Notes and Comments

The question now is: Who will become the leader of the Liberal Party and of the Opposition in the House? Some say Mr. A. B. Morice; others say Dr. Lloyd; others say Mr. W. F. Coaker.

Drunkness in the Postal Telegraph Dept. eh? That's not surprising. The wonder is that things are not worse.

He Had Him

The alien enemies interned at a certain camp often play jokes on farm laborers who pass their barbed-wire entanglements. The other morning a specially stalwart ploughman passed along the road, and one German, thinking to have a laugh at him, shouted out: "Kitchener wants you! Kitchener wants you!"

A Contradiction (Editor the Guardian).

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space to refer to a letter in your paper of the 18th inst. (re a False Rumor) from Mrs. George Bradbury, of Coley's Point. Very sorry that I have contradicted her statement, which is absolutely false.

I forgave them to trouble no further about it, until I see this false letter in your paper. So I think I am doing right to contradict such a false statement.

Bareneed Notes

Mr. John Bartlett, who is doing service on board H. M. S. Briton, arrived home by Friday morning's train on a brief visit. He returned to duty again by Monday morning's train.

There was in town on Thursday, Mar. 16th, Mr. S. H. Fedens, eye specialist, of St. John's.

On Saturday morning there arrived in town Mr. Lidstone, formerly of Port de Grave but for the last few years a resident of St. John's. Mr. Lidstone proceeded to Port de Grave in the evening, visiting his friends. He occupied the pulpit of the Methodist Church at that place Sunday morning and afternoon, assisted by another layman friend who arrived in town with him.

On Sunday morning and afternoon the Methodist pulpit was occupied by Mr. Soper, a well known and respected layman of the Methodist Church, St. John's, and in the evening, Mr. Lidstone, when a very helpful prayer meeting was held. Mr. Soper drove to Clark's Beach after the afternoon service and occupied the Methodist Church pulpit of that town in the evening. Mar. 23. Correspondent.
