THE CHOLERA IN EUROPE.

FIFTH YEAR.

DEATHS ON THE INCREASE AT MARSEILLES AND TOULON.

Action to Prevent the Spread of the Plague-The Feeling at London-The Panic Extending Over the Continent. LONDON, July 12 .- It is estimated that 120,000 people have left Marseilles since the outbreak of cholera there, and the distress consequent upon such an abnormal exodus from that city and Toulon, particularly in the outlying districts, which depend almost solely for existence on their urban trade, is pitiful.

It is now feared that a similar panic in Paris is imminent, many of the wealthier families having already made arrangements to depart at the first sign of the disease. Many prominent newspapers in Ger many are urging the government to recall vomited forth the worst looking gang that br. Koch so that he may be at hand to has come into Buffalo since the Indians advise his own people in the hour of peril. Dr. Koch remains firm in his already ex-pressed opinion that the cholera scourge must spread throughout Europe. It has taken so firm a hold in such centres of com-munication as Marseilles and Toulon that he believes it must run its course during the summer throughout continental Europe. He says that America, if great vigilance is exercised in quarantine precautions, will probably escape, but holds out no hope for countries insulated simply by technical frontier lines.

countries insulated simply by technical frontier lines. In England great uneasiness is beginning to manifest itself in the large cities be-cause of the negligence of the authorities in taking the necessary precationary measures against the introduction of the plague. It is urged by prominent physi-cians and other scientists that the confi-dence resulting from England's insular position is misplaced, and that without the most perfect sanitary inspection some in-coming vessel from a Mediterranean port will slip in and bring cholera with all its attendant horrors. attendant horrors.

A furious newspaper war is raging in Paris as to the wisdom of celebrating the national fetc on the anniversary of the fall of the Bastile on Monday next. It is feared by many that the great influx of visitors will surely bring with it the cholera germ, and that the present sanitary precautions will be entirely inadequate in the event of such a rush to the capital as the celebration if persisted in will un-doubtedly cause. The balance of public opinion is certainly averse to the celebra-tion, and in view of the terrible and rapid - spread of the disease in the south, parspread of the disease in the south, par-ticularly at Marseilles, it will probably prevail

A handicap steeplechase over the full course, with eight starters, was the feature. Response, eight starters, was the feature. Response, Chipola, Wooster, Tom Naven, Kate Cronin and Bonairetta were the leaders. Response bolted at the water gap and ran away. He ran into Wooster and Kate Cronin and the mare turned a somersault, landed headforemost and broke her neek, while Wooster fell and twice rolled over his rider. The mad race swept on with Tom Naven and Bonairetta leading, Sud-denly Chipola gave a spurt and began a chasing race. As she neared the last hur-dle her rider held her up for the leap when she suddenly toppled over and fell, break-ing her neck and fatally wounding her jockey, Guerin.
