mecessity to the home," said Mr. Cox.

What is Life insurance?

Aifred Wright, Toronto manager, London & Lancashire Fire Insurance Company, in presenting his views on fire insurance, said: "Fire insurance is a great commercial factor, as it is a safeguard to the credit of cities, corporations and homes. More than half of the insurance companies started forty years ago are out of business today because the Canadian field is too limited; that is the law of average is not broad enough, and, as there are so many different classes, the rate cannot be fixed so definitely as in life insurance."

The condition of insurance in Canada is somewhat chaotic, owing to the fact that the Dominion Government has certain rules and regulations, and each province has them, but there was no cohesion between them.

Fire prevention in Canada is a serious question, for the lack of ordinary care by individuals is shown by statistics.

"Robinson said to me, 'It was about 9 o'clock, wasn't tt?' and I replied, 'No, it was nearly 10.30.'"

Witness was present when the first search was made on the doctor's premises.

"It is a matter of consolation that we in Canada can pursue our daily tasks and enjoy the comforts of life while other countries are being devastated by war," said his honor. "The British Empire, with France and Russia, are engaged in this gigantic struggle in order to protect weaker nations and to keep its troth. For that reason they are calling for men, and more men, and we must all do our share and make our sacrifices in the cause of right and might.
