

sions connected with the School is very much felt. Are there not some Churchmen and women in these dioceses who are able and willing to build this Hall? That the School may do the work of the Church and her children, it ought to be put in such a position financially that the fees may be reduced to a minimum to enable a class of young girls to receive the benefit of a higher education there, who are at present unable to avail themselves thereof by reason of expense, a disability which must to some extent remain, until friends of the School come forward with gifts of endowment.

Your trustee has caused 120 copies of the Calendar for 1894-95 to be placed on the table for the use of the Synod. The Calendar gives a complete history of the School and all other necessary information. I hope the Synod will renew the annual grant of $55 for prizes, as it is regarded by the School as a proof of the deep interest taken by the Church people of New Brunswick in its welfare. I am sure his Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton would be delighted with the School and its surroundings, and I am equally sure that the lady principal and her assistants would be delighted if his Lordship could make it convenient to pay the institution a visit while the School is in session.

In conclusion, I will only repeat what I have said in my former reports—that I hope that those who are able will remember the necessities of our "Church School for Girls," supplying as it does a need grievously felt for generations past. All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN B. FORSTER,
Trustee.

The Board recognize with profound thankfulness the continued health and prosperity of the School. It is indeed rarely to be found that a large Institution gathering together so many young people from widely separated places, should be able to put on record that during three years and a half no instance of sickness has occurred creating special anxiety. While every reasonable precaution is taken to secure immunity from sickness, yet its marked absence calls for special acknowledgment from all who properly recognize the blessings of continued health of body as well as of mind.

FRANCIS PARTRIDGE,
Chairman Joint Meeting of Trustees and Directors, Oct. 3rd, 1894.
