Early Snow Storms Drive Baseball Hunters Out of The Woods on the Tobique

Bob Shawkey's Expedition Up to Their Waists in Snow and Lucky to Get Ten Deer and Big Moose--Babe Ruth Goes Home Without Bear Cub For Little Dorothy--Party Coming Back Next Year.

[Special Despatch to The Daily Gleaner.] Nictau, N. B., Oct. 31.—Unprecedented early snow storms which in the words of Eddie Collins, manager of the White Sox, put them in snow "up to their waists," forced the party of American League baseball players organized by Bob Shawkey, the veteran New York Yankee hurler, to cut short their hunting trip and to-day they are on their way back to their homes. Almost every day, since the first day they were in the woods, there has been heavy snow at Nepisiguit Lakes, the streams and the lakes are frozen over and conditions were such that it was impossible to get through the woods and over the barrens to hunt moose since the opening day when Shawkey shot one of the biggest moose taken this year in New Brunswick, the animal having antlers which spread 56 inches and had 28 points.

Got Three Big Bucks. However, they got a large complement of deer, shooting no less than ten—and they say they could have had a lot more deer had they wanted to kill them. Included in the ten deer were three large bucks; they were shot by Babe Ruth, the Sultan of Swat; Benny Bengough, the Yankees' catcher; and George Casin, a radio man from Philadelphia, who was one of the party. These bucks had such excellent antlers that all three heads are being sent direct to taxidermists to be mounted.

The shooting of the one big moose which the party killed involved more excitement than any brief reports indicated. While Shawkey finally brought it down, Bengough first got a line on it and he shot it—but only wounded it. The big monster tore through the woods for some distance, infuriated with its wounds, until Shawkey's steady aim brought it down. The moose head is being sent along to be mounted with the heads of the three buck deer. Most of the carcass of the moose together with half a dozen or more deer carcasses were taken along by the party when they left here this morning in automobiles en route to Fort Fairfield, Me., where they will catch a train that will land them in Boston on Sunday morning about 3 o'clock.

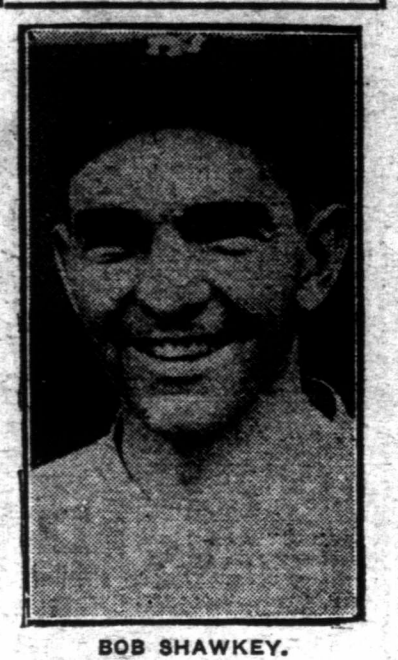

Babe Ruth Put on Weight. Despite the unfavorable weather which spoiled conditions for hunting, all the members of the party declared they had enjoyed the trip and said they would come back to New Brunswick again next year. Babe Ruth looked like a different man than when he went into the woods. "There is no doubt that this trip has done the Babe a lot of good," said Eddie Collins. "It has got the big fellow started on the right road to regaining his good health. While he took on some weight—for he ate like a horse—the fact that he walked the whole twenty eight or thirty miles out from the Nepisiguit Lakes camps to here, shows that he is stronger and better than when he went into the woods. Muddy Ruel, the Washington catcher, has also regained some of the weight he lost during the nerve wracking world's series. "This is the greatest kind of a tonic anybody ever tried," said Muddy to-day. "I would be ready to start another season grind tomorrow if I had to. I only wish old 'Barney' (Walter Johnson, his batterymate) had been along with us." Eddie Collins said that his injured leg, which kept him out of the game during the last weeks of the baseball season, had improved. "My leg is all right again," said the White Sox manager. "I was able to walk as far as we could walk in the deep snow that existed everywhere at the Lakes and it didn't bother me a bit to walk out the twenty eight or thirty miles in a blizzard. When the bearings next spring I'll be in there at second base again and, you can also say, I have great hopes for the White Sox next season. There isn't anything more we can say about baseball; we didn't talk about baseball in the woods—we went in there to try to forget about baseball."

The Babe and a Bear. Babe Ruth didn't get the bear his daughter, Dorothy, instructed him to take back home to her. But Babe had a narrow escape from coming into close contact with a bear while trudging along the trail in a blizzard yesterday coming out of the woods. Suddenly there loomed up before him in the deep snow a big dark object. Babe put his rifle up to his shoulder and wanted to fire, but his guide said no. The guide thought it was a call moose having trouble to get through the deep snow; then the object made a couple of sudden bounds—and sure enough it was a bear. If the guide had allowed Babe to shoot he would have had a bear for Dorothy—but it would have been a dead one instead of a cub for her to play with. One of the objectives of the party was to get home for election day on Tuesday. Bob Shawkey, Eddie Collins and Joe Bush, together with their friends, George Cairns and John Ralston, Philadelphia business men, expect to reach Philadelphia either late on Sunday night or early Monday morning. Babe Ruth goes direct to his farm at Sudbury, Mass. Muddy Ruel may stop off at Washington on the way to his home at St. Louis, while Benny Bengough is heading for his home at Buffalo, N. Y.

Frederickton Kids—and Grow-ups—Won't Get Chance to Shake Babe Ruth's Hand. Frederickton boys—and grow-ups too—who have been anticipating shaking hands with Babe Ruth are doomed to disappointment. For the Sultan of Swat is not coming to Frederickton. Eddie Collins, manager of the Chicago White Sox, telephoned here this morning from the Tobique that because the unprecedented storms had driven them out of the woods earlier than expected the members of Bob Shawkey's hunting party would go direct to Boston, catching a train at Fort Fairfield, Me., this afternoon. "Much as we would like to return to Frederickton again," said the Peer of Second Basemen, "we will be unable to do so. If we could get a train out of Frederickton for Boston on Sunday we would make the trip, but we find we cannot leave Frederickton until Monday night, and the Philadelphia members of the party are anxious to get home for Tuesday, which is our election day. Bob Shawkey, Joe Bush and myself know what Frederickton hospitality is like and we are especially sorry not to be able to return. We have told Babe Ruth, Muddy Ruel and Benny Bengough so much about Frederickton that they wanted to go down too. But we'll see you next year."

Bouls Last Night

[The Associated Press.] Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 31.—Jimmy Goodrich ran into a surprise here last night in defence of his light-weight title against Gene Johnson, of Elizabeth, the latter receiving the verdict of newspaper men at the ringside after ten fast rounds. ### KEN EDNEY ROLLS HIGH SINGLE STRING

Established Total of 146 on Series of Spares at Palace Alleys. A record single-string total was rolled this week on the Palace Alleys by Ken Edney, who established a total of 146 pins in his third string as a member of the Ramblers in their City Bowling League game against the Shorties. Edney's string included two nine-pin spares, three eight-pin spares, one seven-pin spare and a two-pin spare. Bad luck on the latter two spares score far below that which he might have established on this string. In the other two strings he rolled 82 and 109.

YALE BATTLING WEST POINTERS

One of the Great Games of the U. S. Football Season at New Haven To-day. [Special Despatch to The Daily Gleaner.] New York, Oct. 31.—One of the great games of the year will be played to-day in the Yale Bowl, when the Yale and Army football elevens grapple in their annual classic. The Cadets to New Haven, Conn., readily edipses anything in Yale sports events. Tickets for this contest are more difficult to obtain than for any other Yale game, and were the Bowls capable of holding thousands more every seat would be occupied. Incidentally this battle is undoubtedly the hardest on the schedule of other Yale or Army, and once by this obstacle clear sailing should be the course of both. The Cadets, the military mixture, the gay colors, and lastly, but by no means least, the records of the competitive teams make the setting of this year's Army-Yale game ideal. Naturally, the objective of the Army is the Navy, and of Yale both Princeton and Harvard, but despite these items the seat and vigor of reversed rivals will be present to-day. Both Yale and the Army are equipped with well balanced teams, embracing all the qualities necessary to champions. Football of a lofty character will prevail with the eleven seizing the breaks emerging the victor. The ever unreliable figures favor the Army, but when it comes to the showdown the two teams appear to be evenly distributed. A comparison of the two machines yields little and a grand clash between two highly competitive elevens is in order. Since the revival of the Yale-Army football relations in 1921, and this great classic was inaugurated in the Bowls the West Pointers have failed to gain a victory, though two games resulted in ties.

Irrespective of the outcome of today's exhibition game at St. John this afternoon against the St. John Trojans, University of New Brunswick's football team, champions of the western section of the Maritime Provinces' Intercollegiate Rugby Football League, will get a huge reception from the student body this evening on their return from Wolfville, N. S., where they defeated Acadia University 16-0 on Thursday. Members of the undergraduate body as well as members of the local graduates and friends of the University plan to meet the champions on their arrival here to-night from St. John and to accord them a reception fitting to the victory and the championship with which they return. It was the first time in thirty years—ever since the two colleges took the gridiron against each other in intercollegiate football—that U. N. B. has been successful in defeating Acadia on the latter's grounds. This afternoon the Red and Black is meeting the Trojans in their third clash of the season, having already defeated the Trojans at St. John as well as in the Capital on the occasion of a return match. U. N. B.'s next game is against Dalhousie University here next week.

Hard Luck Boxer Knocked Self Out

[The Associated Press.] Boston, Oct. 31.—George Marble, of East Boston, knocked himself out last night and lost the hardest luck decision in the annals of local boxing. Marble met John Fitzgerald, of the same district, in a bout in the 126-pound class and had the better of the match. He knocked Fitzgerald down once in the first round, drove him into a corner and floored him with a terrific right to the jaw. Both threw punches backwards and he fell, landing on the back of his head with such force as to render him unconscious. With both boxers down, the referee began the count, and he had just reached the count of nine when Fitzgerald staggered to his feet. He was adjudged the winner. A large golden-head eagle swooped down upon a chicken yard at North Madison, Conn., but became entangled in a rambler roebush. The owner of the chickens battled with the eagle for several minutes before it was put to death. The bird, which measures seven feet from wing tip to wing tip, was sent to the American Museum of Natural History at New York.

PRINCETON PLAYING SWARTHMORE TO-DAY

The Tigers' Curtain Raiser Before "Big Three" Series is Commenced. [Special Despatch to The Daily Gleaner.] Princeton, N. J., Oct. 31.—The last campaign of the Princeton football team begins to-day, when Princeton and Swarthmore meet just before the beginning of the "Big Three" series. The curtain raiser, before the Princeton-Harvard game with the little Quakers, will not be an easy one for Princeton. The Tigers are favored to win, but the Pennsylvania team have established a tradition for scoring against Princeton in their annual games. Last year it was not until the last minute of play that the Swarthmore eleven scored, when a back intercepted a Princeton pass, and raced across the goal line for their touchdown. Bill Roper said this morning that he expected the Garnet to "get their usual touchdown" and intimated that it would come earlier in the game this year than it did last.

BOXERS SUSPENDED.

New York, Oct. 31.—William Ames, of Clifton, Mass., and string of boxers he manages, including Wee Willie Woods, Tommy Milligan and Frank Moody, were all suspended indefinitely by the New York State Boxing Commission yesterday because of the failure of Moody to go through with an agreement to fight Lew Chester here.

HIGH SCHOOL WAITS FOR CHALLENGERS

Yellow and Black Are "Sitting Pretty" on Interscholastic Football Throne.

Frederickton High School's football team, New Brunswick Interscholastic Rugby Football League champions, are "sitting pretty" waiting for the challengers which will launch them into a play-off or play-offs with other New Brunswick High School teams vying for the recognized High School League title of the New Brunswick title. As yet, however, there has been a whisper from the St. John headquarters of the amateur organization who have assumed control of the matters, other than that they would get in touch with St. Stephen's in order to discover the possibility of their joining other New Brunswick contenders for the provincial title. If no agreement is reached, the High School will be in a position to enter the interprovincial lists. This delay in action by St. John headquarters is wasting valuable time, however. The Yellow and Black champions complain that a great deal of time could have been saved had the officials been on the Intercollegiate League schedule and having any other competitors lined up for play-offs, or at least by having the play-off date arranged. Meanwhile the champions are maintaining condition by periodical practices.
