You may think that we give u dee importance to these trifles, but go to shose amonty your friends who are now in the last stage of consumption snd ask them how their disease began. They will in almost every instance tell you of a slight co'd, a hacking cough, or a little soreness in the throat, which were treated as scarcely worthy of notice a few months ago, and will add their cough grew worse. The name of consumption would have awakened them to a consciousness of their true state, That name was withheld, and in fancied security they have journeyed onward to the brink of the grave, now waiting to receive them. Thre is one joint to which we would alvert—that is the unwillingness of those suffering from die eases of the head, throat and chest to acknowledge themselves in any other treatment but his, has but one routine, never two diagrams of the suffering them dis eases of the head, throat and chest to acknowledge themselves in a suffering them die
