DRAINAGE IS IMPORTANT

Some Benefits of a Well Devised Drainage Plan.

Guesswork Is the Poorest Method to Adopt—Get the Land Levels and Then Arrange for Tiling—How to Protect Drainage Outlets.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

WHEN a man is about to erect a building, he is ever so small, the first thing he does is to make a plan.
That plan may be on paper or it may exist only in the mind of the builder; yet it is a plan. Without a plan to follow, a builder cannot do good work. The same is true of tile drainage. The man who places a "string" or "line" of tile in a watercourse, which traverses his fields, should not do so without asking himself such questions as: "Am I putting this tile in the lowest part?" "Will I be able to get a satisfactory outlet? How many acres will this tile drain, and is it large enough to drain it satisfactorily? Have I sufficient grade to drain the holes in the rear fifty?" If he does not ask himself these questions he is like a builder without a plan; he is working in the dark; his work cannot be efficient. All these questions the drainage plan answers, and more.

No matter how small the means for immediate construction of drains, or how few the drains which one is about to install, he should not do so without having first laid out a plan of which these drains will be a part. On rolling land such a plan is not hard to decide upon, because the differences in elevation are very pronounced, and any one who is familiar with such lands is able to intelligently plan a system of drains for them. But where the area is large and the topography irregular, or very flat, guesswork is out of the question. It is then that we must resort to the tape and the levelling instrument for reliable information.
A drainage plan shows first of all the differences in height or elevation between all parts of the farm over which the survey extended. This allows the owner of the land to plan his own system of drainage. The possession of the level for all parts of the farm lays bare the most advantageous routes for tile drains, from a study of the levels and contours of a plan it is possible to calculate the acreage which each main tile must drain. This information together with the fall or grade procurable is the only true guide to help us decide upon the size in any one of our given drains. It is only when the planner before him that he can draft an efficient yet economical plan of drains for any piece of land.

Future Benefits.—The benefits of a plan do not end with the completion of the drainage system. Only those of us who have tried long and hard to find a drain, the location of which was nowhere recorded, know the value of guidance such as is offered by a plan. When a tile-drained farm is offered for sale the existence of a plan of drains adds greatly to the value of the farm. The plan is of equal value to both the seller and buyer. With proper care well-constructed tile drains will give good service for several generations; therefore for the convenience of our children and grandchildren it is necessary to have a plan of our underground drainage work.

There is another way in which a drainage plan is very helpful to a farm owner; it is a splendid guide toward ascertaining the acreage of any field or part of the farm. Fences are located on the plan, and the whole plan drawn to scale, so that with the aid of a rule it is possible to measure the area of any part of the land surveyed. This is of great assistance in planning a season's crops as well as in calculating yields per acre.

Protecting Drainage Outlets.
Tile, particularly clay tile, should not run out to the mouth of the drain. If a piece of old gas pipe, eight or ten feet long, can be secured, this should be placed in the drain in place of the last few tiles. Failing this, a piece of corrugated steel, or even a plank trough is much better than running the tile right to the end, where they will be broken, washed in to the outlet, or otherwise destroyed, allowing the earth to roll in and stop the flow of water.

Under any condition the bank is liable to wear away. Animals pasturing in the field may tramp it down, and block the tile, so in the second place, an abutment should be built through which the outlet discharges its water and the bank will be kept in a state of preservation. This may be made of concrete, stone or plank, and should be a permanent structure.
In some cases where the flow is heavy and the water would have a tendency to undermine the wall, it is well to build an apron on which the force of the falling water is broken.

There is still another precaution which should be given due consideration. Frequently small animals, muskrats, coons, ground hogs and others, seek refuge in the tile. Here they are entrapped, and form a dam to the flowing water. To overcome such, the outlet should have bars across the end. These may be quite small, and close together so that nothing can get through. A screen may be fitted over the end, but unless the mesh is quite large the water is retarded in its flow. Sometimes the first tile is threaded with wire. This forms a good protection.

When all these devices are given attention, the outlet should remain in a state of efficiency for years, and the system, if properly installed, should give satisfaction.—F. L. Ferguson, O. A. College, Guelph.

AN AEROPLANE IS SMUGGLING BOOZE OVER LINE

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Prohibition agents have been asked by the Washington officials to keep a sharp lookout for a mysterious airplane, which flies over the Canadian border every night into Montana, and drops a parachute. The information is that the parachute carries a quantity of whiskey which is disposed of by bootleggers.

After dropping the parachute, the airplane goes back into Canada without landing.

PAINT LENGTHENS LIFE OF BUILDINGS AND MACHINES

Many an old ship has stood the rack of ocean travel for years mainly on the strength of the tar or paint applied to her sides, but sailors do not wait for the ship's hull to become weather beaten before applying the first coat of paint. Farmers, on the other hand, seem much inclined to let their buildings reach a state of partial decay before making any special effort to safeguard them against the play of wind and water. As a matter of fact, nothing apys better than paint applied immediately after the building is constructed, in lengthening the life of the structure. The same applies to farm machinery parts especially the wooden parts and it will always pay to paint such repairs to machinery wagons, etc., as have to be made before the work season for these articles commences.

Good paint applied to farm buildings and machinery, not only prevents the good management employed in serving them, but calls attention to running the farm, a fact that helps greatly in case the owner wishes to sell either the farm or some of its products. Many farmers have paid so much attention to the economic value of their farm that they have neglected an important side of farm life. There is no reason why the farmer and his family should not have as attractive a home as attractive as the city ville show.

dweller has. The farmer's neighbors as well as the passing observer, will judge him largely by the care he takes of his stock, his machinery, and his buildings.

Painting is the easiest and least expensive way of making sure of neat clean surroundings, and is the best way of preserving the lumber in buildings, implements or machinery.
With sprig approaching, the time has arrived for going the rounds of the machine shed to look out these articles that can be moved to a warm building for retouching with paint in addition to their annual overhauling and repair.

MAN DIES IN MUD LAKE TRAPPED FLY

CHICAGO.—Caught like a fly on a sticky paper and in plain view of hundreds of persons walking along Michigan boulevard or rolling by in luxurious limousines, a sixty-five year-old man lost a battle with death recently in the slimy mud of Chiago's lake front.

He was Gottfried Klaus, an immanent of an old people's home. Mentally disturbed he wandered away from the home and walked to the lake front.
There he stepped into a patch of heavy sticky mud and because of his feeble condition was unable to drag himself from it. No one apparently noticed the old man's struggles, and his body was found several hours later half buried in the mire.

BACKACHE, LUMBAGO, RHEUMATISM, STOMACH AND LIVER TROUBLES, ACNE, SKIN DIS-EASES, CATARRH, ASTHMA, RECTAL TROUBLES, PILES, FISTULA AND BLOOD CONDITIONS.
The knowledge gained from many years' experience in treating diseases just like yours is of much benefit to you and assures the ailing man of prompt relief. When a man knows that he is again feeling well—that he is rid of his ailment—he feels that a heavy load has been lifted from his shoulders. I give every patient the benefit of the knowledge acquired through the long experience of a graduated, licensed and registered specialist, in order to bring about the most satisfactory results in the shortest possible time.

NERVE EXHAUSTION A CONDITION AFFECTING MANY MEN—THE GREAT AM- ERICAN DISEASE—IT IS BROUGHT ON BY OUR MAN- NER OF LIVING—OUR WORRY AND HURRY—AMERI- CANS EXHAUST MORE NERVOUS ENERGY THAN ANY OTHER RACE OF PEOPLE.

There are a great many men who need treatment for their nervous system. These men do not know what is the reason they don't feel right—why they can't work like they used to—why they tire so easily and why they are irritable, nervous, despondent, weak, pale and lack ambition. These conditions require the expert knowledge and treatment of a specialist who has had many years' experience in just such ailments. A specialist learns by experience to know just the right treatment at the right time so that the patient can be dismissed at the earliest possible time. Men affected with nervous exhaustion have no endurance—no ambition —everything they attempt is an effort. Life to them appears as a long, gloomy future. Their appetite is poor and variable—they become irritable, cross and discouraged. They have pains and aches in various parts of the body and there is often indigestion and pains in the stomach. Sleepless, wakeful and restless nights follow.

RHEUMATIC AILMENTS SCIATICA AND OTHER FORMS OF RHEUMATISM, LUMBA- GO, PAINS IN BACK, SWELLING, ACHING, PAINFUL CONDITIONS IN ANY PART OF THE BODY—INFLAMED AND SWOLLEN JOINTS OF LEGS AND ARMS—MANY OTHER SYMPTOMS.

Hundreds of men are suffering with some form of Rheumatism. Many of these men go from day to day suffering untold agonies thinking they cannot be cured. They have tried liniments, rubbing, massage, salts and other treatments without experiencing any relief, and they are now going through life thinking they are martyrs to that burden called Rheumatism. If these men could only know how easy it is to get rid of many rheumatic conditions I know they would not suffer another single day. Then all sufferers of rheumatism would be strong and healthy if they could get rid of the condition. Rheumatic patients are nearly all strong and robust before being attacked by this ailment, and therefore it is so hard for the man to understand why he should suffer the agonies of such a condition. When a man gets rid of such a condition he feels that a heavy burden has been lifted from his life, and he starts right out to make up for lost time both in money and pleasure. When a man comes to my office suffering with the above condition he is given a most careful examination, and he is given treatment that he feels is giving him great benefit.
