Passage-at-Arms.

Ald. W. A. Wilson and O. G. Keene had a passage at arms over the question of the rates for street oiling and watering on Hyman and Pall Mall streets, Ald. Wilson objected to the rate including the gravelling of the streets, as he said that it had been agreed by the council of last year that this work would not be charged on the frontered to the workingman. He had gone to the Horoverment of Canada and a country-wide advertising campaign undentaken. He was sure that no merchapt in such a way that it would rot if not sold. sisted in expressing their opinions. Finally Ald. Keene intimated that he also wanted order. To this Ald. Wilson replied: "You can't have order with me here."

Oil at Last.

The motion of Ald. L. S. Holmes to cut off the extra charge for gravel repairs on these two streets was the oil which calmed the waves and the council poured it on.

statements were incorrect.

The council on a vote agreed to maintain the yard for another year.

A deputation of teamsters appeared before the council to ask that the rates be increased to $8 a day instead of $7. The men asserted that they could not carry on their business at any rate short of $8 a day. The council, on motion of Ald. Harley and Holmes, decided to pay $5 cents an hour.

Ald. Wilson wanted Mr. Peel, who assisted in the assessment department last year, placed there again this year. When asked whom he would have him replace, one of the other experienced men or one of the new ones, who are all returned soldiers, he intimated that he would replace one of the returned men. No one would second his motion.

Ald. Wilson and Holmes moved that a returned soldier be placed in charge of the city fish market, and that the mayor see that this is done. This was referred to No. I committee on motion of Ald. Manness and Harley.

nanufacturing in the country would nelp enormously in this respect, and with a view to bringing it about the Canadian trade commissioner in London, England, was busy seeking new outlets for Canadian exports, and Canadian manufacturers were also doing what they could to secure an entrance to new world markets: but portant still would be the effect increased demand in Canada its goods of Canadian manufacture.

The Difference.

A recent review, said Mr. Gibson showed that, leaving out of the question munities. showed that, leaving out of the question munitions, the average dollar's worth of Canadian goods exported contained 80 cents worth of raw material and two cents worth of skill and labor. In an average dollar's worth of goods manufactured in the United States and exported, on the other hand, only ten cents worth of raw material was represented as against 90 cents worth of skill and labor. The reason was that Canada was exporting to a very large proportion raw materials, whereas the said that he recently went into store in Toronto to buy a Canadian nade hat. The clerk at first said the had no hats manufactured in this coun had no hats manufactured in this country, and tried to sell him one of British manufacture, but on being pressed found what was asked for. Mr. Gibson had a somewhat similar experience with a tailor. He wondered how many people when they went to the store to make a purchase insisted on having Canadlanmade goods if the kind of goods they required, of good quality, were manufactured in this country. ctured in this country.

Manufacturing Effects.
As an example of the effect which assed manufacturing might be ex-ted to have, he compared the popu-ion fluctuation in a number of town-tich had no industries to speak of the figures for towns in which facthe period from 1901 to 1911. In the same period Oshawa grew from a city of 4,300 population to one of 7,400.

Half a million people were employed in factories in Canada, he said, and he pointed out that, if there were no factories in this country, all of these people and their dependents, totalling at least a million and a half, would be lost to the country. On the other hand, if a "buy Canadian-made goods" movement resulted in 25 per cent more Canadian-made goods being purchased, it would made goods being purchased, it woul mean employment in Canada for 125,00 more men, or a large proportion of all returned soldiers.

Great Advertising. "The greatest piece of advertising ever done for Canada," said Mr. Gibbut we are helping to cash in on the advertising they did, for if we help to chasing in Canada before the war, was now arranging to send a Government deputation to this country to make a survey and find out what Canada could supply to Japan in the way of manufactured goods.

them, and John Cottam presented what he described as "the other side of the question." He argued that, but for the pioneer work done by representatives of United States organizations, there would not have been in Canada the taste which would have provided a field for domestic manufactured articles. He cult off the extra charge for gravel repairs on these two streets was the oil which calmed the waves and the council poured it on.

Ald. F. E. Harley, in supporting the motion, said that he was not in sympathy with Ald. Wilson, but he was in the council at the time the repairs were decided upon, and the city engineer had said that there would be no extra expense to the owners. According to Ald. Harley, this only applied to Hyman street, but the council last night included Pall Mall street also.

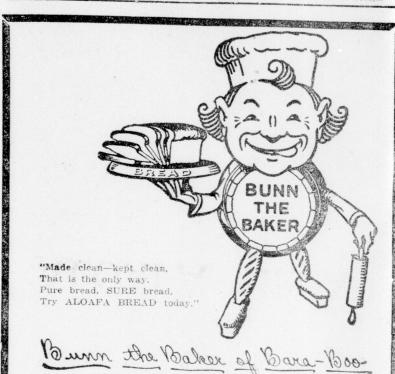

In connection with the city hall, Ald. S. R. Manness thought the destion of Sa day. The council, on motion of Ald. Holmes, decided to play and Holmes, decided to play and Holmes, decided to play and Holmes, the traffic bylaw was amended to make it compulsory for autoists to park their cars on the right hand of all paved streets, and the council material paved streets, and the right hand of all paved streets, and the right hand secretly by any man or woman who is losing the silmness of youth?
