APPENDICITIS.—“I am not always in a great hurry to operate in appendicitis, but I am more inclined to wait for the more acute symptoms to wear off, and operate, if at all, after suppuration has taken place, or during the quiescent stage between the attacks. I wish my voice was strong enough, just here, to call a halt to the men who say, ‘Operate at once—not this afternoon or to-morrow, but now,’ in all cases when the disease is recognized.”—McGuire.
