FRIDAY MORNING MARCH 7, 1884.

Manitoba Wheat. The Miller is an English weekly paper and the recognized organ of the nationa ssociation of British millers. Its proprietor, Mr. H. Dunham, writes to the Manitoba deputy minister of agriculture, praising very highly the quality of Manitoba red Fife wheat, a supply of which, he says, would be of great value to British millers for mixing with other wheats, in order to help them in their present keen race of ompetition with American millers. From what he says it is evident that old country millers are prepared to take all the Manitoba or Northwest hard wheat they can

It may be said, what about the rapidly rising competition of India, also of Australia? The answer is that Manitoba wheat is a kind by itself, and that it will be eagerly picked up by old country millers for the special purpose of giving strength to the four they make, ro matter how abundant India or other wheat may be in the market. It is earnestly to be hoped that, even in advance of the Canadian Pacific railway being completed through, the upper lake steamer service may be so greatly improved ere harvest time comes round again, that wheat from the Northwest can be carried cheaply to ocean ports. Once we get fairly settled down to this particular business. there will be solid bottom upon which to start a genuine "boom" in the Northwest.

The Memorial Volume. The first few pages of the memorial volume-Toronto: past and present; hiswhom the task could have been assigned. We can look for accuracy, perspicuity and readableness in all his pages. We reprint the second chapter in another column. There are to be fine illustrations and portraits throughout the work. The enterprise of the publishers and the research of the authors are deserving of recognition, and this will be best shown by a handsome subscription list (Sean The Callander Link.

A most important statement was made in the house the other day by Sir Charles Tupper. He said that in view of the early completion of the Canadian Pacific railway the government would take special action towards insuring that the construction of the Gravenhurst and Callander link would be pushed forward with all possible speed. The first of May, 1885, is mentioned as the date by which this important connecting link, so vital to Ontario's interests, will be completed. Everything ought to be done that can be done to compersate this province for the loss of the Midland and the Great Western as independent and competing railway systems.

Rush & Co. of Indianapolis, obtained judgment for $1600 against Ross and McVeigh, two farmers of Edgar county, Illinois, who traded through Rush & Co. in grain and provision for future delivery upon the oard of trade of Chicago and the produce xchange of New York. The evidence showed the trades to have been the ordipary commission transactions on the future prices of commodities, and the court intructed the jury that this evidence did not constitute the contracts gambling vithin the meaning of the statute.

The conservatives of South Oxford have now been as successful in splitting the reform ranks as their neighbors in North Oxford were atter Mr. Oliver's death. The conservatives were then induced to withdraw their man and back Sutherland against the straight grit candidate Patullo. The thin edge of discussion has been since driven home, and the grits of North Oxford are not a happy family. The success of Cook against Noxon, the grit nomines is a repetition of the same tactics. Sow dissension, and reap the benefit, is the tory motto. The reform party in Oxford is in the position of being split by its own ponderous weight.

Now's the time for the positively oldest and we will all join in doing him or her all honor! What a splendid constitution, what a noble stomach, what leather lungs, what same cause. The discontent in Ontario is a noble stomach, what leather lungs, what truculent vitality, to have withstood for little less than a century the drinking water saturated with sewage, the horribly bad roads, the Globe, the toll bars and the many other peculiar pestilences of Toronto! Same cause. The discontent in Ontario is every day growing greater, and is leading many people to seriously think of advocating annexation to the States as the only remedy. If the Lower Canadians drive us into that, they will be the sufferers. We will take good care that they shall come along; in fact, if they did not, they would be starved out, as they know. Once annexed Jonathan will care "tarnation" fittle about their peculiar desires in the matter of church influence and provincial laws and customs, and would put them under cast-iron regulations "in no time."

Amongst the many servants of the public, whose conscientious efforts in the public behalf are exceptionally valuable and whose emoluments are scandalously disproportioned to his doings, is Mr. John Dyke, the representative of the Canadian government at Liverpool, whose duties are discharged with a cheerfulness and efficiency that would lead those he benefits to imagine he was paid at least $10,000 per annum, whereas he doesn't get the quarter

The fiftieth anniversary of the city's incorporation was signalized yesterday by the opening of the public library. It was a proud day for Mr. John Hallam, to whose energetic efforts and generous impulses the existence of the institution is mainly due. The citizens can only repay Mr. Hallam for his time and liberality by freely patronizing the library.

But there are more reasons than one for not expecting this decisive course to be taken. The movement has now become thoroughly entangled with politics. Here, as in England, the temperance vote is like any other vote; it is courted and manipulated by political adventurers who clamber into Parliament on its back.

The Governments and the Licenses.

To the Editor of The World. SIR: We find ourselves, under confed eration, in the position of persons who, having entered on a partnership, find one of the partners working steadily, year after year, not to promote the interests of the concern, and enable it to make money; but to appropriate to himself a larger and a yet larger share of the property and influence possessed by the other partners. That is our position with reference to the French Canadian politicians who are constantly urging Sir John to bring our confederation into a form of virtual legislative union, by seizing one after another, on the rights and functions of the local governments. This is, and has been, especially directed against Ontanhabitant to be trotted out. Let us have rio. This license question is only him or her ready for exhibition in June, another attack on our provincial rights. Another province, Manitoba, is at this moment on the verge of rebellion from the oldest inhabitant, and let him ride on a triumphal car in the jubilee procession.

It is matter for surprise that really good energetic men can be got to work for the Canadian government. Salaries are paid, which any competent chief clerk or man, and the destion of the country. Lot us consider the situation. Next election it will probably be no affair of Sir John. Others will arise. It will be no question of protection. All parties will, by that time, have agreed to continue the national policy either in the present or a modified form. There will be a railroad question—the question of resistance and the country. question—the question of resistance to rail-> their way out of the thirty millions. I do not speak of direct bribery—that may have been or not; but there were many ways of managing the matter without that. The question of next election will be who will stand by the rights of Ontario in the Ottawa parliament. We cannot submit to Ottawa parliament. We cannot submit to see, year after year, these constant attacks on provincial rights and provincial purses. Of those rights, I need not point out to you, Mr. Mowat has been the champion here, Mr. Mowat has been the champion here, and how popular they are is proved by the general condemnation which censured the course of the Ontario opposition in reference to the boundary award. The people of Ontario should, first, give the local government what aid they can in this license question, and next, be looking round for men to send to Ottawa next time.

Impatience and Acquiescence.
To the Editor of the World.

Sir.—In your editorial on the above subject you throw theories to the wind and assert that it is the foreign producer who pays the duty on goods brought into Canada, and in fact that a high protective duty tends to make things cheaper. Well, in that case would it not be wise to raise the duty still higher and make food and clothing cheaper, so that our charitable in the 50 of 75 cents which a workingman can earn here in a day might go as far as possible.

But on the question of the producer paying the duty I join issue at once. Tea is free of duty II join issue at once. Tea is free of duty II join issue at once. Tea is free of duty II canada; the reverse in England. Sugar and sotton goods are.

would be no need of the societies existing to-day. But through the ill-treatment of the so-called church man has had to build a structure, so in time of need he can apply thereto for assistance. We, the Canadian order of foresters, have just paid the mother of Charles Thomas, who was killed at the Humber accident, the sum of $1000 benefit. Where is the church that would have done this? This is a friend in the time of need. If miristers were to abide by their constitution—the bible—as near as the members of societies abide and obey their constitution, they would not be tossed about in.
