Charles Boeckh is Dead.

One of the oldest and most respected citizens of Toronto, in the person of Mr. Charles Boeckh, died yesterday, after a few days' illness, at his late residence, 164 East Bloor-street. Deceased, who was in his 82nd year, was born in Germany. He came to New York, and thence to Toronto, where he was in business in connection with the famous firm of manufacturers and exporters of brushes, brooms and woodenware, which he founded. This business is now conducted by Boeckh Bros. & Co., and is known all over Canada, and in the Old Country. Deceased leaves a widow, three sons and four daughters. The sons are Emil C. Boeckh and Charles Boeckh, Jr., who constitute the present firm, and August A. Boeckh, manager of the Montreal branch. The daughters are Mrs. Dr. Wagner, Mrs. Nell Smith, Mrs. John Mahony and Miss Boeckh, all of Toronto. Deceased was a successful business man, a member of the Lutheran Church, and highly esteemed in many circles.

THE RAILWAY PASS ABUSE.

The Winnipeg Tribune of the 17th inst. comments favorably on the working of the anti-pass law of the State of Wisconsin. It thinks the outlook for similar legislation in Canada need not be regarded as hopeless. "There is an awakening of the country over," says The Tribune, "on the question of this doubtful influence, and an anti-pass law such as that submitted at this session of the House of Commons will not always be defeated by an overwhelming majority of the members." The editor of The Tribune, Mr. Richardson, is a member of Parliament, and on the pass question he knows whereof he speaks. It is to be hoped he will persistently follow the good example advocated in his journal, and refuse to accept passes from railway corporations. He certainly is not obliged to violate his political conscience by accepting them. We notice that he sneers at Sir Charles Tupper as being a loyal friend of the railways. If Mr. Richardson will look up the debates that occurred in the House three or four years ago in connection with members drawing mileage while accepting railway passes, he will find Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Richard Cartwright, who were then in Opposition, put themselves on record as favorable to abolishing the railway pass abuse. Now, when they are in office, however, they do nothing to give effect to their views. The abuse is as rampant as ever.

The distribution of passes to members of Parliament is not confined to the big railway corporations. Suburban electric and city street railway corporations have favors to ask occasionally from Parliament, and a book of passes is supposed to be a fitting introduction between these corporations and the members of Parliament who have it in their power to grant or refuse such favors. A most contemptible species of petty bribery was the distribution to members recently of a book of passes by the Ottawa Electric Railway Company, which controls the street railway franchise of the Capital. Each member was given a little book, bound in leather, containing tickets of admission to the Auditorium at Victoria Park, and 64 tickets for transportation to and from the park. The Ottawa Electric Railway Company has been a frequent applicant for legislation from the Dominion Parliament either on its own account or to prevent other roads from getting an entrance to the city. The Ottawa Railway Company may well distribute favors to the members. It is only a few weeks ago that the company was successful in killing off a rival company, which asked from Parliament power to construct a bridge at Bank-street. Not a single argument was offered against the bill. The application should not be granted, but the Ottawa Railway Company had worked the members of the committee so effectively that the application was refused. There never was a greater perversion of the law than the distribution of the passes to the members of the committee to allow this bridge to be built. The petty bribery resorted to by the Ottawa Railway Company is an insult to the country. But a greater shock to the people is the fact that the Ottawa Railway Company has secured members of Parliament with arguments which otherwise were wanting. Mr. Richardson professes to be a railway reformer. He owns a public journal, he advocates railway reform in that journal. There is nothing, however, like personal example, and we trust that Mr. Richardson is not himself a recipient of railway passes. A railway reformer who would live up to his professions will not accept such very much.

SACRIFICING THE WEST INDIES.

The sacrifice of the British West Indies has begun. A reciprocity treaty has been drafted between Barbadoes and the United States, and although it has not been ratified by the United States Senate it is unquestionable that the Senate is favorable to the treaty and will pass it. The treaty provides for a reduction in the duty on sugar by the United States in return for tariff reductions on nearly everything imported by the colony. Such a treaty as States. This is not a case of a treaty between Barbadoes and the United States. The Barbadoes should have had with Barbadoes and the other of the West Indian

BANK MEETINGS YESTERDAY.

The annual meetings of the shareholders of three banks, namely, the Bank of Montreal, the Bank of Toronto, and the Bank of Nova Scotia, were held yesterday. The Bank of Montreal held its meeting at 10 o'clock, and the Bank of Toronto at 11 o'clock. The Bank of Nova Scotia held its meeting at 2 o'clock. ONTARIO LADIES' COLLEGE.

Joyous Throats Witness the Distribution of Prizes—Special Concert.

Whitby, Ont., June 21.—(Special).—The hospitable principal and faculty of the Ontario Ladies' College to-day cordially welcomed the hundreds of guests and friends of the college, who had been invited to be present at the commencement day exercises. The day was a very pleasant one, and the year, and in honor of the occasion a ball was given in the town so as to give all an opportunity of being present.

Large numbers from outside places were also in attendance. A special train from Toronto conveyed about 150 invited guests to the college.

In the afternoon, shortly after the special train from Toronto came in, the day's proceedings began in the large hall of the college, where the guests gathered, as listened to a splendid concert. The efforts of the students were warmly appreciated, and their selections, both instrumental and vocal, were rendered in a highly creditable manner.

The first number, an organ solo by Miss Criswell, was deserving of the highest praise. Miss Dixon sang with taste "Angels Guard Thee." Miss Lang, on the violin, played "A Valse," which was heard to perfection. Miss Thompson displayed considerable ability as an elocutianist, and recited "The Man With the Hoe." Distributed.

In the evening the distribution of prizes took place. The chair was occupied by Rev. Dr. Hare and Rev. A. Burns, in which they pointed out the good work which the college had accomplished during the year, and the students who had been successful in their examinations.

During the distribution a quartet, consisting of the Misses Hare, Howland, McManis and Acheson by special request sang "Then Let Christ Reign," and repeated the litany they made at last Monday's concert. Miss Hamlin also sang and well merited the hearty applause she met with.

The late Charles Stark's Career. Mr. Charles Stark, one of Toronto's veteran merchants, died yesterday morning at his home, 50 Bismarck-avenue. His illness had extended for several months. Mr. Stark had a remarkable career, experiencing wealth and poverty. Born in Bridgewater, Somersetshire, England, 68 years ago, he came to Canada when a lad. He followed various occupations in Western Canada, and during the civil war accumulated a large fortune. The great Chicago fire wiped him out of wealth and home. Coming to Canada again he started farming at Paris Hill, near London, and afterwards came to Toronto. Here he opened a store on Church-street, where in a few years he amassed another fortune. He dealt in jewelry, guns and all kinds of sporting goods. Deceased leaves a widow and two daughters, the eldest of whom is the wife of Rev. Charles King of Kingston. Mr. Stark's brother and real estate agent, is a brother of deceased. The funeral takes place to-morrow to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The Hepler Strike. Hesperia, Ont., June 21.—The strikers waited on Mr. Brodie this morning, but received no satisfaction. A representative of the strikers arrived here this afternoon, and it is expected Mr. Brodie will soon come to terms with the strikers.
