A Christmas Hymn.

No tramp of marching armies, No banners flaming far,
A lamp white as a star,
And in the sky a star;
Their hymns of praise and gladness Their "Gloria in excelsis" To earth the angels brought,
To earth the angels brought,
When in the lowly manger
The holy mother said
In tender consolation
Her babe of Heaven laid.
Born lowly in the darkness, And none so poor as He,
The little children of the past His very own shall be.
No rash of hostile armies, But just the building sheep,
The angels singing of the Christ,
And all the world asleep.
No flame of conquering banners,
No tongues of fire a star,
A lamp white as a star,
And in the sky a star.

—MANOAH B. SANDOZ, in Collier's Weekly.

Christmas Romance.

Me a preparing for Christmas—me.
Goodness knows I wish I was not Christmas doing ain't for me no more. And just because I was baking something to eat to morrow, which happens to be Christmas, she thought I was preparing for that day a special.

Betty Green signed as she placed the pie in the oven, and pulled a chair up beside the stove. The neighbor, who had but recently moved into town, and knew nothing of Betty's history, had just left. With the Christmas spirit everywhere she

A CHRISTMAS WISH.

"A Christmas that puts first things first, spirit before symbol and Christ before Santa Claus; that hallows the homes and transfigures the face and consecrates both self and pocket-book to the loving service of others; a Christmas that through its great good tidings brings strength to bear our burdens, balm to soothe our sorrow, inspiration to glorify our labor and poise for our sometimes harrassed souls; a Christmas that reminds us of the beautiful old stories of the Magi and the shepherds and the choir of angels, and that transforms our hearts into living mangers, cradling anew the eternal, inexhaustible, Christbegotting, world-transforming love-spirit of the Father—may this Christmas, good friends—this merry, blessed, Christ-filled Christmas—be yours."

had thought that Betty was preparing a feast for the day.
Now, if Jim hadn't never sailed away on that water-logged old Mary Ann, as he did a going on four years ago, I guess I could have been preparing for Christmas like other folk.
If there hadn't been nobody else, Jim and me could have enjoyed Christmas, and then maybe there'd been somebody else—somebody what just about so we would have been liking dolls or his cars, and if so Jim and me would have been having a Christmas tree for somebody and we'd be having the best Christmas in all South Cove.
My, how I did try to keep Jim from sailing in that Mary Ann. Anybody what knew about ships knew she wasn't fit to go to sea in, she would spend her Christmas eve, would live over again the courting days. And Jim should be there with her. That would be her Christmas.

With care she took each garment from its wrappings in the bureau drawer and spread them on the bed.
The pretty wedding dress which Sarah Glover helped her make—yes, she would put it on tonight just as she planned to four years ago. Jim would like her to do that; he always liked to see her prettily dressed, and maybe Jim might see her from the spirit world tonight.

As she fastened the gowns she almost forgot that Jim could not be there; that it was all a make-believe.
As she stood before the mirror the smile of four years ago came back again. She noted the color in her cheeks; it was like a bridal blush.

A rap at the door dispelled the illusion she had permitted herself for a few minutes. She could not go to the door in that dress. The caller would have to wait, but he did not wait.
She heard the door swing, a heavy step on the floor, and a voice—oh—such a familiar voice—calling Betty.

"Jim! My Jim!" she answered to Jim's call of the shipwreck on the Patagonian coast, of the months and years of practical captivity before he could get back to a seaport.

"And now," he said, "I am home to claim my Christmas bride."

Will Soon Be Able to Talk By Wireless.

SIGNOR MARCONI WORKING ON NEW SYSTEM THAT FRIENDS SAY IS NEARLY PERFECTED

Signor Marconi suspended the business of the wireless telegraph stations at Glace Bay, N. S., and Clifton the other day for half an hour and experimented with his wireless telephone apparatus between the two places.
When he had fully tried out the features of the apparatus upon which his interest is now centered he allowed the regular telegraphic work to be resumed.

No information regarding the outcome of the experiment could be learned from Signor Marconi. The operators at both stations, aside from smiling blandly, would not commit themselves. It has been established that Signor Marconi had made decided strides in the perfecting of the new system and those who are acquainted with his recent work are confident that he believes he is very near the solution of the problem of telephoning without wires.

Signor Marconi was to have been in Louisburg to aid in the opening of the new station established there, last month, but was so interested in developments of his telephonic device that he refused to interrupt his experiments. Not since the perfecting of the wireless telegraph has he shown such absorption in his work.

A recent addition to his wireless stations is a dictograph arrangement which repeats messages in two or more stations at the same time. In an experiment at Louisburg the apparatus was applied and ticked off a message at the Irish station exactly as if the message was being sent direct.

Christmas Frankincense.

Two plain people centuries ago hoteled in a village barn after a walk of eight miles. No loads of state were awaiting in antechamber as when other kings are born. No messengers mounted at the doorway ready to herald the advent from city to city.
No satin-lined cradle to receive the infantile guest. But a monarch born in the hovelary called the house of Glim Hain; the night with diamond-finger pointing down to the place; the door of heaven set wide open to look out; from orchestral batons of light dripping the oratorio of the Messiah and on the lowest doorstep the minstrels of God discouraging glory and good will. Later white-bearded astrologists kneel and from leathern pouches chink the shekels and Don't Dope With Alcoholic Tonics.

This is honest advice for you who are run-down and sick—don't dope with alcoholic tonics. We're backing this advice with our personal guarantee of satisfaction to you, or your money back.

There are a lot of so-called tonics on the market that do not depend for their short-lived popularity on any real merit they possess, but upon the fact that the alcohol in most of them, and the dangerous or habit forming drugs in some of them, give a few moments' exhilaration and liveliness after a dose is taken. After awhile even this effect ceases to take place, and the unfortunate patient, worse off than before, turns for relief to something else.

Don't dope you, self with such stuff.
Take real medicine that will do you real good, that will apply to your system the strengthening, diseaserepelling ingredients it needs. Take Reckitt's Olive Oil Emulsion, and get well and keep well. It is a real food and nerve-tonic medicine. It contains no alcohol nor any other dangerous or habit forming drugs, but is made entirely from ingredients needed to build up the strength and the health

Fit His Case Exactly.

"When father was sick about six years ago he read advertisement of Chamberlain's Tablets in the papers that fit his case exactly," writes Miss Margaret chased a box of them and he has not been sick since. My sister had stomach trouble and was also benefited by them.

Cured of Liver Complaint.

"I was suffering with liver complaint," writes Mrs. J. P. Jones, "and was unable to eat, and my doctor advised me to try Reckitt's Olive Oil Emulsion, and you know, it completely cured me and I recommend them to every one." For sale by all dealers.

You who are weak and run-down, and who are apparently well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Reckitt's Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. For the tired-out, run-down, nervous, emaciated or debilitated—the convalescing—growing children—aged people—it is a sensible aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health.

Reckitt's Olive Oil Emulsion—king of the celebrated Reckitt Remedies—is for freedom from sickness of you and your family. Pleasant tasting—unlike the cod liver oil preparations—you'll be as enthusiastic about it as we are when you have noted its strengthening, invigorating, building, up, disease preventing effects. If it does not help you, your money will be given back to you without argument. Sold in this community only at our store—The Reckitt Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States, Canada and Great Britain. A. V. Rand,

Irritations and Eruptions of the Skin

Besides that annoying and torturing itching of eczema, you can't forget that, left to itself, it becomes chronic and spreads over the body.

It is wonderful how quickly Dr.
Chase's Ointment affords relief from the itching and sets the healing process in action. Gradually the sores disappear and new, smooth skin takes their place.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Concession, Ont., writes:—"For five years I suffered with what three doctors called psoriasis or chronic eczema. They could not help me, and one of them told me if as I could not be cured. The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head, and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen.
I can hardly praise this ointment enough."

Dr. Chase's Ointment owes its wonderful success to the fact that it positively cures eczema. Put it to the test. 50c. a box, 3 for $1.50.

How to Bankrupt the Doctors.

A prominent New York physician says, "This cold shows signs by whom the doctors would probably be bankrupt." When you contract a cold do not wait for it to develop into pneumonia but treat it at once. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is intended especially for coughs and colds, and has won a wide reputation by its cures of those diseases. It is most effectual and pleasant and safe to take.
