Rules Broken, Initiation At Acadia Ends Abruptly

College Won't Pay Fuel Bill

Ottawa — (CUP) — The Student Association of Carleton College has announced that its finances are in a critical condition. Refusal of the College to pay for the heating of the Union this winter and the necessity of paying an unusual large debt in connection with last year's Raven, student magazine, were said to be the reasons for this condition.

In reading her report, Council Treasurer Ricky Cohen stated that at least $800 was needed to see the council balance a minimum budget. That figure, she said, was barely enough to cover expenses. It would be too small to allow the Council funds with which to issue grants to various clubs at the College.

The council sent a delegation to F. J. Turner, Bursar for Carleton. The main purpose of their talk with Mr. Turner was to attempt to persuade college authorities to again take over payments for the heating of the Union.

Another drain on council funds, expenses on magazines, lighting and telephones, all in the Union, came under discussion. It was unanimously decided by members of the council to adopt some means of raising money. Suggestions for fund-raising schemes included sponsoring barn dances, a ping-pong tournament and possibly a variety show.

Professor Vingoe Elected Fellow

The United Kingdom Information Office has announced that Professor R. H. Vingoe, Professor of Philosophy, has been elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts.

Professor Vingoe came to Dalhousie University in 1949 to accept the position of assistant professor of philosophy. He was graduated from McMaster University with a Bachelor of Arts degree and took his Master of Arts at the University of Toronto.

WOLFVILLE — (CUP) — Violation of rules brought to a dead stop initiation activities at Acadia University this year, and resulted in a statement from University President Watson Kirkconnell explaining Acadia's position with regard to such things.

Dr. Kirkconnell said in part: "The Board of governors is legally responsible for all that is done by the students of Acadia. The sophomore class, on the other hand, or any other student organization has no corporate existence in the eyes of the law. If a student is maimed or has his health impaired in the course of an initiation it is the university as a corporate body that will be sued. It is likewise the university which suffers if, in any other way, the conduct of its students loses it the support and confidence of the public.

"The limitations placed on initiation at Acadia grow chiefly out of the need for avoiding public liability. The university physician reports that in his experience painting the skin has sometimes given rise to obstinate skin diseases, that throwing vinegar in the eyes has impaired eyesight, and that soaking a victim with water has resulted in pneumonia. Heart cases can prove fatal and medical certificates must be respected. The fact that at least a third of our student body have to receive financial assistance from the university indicates, moreover, that the ruining of clothes could be a calamity to many. The restriction of initiation to university property is a precautionary measure to avoid incurring public liability from the reckless acts of an excited group.

Newman Club Holds Meeting

Ron Nugent conducted a short informal discussion at the Newman Club Sunday night. The topic dealt with was "What can this Newman Club do to make it more worthwhile?" and many suggestions were made to improve the spiritual, intellectual, and social aspects of the program. A social followed this short meeting.

Air Problems Of University Publications

Delegates from five Maritime Universities met at St. Francis Xavier University October 18-21 for the third annual Maritime Regional Canadian University Press Convention.

Bill Duignan was chairman for the occasion.

The question of feature exchanges among the different universities was raised and it was emphasized that the service also applied to editorials. The purpose of the exchange it was pointed out was to give each university an opportunity to read of important problems of neighbouring colleges which one university by itself could not hope to cover fully.

One topic of general interest that arose was the question of support of national and international student organizations. It was unanimous among the delegates that all student organizations should be given adequate publicity. At the same time editors were unanimously granted the right to criticize or promote these organizations as they might see fit.

Ray Roy, delegate from the University of New Brunswick moved a motion that the Maritime Universities representatives to the C.U.P. Conference to be held at Hamilton this Christmas, should meet and try to maintain a united front, on ideas concerning the interest of Maritime universities. In the past it was pointed out, because of a majority vote at the National Conference, the Maritime universities has been pushed into the background by the larger Upper Canadian colleges. Only by maintaining a united front, the delegates felt, would the Maritimes be able to voice an audible opinion.

St. Francis Xavier University was named Regional Bureau for the Maritime Universities.

The conference next year it was decided would be held at the University of New Brunswick.

Rawhide at Dal Gym November 6

Don't forget! Halifax's own Rawhide will be at the gym on Tuesday, November 6. The Black and Gold Revue, sponsored by the I.S.S. and the Rink Rats, will present Rawhide himself, straight from the C.B.C. in Toronto, as well as a cast of Dal performers.

Ticket sale will start at Phinney's on Friday, November 2. Tickets will also be available at the Arts and Forrest Buildings and from Butsie, and can be obtained now from members of the Rink Rats and I.S.S. committees. Prices are 50c for students, 75c for general admission, and a dollar for reserved seats.

Be sure to keep free the evening of Tuesday, November 6, and get your tickets as soon as possible.

Enjoyable Dance is Held at Pine Hill

Pine Hill's Fall Ball was held last Friday night with Alf Coward's orchestra providing the music. Bright leaves and Halloween decorations made the room very attractive. Fifty-eight couples were present to enjoy the dancing and refreshments.

NOTICE

A chorus rehearsal will take place Thursday evening at 7.00 p.m. for women, and 7.45 for men. The rehearsal will be short because of the Inter-University Drama Festival which opens the same evening.

Smash Cornwallis 50-1; Dal In Greatest Scoring Spree Of 1951 Football Season

By Jerry Gaydamack

The Dalhousie Tigers swamped Cornwallis 50-1 last Saturday at the Studley Campus to take over sole possession of first place. It was a game only for the first quarter as Dal were held to a single touchdown. The Bengals led by Reg Cluney and Scot Henderson, who each scored two touchdowns, went on their greatest scoring spree of the season while holding the men from Deep Brook to a lone point.

Royal Couple To Visit Dalhousie

Although plans are not yet completed, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip are scheduled to make a two-minute visit to Dalhousie campus on November 8, when the Royal couple are due to arrive in Halifax.

The exact place where the stop will be made is not definitely settled and other details concerning the visit are still a little vague. It is known that the Dalhousie-Kings contingent of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps has volunteered to help with the control of pedestrian traffic while their Royal Highnesses are stopping at the university.

Drama Festival Will Open at Gym Thurs.

Four universities are again participating in the Inter-University Drama Festival which begins Thursday, November 1, at the Dalhousie Gym with the DGDS production, "God Caesar." Kings will present their play "Everlasting Flowers" the same evening.

The Festival gets underway at 8.30. Acadia University's presentation, "Abraham and Isaac," will be given Friday evening and the Festival comes to a conclusion the following Monday night with the play, "The Monkey's Paw," produced by Mount Allison University.

C. L. Bennet is directing the Dalhousie entry, whose cast is composed of the following: Dave Peel Caesar; Natasha Coffin (Calpurnia); Ron Pugsley (Taro); Joanne Murphy (Cleopatra).

Twirp Season Flops, Few Gals Take Guys To Game

The cliché "student apathy" describes perfectly the attitude taken by the freshman class toward their well-planned but ill-carried out Twirp Season affair Saturday afternoon. That the Freshettes buy their own and their escorts' football tickets and that the entire class appear wearing their dinks was indeed a noble idea. Its execution, however, was a poor representation of the unusual enthusiasm and group spirit displayed at the Thursday noon meeting of the Class of '55. The number of girls that competed by bringing men is negligible. And, aside from the yellow and black caps worn by the badly supported cheerleaders, not more than one beanie was seen. Can it be that there is only one individual who retained enough spirit (the Class of '55 is so proud of) so as to make it obvious to the rest of the student body?

The paramount issue last spring of Eric Kinsman's election campaign for president of the Student Council was "to bring about a regeneration of student interest at

In the opening minutes of play Henderson received a handoff from quarterback McKay to go over on a line buck for Dal's first score of the game. The convert was blocked to end the scoring in the first frame.

Dal opened fast in the second quarter as McKay and Cluney picked up first downs to carry the play deep in the sailors' end. Then McKay passed complete to Chuck Johnson to score the touchdown. The attempted convert was blocked by Barron. Cluney later attempted a field goal which was unsuccessful and on a second try the kick was blocked. However, Dal scored again on an extension play when McKay and Mooney teamed up to send Henderson over for his second major of the game. The Dal convert was good and at half time Dal led by a comfortable 16-0 margin.

In the third quarter the Collegians made the play of the game when McKay, in attempting a field goal, snatched the ball and threw a long pass to Gary Watson to start the Tigers on their merry way. On the next play Cluney scored on an end run and added the extra point when he kicked the convert. Cornwallis broke into the scoring column in this frame when Williamson kicked a rouge for the sailors' only point of the game and the score read Dal 22, Cornwallis 1.

In the fourth quarter the roaring Tigers broke out in a barrage of T.D.'s as they made a determined bid to increase their margin of victory. The men from the campus outplayed the sailors in every way as they took over complete control of the play to score almost at will. The Bengals roared down the field picking up three successive first downs, to set the play up for another Dal touchdown. Then Cluney went over the goal line after receiving a lateral pass from McCullough and the shifty quarterback threw a long pass to Young for the convert. It was the second time Dal had executed this play to their (Continued on Page Four)

Law Holds Highly Successful Dance

The annual Law Ball was held Friday evening in the Nova Scotian Hotel when Law and Pre-Law students turned out in force for what was termed the best Ball in many years.

The committee in charge of arrangements were Don Goode, Kevin Griffin and Sheila Parsons. Dean Horace Read and Mrs. Read, Professor and Mrs. W. E. Lederman and Professor and Mrs. R. G. Murray acted as chaperones.

Les Singles orchestra provided the dance music.

Dalhousie." If the Freshman class would show the same ambition in carrying out the various projects as it did in drawing them up, the term "student apathy" will become an outdated expression at Dal. Let's hope the sorry showing at the Cornwallis game is not an indication of the success of future activities.
