The "Imperial" Leads Them All

An Unsolicited Testimonial

Black Tickle, Labrador,
August 15, 1916.
Mr. C. E. Russell,
Dear Sir,—It pleases me very much to be able to give praise to the 5 h.p. Imperial Engine which I bought from you this spring. It has given me the best of satisfaction, and I can honestly recommend it to any fisherman wanting a reliable Engine. There are some five or six different makes of Engines used here, but the IMPERIAL can lead them all. It can steam faster than any of the five and a half of any kind used here. Wishing you all success. Yours truly,

MARK MORRISSEY,
C. E. Russell, Bay Roberts,
Agent for the "Imperial."

Actors Best Officers

They Impress Soldiers with Personality. Says Drill Sergeant

Actors always make the best army officers, according to a British drill sergeant who has had experience in an officer's training corps.

The drill sergeant, quoted in the London Daily Mail, made the statement positively.

"First of all," he said, "they know how to give the word of command, a very important consideration. They are never shy or self-conscious, and they impress the men with their personality. Give me an educated actor and I will promise you a good officer."

"Schoolmasters make the best non-commissioned officers. Business men I have found rather difficult. They are intelligent enough, but they are not what you may call adaptable."

A staff officer, speaking on the same subject, said:

"Professions calling for the exercise of imagination and observation, generally speaking, provide first class officers. Two officers on trencher service constantly distinguished themselves by keen observations. They were invariably the first to notice any change in the enemy's dispositions, and both were Fleet Street journalists."

"Natural resource rather than trained intelligence counts on active service, and, while this quality may be possessed by men in all professions, it is more often found among journalists, barristers and, of course, engineers, whom I place in a class apart."

Warfare of the Huns

Germans Use Non-Combatants as Fire Screen

"A terrible day of wrath awaits Germany when the nations of the earth have time to reflect upon the methods of German warfare, and when they are not afraid of being dragged into it as participants of its horrors."

Thus writes a Dutch statesman in a powerful comment upon the indictment that France brings against German officers in their treatment of French non-combatants in the occupied territory of their enemy.

The full story, with affidavits and other documentary proof, that have been presented to the public already, are so shocking in their inhumanity that it is difficult for the human mind to conjure up grosser depictions from the law of nations and the dictates of sanity.

We can only submit a few instances of German brutality. They must speak for themselves without further comment.

In the Aisne Department a farmer who did not want to work was addressed and sent, almost naked, into the fields under rifle and shell fire, with his eyes bandaged and his hands bound. He was left there a day and then taken as a hostage to Germany.

Many witnesses declare that at different places, particularly in the Departments of the Aisne and Pas de Calais, the inhabitants were forced to work in the trenches.

A youth of 16 states that in October, 1914, he was forced, with some 50 comrades, to do trench work in the Plan of L. in the Pas de Calais, for six days. They were then taken to L., where the Germans used them as shields. Forty of them were killed. The witness was wounded by the splinter of a '75 shell.

This practice has been extended to Lille and the district, as is shown by the correspondence exchanged between the Governor and the Mayor of Lille.

Drowned

The body of Mr. Alex Bryden, agent for the Sun Life Insurance Co. at St. John's, was found in Bay Bulls harbor on Monday morning. Mr. Bryden left St. John's, by the evening train on Saturday on a business trip to Bay Bulls, and put up at the Seaview Hotel there.

He had breakfast at the hotel on Sunday morning, and left there unaccompanied at 9:30 o'clock. It was thought to visit the large fish plant of the Nfld. American Fish Packing Co. now in course of erection at Bay Bulls. He was last seen, at noon Sunday, by one of the employees of the plant.

As Mr. Bryden did not return to the hotel for dinner or tea on Sunday, his friends became anxious about him and sought his whereabouts, but without avail. On Monday morning, however, about 9:30, a fisherman saw the form of a man lying in the landwash and reported the matter to Constable Fahey.

The constable, with Dr. Smith, Messrs. J. Clouston, W. J. Ellis and others, accompanied the fisherman to the seashore, and identified the body as that of Mr. Bryden.

The theory advanced is that the unfortunate victim while crossing the main bridge at the bottom of Bay Bulls harbor, fell over and was drowned early in the afternoon, and that the body was carried in on the beach by the tide.

The remains were taken to St. John's by Constable Fahey and placed in the morgue, at which place Doctors Scully and Mitchell held a post mortem examination on Monday evening and pronounced death due to accidental drowning.

Obituary

The late Mrs. Richard Finn, of Spaniards Bay, who passed away on Monday evening, Oct. 30, was the oldest as well as one of the most respected residents of this place. In a few months the deceased would have passed the ripe old age of 93 years, and was one of the few last relics of a day that is long since lost sight of in the mists and shadows of the past.

Her health was good, and her mind lost very little of its usual vigor to within a short time of her death. She was a woman of more than ordinary intelligence, possessing a rich fund of information on local subjects and topics of general interest, and she could tell of events that happened away back in the days of the early forties, and describe every detail as minutely as if they were incidents of only a few years past.

Her husband predeceased her 27 years ago. Of the family there are living one son, Edward, of the Reid Nfld. Co., and two daughters, Mrs. (Capt.) James Ryan, and Mrs. Anastasia Ryan. Seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren also survive her.

A Resolution

To keep my health! To do my work! To live!
To see to it I grow and gain and give!
Never to look behind me for an hour!
To wait in weakness and walk in power!
But always fronting forward to the light!
Always and always facing toward the right!
Robbed, starved or defeated, fallen, wide astray—
On, with what strength I have! Back to the way.

Some Difference

The difference in freight charges between this port and New York have increased in many cases more than two hundred per cent. since the cut break of the war. Kerosene oil, previous to August 1914, was freighted at 80 cents a cask; today the rate is in the vicinity of $3.00 a cask.—News.
