CHAUTAUQUA OPENED SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Week's Programme of Lectures and Concerts Began on the Barrack Green—Fine Lecture Delivered By War Correspondent—McKinnie Operatic Co. Pleases in Concert.

"The sinking of unarmed ships, drowning women and children, is an act which dooms and damns the nation which stands for it." There is no doubt of the sentiments of Peter MacQueen, war correspondent, towards the German Emperor, for with no uncertain sound this lecturer, who has been in all the countries engaged in the war told an audience just what he thought of the Kaiser and his policy. The lecture was the third event in the Chautauqua programme, and was given Saturday evening before a rather small audience. Peter MacQueen is a very original, lively speaker and his comments on events in "The Great World War," illustrated by splendid pictures, held those present in deep interest. His own personal experiences well described with many humorous touches, added much to the enjoyment.

The St. John Chautauqua opened on Saturday afternoon in their tent erected at Barrack Square.

F. A. Dykeman, as chairman, addressed those present, telling them of the intellectual, scientific and pleasurable events planned for the week.

Miss Maddie Hamilton, Field Secretary for the United States, was then introduced and spoke of the unusual beginning being made in St. John by the small attendance, and the success which had attended Chautauqua elsewhere. Miss Hamilton then gave her series lecture upon "The Larger Democracy," pointing out that Great Britain was the great democrat of the world and showing how the great world movement was toward the freedom and divinity of man.

The McKinnie Operatic Company then gave a good programme of solos and quartettes. Miss Margaret Day gave two piano solos.

Miss Frances Flickie, of Swarthmore College, Pa., the junior superintendent was introduced and explained the work among the children. The Tent Crew, all college boys, were also presented to the audience.

The evening meeting was opened by Miss Hamilton, who explained the Chautauqua movement, stating that it does not offer to compete with the "movies," as they attract a different crowd. "Chautauqua believes in the movies, but Chautauqua ranks with schools, churches and colleges," Miss Hamilton said.

The McKinnies then gave in costume the fourth act of Il Trovatore, Telka Farm McKinnie taking the part of Leonora. The operatic selections were appreciated, the solo by Miss Lewis, "Come to the Mountains," being especially pleasing.

Then followed a lecture by Peter MacQueen, which was illustrated by many colored pictures, very beautiful and unusual, and his praise of all the British soldiers, including of course, the colonials, was very warmly expressed.

THE TRAVELLER LEARNS.

It doesn't pay to take it for granted that the native Londoner has no sense of humor, as one American officer of the newly organized engineers found out. This man went into a barber shop for a shave and fell to bragging about the United States of America.

"Why in America," he declared, "we all specialize. You should stick to one thing and master it completely."

The barber, who meanwhile had been lathering his customer's face, nodded assent, but said nothing. He then left the American and sat down to enjoy his newspaper.

"Why don't you shave me?" inquired the American.

"Oh, we only lather here," coolly replied the barber. "You must go next door to be shaved."
