THE ONLY SANE PLATFORM

The Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden has definitely withdrawn from public life, and the best brains of the two old historic parties have decided to carry on under the name of the Liberal and Conservative Party. No other course was open to them. To pass Canada over to the forces of disruption at such a critical time as this without a fight would be to invite national suicide.
What stands out with startling clearness is that the days of indecision have ended. The issue is now as clear as noonday, and it is to be hoped that those members of the Opposition who have honestly felt that there was need of a fresh start will now come out on the side of national solidarity and safety against the detestable theory of group-government, which is the only real danger that threatens us.

We are at the parting of the ways. A combination of radical Nationalist, Quebecers, rabid Free-traders, Labor Unionists, North West Sectionalism (combining business and politics), Laurier Liberals and the U. F. O., once in power, would lead us swiftly to the brink of ruin. The solvency of every business in Canada, and the happiness of every citizen, is involved in the maintenance of Protection and in upholding the common rights against predatory groups. It is useless to talk of the People versus "Big Interests." The biggest interest of all is the safety, the happiness and the prosperity of Canada. The new platform is one that all Canadians can heartily accept. It stands firmly for adherence to the glorious confederacy of free men known as the British Empire; pronounces against sectionalism and group-selfishness in every form, takes its stand firmly upon the ground of equal rights as between Capital and Labor, gives its unqualified adherence to the task of bringing Canada into line with all reasonable advances made in the direction of ameliorating and uplifting the lot of the workingman, promises the most stringent economy in national expenditure, and takes a bold view of the international field of commerce and the problems of future expansion, and takes a bold view of the international field of commerce and the problem of future expansion. No fair-minded man can read this simple, bold, clear statement and not realize that the one imperative duty of the country is to rally round and support the only party that stands for the sacred unity of the State, and that comprises in its membership the ablest men of the two great historic groups. It is a true coalescence of all talents, and has this tremendous advantage: that brave patriotic men like the Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding and Sir Lomer Gouin could give their hearty adherence to its platform and not sacrifice a single title of their loyalty and honor.

Drawing On Your Reserve Strength

This is What Thousands of People Throughout the Country are Doing

Thousands of Canadian housewives are working from day to day on their nerve. They are daily drawing more and more on their reserve strength, knowing full well that they are using up that vital force which often means life or death in the crisis of disease. They are the victims of a feeling of hopeless exhaustion after the performance of even the small tasks which were once the simplest and easiest parts of the day's work. They find the appetite failing, sleep is disturbed and unrefreshing; they lose weight, and always feel tired and depressed. In this condition a blood building tonic is needed to restore health and activity, and for this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed. Often the trouble has progressed to a point which makes full recovery slow, but the treatment should be persisted in and renewed health and activity will be the result.

The case of Mrs. W. Schooley, R. R. No. 2, Tilsonburg, Ont., well illustrates the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of health breakdown, through weak, watery blood. Mrs. Schooley says: "For upwards of five years I felt my strength declining, until at last I could not do light chores around the place. Then a doctor was called in, and after doctoring about a month he said that only an operation would help me. I did not feel like going through this, and decided that in any event I would wait a while. I had no appetite, often had headaches accompanied by dizzy spells; several times I had fainting spells, and my legs would swell, and I could not even sweep a floor without resting several times. Again a doctor was called in and he said the trouble was general debility and nervous breakdown. The treatment, however, did not help me, and then one evening as my husband was reading the paper, he came across a case in many respects similar to mine, cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The next day he got me a supply of the Pills, and to their continued faithful use for several months, I owe my present splendid health. I may say that soon after beginning the use of the pills I felt a gradual improvement in my condition, my appetite improved, I began to feel rested after a night's sleep and I gained in weight. My friends were continually expressing surprise at my improved condition, as it was generally believed I had become a chronic invalid. I always take a delight in telling them that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are responsible for my present good health, and as they have been a real blessing to me I shall always continue to praise them."

If you are suffering from any condition due to poor, watery blood, or weak nerves, begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now, and note how your strength and health will improve. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent by mail, post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Not 'Appy

A travelling company performed in a tent on a wet and cold evening. The leading actor took the part of Appius Claudius, and he got very wet through a leak in the tent. On leaving the stage he was accosted by an admiring dame intent on congratulating him.
"Are you Appius Claudius?" she inquired.
"No madam," the actor replied, sternly; "I'm as miserable as sin."

CLASS-AGGRANDIZEMENT

In England and on the Continent labor aspires to take over the Government, and by means of legislative enactments seize all the means of production. We have not got that far yet in Canada, because, as compared with the farmers and all those outside of the Trades-Unions, labor, i. e., organized labor, is in a hopeless numerical minority. But the same purely selfish philosophy, the same ignoring of the true function of the State is apparent whenever the leaders of the labor movement get together.

There is something almost pathetic in the attitude taken up; so much is blindly taken for granted, so much is ignored. It is assumed that all that is necessary is the simple seizure of power by means of the vote and that, once power is gained, a new era in human affairs will at once dawn. But men and women are just the same the day after an election as they were before it took place. Human nature remains unchanged through all forms of Government.

There must, for example, be a responsible head of the state; there must be a standing army, or, at least, an adequate police force—some must order and the rest obey.

The basis of government is psychological, not emotional. What we call Justice is a rational compromise between opposing desires; that desire being certified as allowable which least conflicts with, or to put it another way, most helps the general welfare. Law is a curb on desire. Without it society would become a wild scramble for the goods of life, and, in the end, only those possessed of superior cunning or superior strength would prevail. The rest would either be killed off or enslaved. This is precisely what has taken place in Russia.

The fundamental fallacy of the labor leaders lies in supposing that the vote is for selfish use, i. e., that its ultimate benefit is to be found in its use as a means of coercion in the interests of a class. But the truth is that the vote is conferred in order that the whole nation may be benefited by its use. It was never intended as a means of class-aggrandizement. To vote as a member of a class and for a perversion of the franchise, is a defilement of it. To seek to set up a Labor Government or a Farmer's Government or a Capitalist's Government, is an abomination. No one class in the community has a right to seek domination over all the other classes. The division into parties should never rest on group-selfishness, but spring out of natural differences of temperament, heredity, conviction.

Men are born Conservatives or Liberals. There are natural fundamental differences in human nature itself. No harm is done if the race divides (as it always has and always will) into these two great groups. They naturally check each other. A world triumphantly and unassailably Conservative would die of the cancer of sloth and pride; a world given over wholly to reform and change would perish of excessive nervous and emotional strain. The end of fat and sluggishness is sloth; the end of neurosis is madness.

tiny "bebe" while she improved the time and her multirarious household duties or perhaps at making "une tasse de cafe pour les soldats." Nor do we think that the soldiers—big-hearted and fair-minded as they were—could have withheld their tenderness even had the tiny baby been a little Hun. However that may be the soldiers of Canada in his kindness and care for the weak and helpless, and sometimes suffering children, only typified the character of the nation to which he belongs. There are now millions of children of Europe who have been made fatherless and destitute by the war. Their case is pitiful beyond description. Ill nourished during the conflict, they need condensed milk, fats and sugar to recover into normal conditions of growth and health. Several millions of them can get those foods only as they are provided by other nations—chiefly the British Empire and the United States of America. The Canadian Red Cross is to make an appeal on their behalf during Armistice Week, when it will ask for contributions to the British Empire Relief Fund. The appeal for the Fund is being made throughout the whole Empire. Canadian contributions to the Fund will be forwarded through the Canadian Red Cross; and the British Red Cross, in cooperation with the League of Red Cross Societies, will direct their expenditure where most

TESTS

The incident of the Kentucky landlord who certified the sobriety of one of his customers on the ground that the latter was still able to move his fingers indicates the wide variation of the standards by which intoxication is measured. In Kansas City, as an instance, a man is considered sober until his money is spent.

Lantic Sugar

Pure Cane
Extra Quality

"Cream the butter with the sugar"

—the Cook-Book says—

"OH, come on, Mabel, I want to go shopping. It needn't take all afternoon to make a cake! Here, let me cream the butter and sugar. Watch how quick I can do it! If you'd ever used Lantic before you'd realize how quickly a fine sugar creams."

Lantic is a quick-acting sweetener, because it is fine. It distributes the pure cane sweetness speedily, thoroughly and economically. It saves time in the preparation of cakes, puddings and sauces, in the cooking of preserves, in the making of candy, in the sweetening of beverages, hot or cold. Not whiter are the snowy doilies and serviettes on the mahogany table; than the tiny crystals of Lantic that gleam and glisten in the sugar bowl. Not finer is the silver with its hall-mark. Yet, in homes where every penny counts, Lantic's goodness helps in the saving. It does go farther!
