A Western paper says that the way to till off the poets who offer to write pieces gratuitously is to accept their efforts, hand them to the worst compositor and left the proof reader correct them according to his own ideas of prucedy. This is warranted to destroy the strongest poetical fever in three weeks.

A tippler who had his load on, "Ictohed up" against the side of a house which had been newly painted. Shoyrag himself clear by a vigorous effort, he took a glimpse at his shoulder, another at the house, a third at his hand, and exclaimed, "Well, that is a careless trick in wheever painted that house, to leave it standing out all night for people to run against."
