HAS LEAD AT REGENT

Film Favorite With Her Own Company Pleases Audience With Presentation of "Shirley Kaye"

Clara Kimball Young and her own company of artists in "Shirley Kaye," is the leading interest at the Regent this week. The story shows the power of a determined woman, once she has decided on anything.

Shirley Kaye, a social leader, is the only child of a wealthy railroad magnate. He is on the verge of financial ruin thru the manipulations of J. J. Magan, an uncouth, newly-rich but shrewd man of business. He also has a daughter, Daisy, with social ambitions but no means of obtaining them. Shirley Kaye determines to save her father, and unable to make a pact with J. J., she sets out to win him by other means. Shirley is pulled into the maelstrom of the city, and soon falls in love with Lord Roseville. Thru her social standing, Shirley gets in touch with the wives of all the shareholders, and by that means gets later proxies than T. J. holds. Then she plays her hand—social ruin for Daisy and the needed influence from Daisy's father to swing the deal. She wins the railroad, but is treated with scorn and contempt by a young western railroad man who was associated with T. J. As the old man said: "Say! what do you want anyway? I thought it was the railroad, but I'm beginning to think it's Roseville." Well, she got both, but just how is what holds the interest in the film.

Comedy and war pictures complete a good bill.

ETHEL BARRYMORE IS SUPERB IN PICTURE

"The Call of Her People," Shown at the Strand Theatre this week.

Ethel Barrymore is superb in her portrayal of the gypsy heroine, Egypt, in "The Call of Her People," shown at the Strand Theatre this week.

During the chief's absence and despite his warnings, his son Faro and Egypt are married, and the wedding dance is in progress when he returns. The chief then explains that Egypt is the daughter of Romany-Chi, who had spurned him for the Gorgio, but who had returned with her baby to die in his arms. During his absence the chief has called up on the Gorgio, shown him the baby clothes, and offered to give her up for $1000.

Her supposed father comes for her, and with him comes Nicholas Van Fleet, who afterwards becomes engaged to Egypt. She consents only because her heart has hardened towards Faro for not coming to rescue her. During all this time he has been imprisoned by his father and traveling unwillingly away from Egypt, but the death of the old chief sets him free, and the young chief at once goes back to find her. Just before his death the old chief confesses that Egypt is not the daughter of Romany-Chi, who was buried with her, but of her sister, and that he has tricked Lindsey for revenge. Faro hears a joking remark about Egypt in a saloon, stabs the man, and being chased by bloodhounds, flies to Egypt, to find her gown for her wedding to Nicholas Van Fleet. She pleads with her to go with him. She refuses, then, after he leaves her, goes after him, begs him to marry her, and arrives just as he is about to be tied to the stake. With wonderful agility he breaks free, jumps on her horse and together they escape. Six years later Van Fleet's carriages down
