

Some souls may grow serene
Beside the sea;
Some lives enkindle 'neath
The spreading tree.

Some find their altar shrine
High on the hill;
Some in the shady glen,
Where all is still.